Democratic Chiefs Decide on Shallenberger for Governor.

SHOVE BERGE AND REST ASIDE

Thing Was Cut and Dried at That Bryan Dinner at Lincoln—Mayor Jim Exclaims Never Say Die.

"The more the merrier and the better chance for me," says Mayor James C. Dahlman, candidate for governor of Nebraska, in talking of the announcement by A. C. Shallenberger of his willingness again to run for the office of the chief executive of the state. The mayor stated that he has expected that Mr. Shallenberger would announce his candidacy. W. H. Thompson will not be a candidate, Mr. Dahlman thinks.

Meanwhile Mayor Jim's apparent compliance is not responsible in the face of conditions as expressed by an old line war horse who attended that dinner in Lincoln, January 15, when the big chiefs met and laid out certain political plans.

This old line democrat who is on the inside is authority for the statement that Shallenberger's announcement is the result of a systematic movement engineered by the powers that be, in the democratic party of Nebraska, and Mr. William J. Bryan is said to have a thing or two to say about democratic politics in his own state. The fact is, so this man says, that the big chiefs have decided at that Bryan dinner that Shallenberger should make the race and all other candidates be gently, but effectively, shoved to one side. If Mayor Dahlman regarded himself as a candidate, he must have been shoved to one side along with the rest and that yet give rise, it is feared, to another "Sting of Ingratitude."

Shallenberger Up, Berge Down. The most important result of that dinner meeting, so the Bee's informant says, was the decision that Shallenberger should again make the race for governor and the next most important result was that, come what may, George W. Berge should be on the list of all shoved away back into the dark background of oblivion so far as the democrats of Nebraska were concerned.

That Mr. Bryan dominated that meeting there never has been any doubt, which leaves but one conclusion, namely, that Mr. Bryan decreed the ascendancy of Shallenberger and the political burial of George W. Berge, populist-democrat, fusion having become practically extinct in Nebraska.

At that meeting, according to this good democrat, Shallenberger was decided on in spite of the fact that he was defeated by Sheldon and largely because of his old-time friendship and working sympathy with the railroads, the big chiefs of democracy still clinging to the belief that the railroads have not yet lost all their political power.

Boys Sent to Reform School. GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Feb. 21.—(Special.)—Clyde Alexander, aged 17, and Chester Dixon, aged 16, were yesterday ordered sent, by County Judge Mullin, to the Boys' Industrial School at Kearney. They were the ringleaders of a gang of upward of a dozen boys of tender ages who were discovered by the police to be pilfering almost on a wholesale plan and making a rendezvous in a shed on a vacant lot. In the shed were found all kinds of tools, provisions, dime novels, etc. The lads, named were not only ringleaders, but, as such, had broken into a Burlington car and taken canned goods therefrom. The others are required to report to the police every Saturday until further orders. It is believed that the case with which goods of this kind are disposed of to second-hand dealers has been something of an incentive for the work. One dealer, Kremenchuk, was fined on the same day in the sum of $20 for concealing stolen property, the brass taken from the Union Pacific by two men who were caught in possession thereof, confessed, plead guilty and were given jail sentences.

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE

Further Slight Improvement in Volume of Business.

MILLS AND FACTORIES RESUME

Stocks Are Low and Wholesalers Are Expecting Prompt Supplemental Orders—Outlook Generally Hopeful.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—R. G. Dun & Co's. Review of Trade tomorrow will say: "Further slight improvement is noted in volume of trade and confidence in the future is also greater, but progress is slow. Buyers have attended the primary and jobbing markets in large numbers, placing fair orders for spring goods, although the disposition is likely to restrict operations to small quantities. Manufacturers expect early supplemental orders, however, as the pressure for quick delivery is considered endorsement of the general belief that stocks are low. More mills and factories have resumed and it is announced that many other plants will open next month. While lower costs of construction revive gradually the volume of new business increases in the iron and steel industries, although most orders are for small quantities. About one-half the capacity of steel mills of the leading interest are now in operation, whereas when the year opened, the active percentage was scarcely more than one-quarter, and many other mills will resume after next week.

A more hopeful tone is noted in the spot department of the cotton goods industry, although production is still curtailed and retailers from outside have only placed moderate orders with jobbers. There is no difficulty in securing prompt delivery in nearly all lines, as it is found that many mills are carrying larger surplus than was supposed. Export demand for shipment to Europe and Russia is also reported as moderate and sales were made. Larger contracts are still under consideration, although the demand for the bulk business has been done in men's wear wools, but most buying is limited to small quantities. Fairly good fair orders were placed, some lines attracting the normal amount of business.

New England footwear manufacturers report trade still backward on the whole, yet there were evidences of renewed interest in the market, especially by western buyers. As a rule purchases are of small quantities, and the demand for shoes continues weak and dull. Hides are quiet, with quotations generally lower.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW OF TRADE

Widespread Stormy Weather Dulls Distributing Business.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: "Widespread stormy weather has had the effect of dulling distributive trade, interrupting railway traffic and restricting the volume of trade in general. The smallest volume in twenty-two months. In addition, the fourth round of the defendant's valuation restricted industrial operations for a time.

Trade, judging from the reports received, continues as recently noted, a good-sized aggregate of small orders for immediate near shipment being reported at leading markets. Millinery, dry goods and kindred lines are in chief demand, with staple goods preferred to novelties, which are rather neglected.

Retail trade is at a transition point and is quiet as a whole, responding to the decreased purchasing power of the wage-earners, with staple goods preferred to luxuries in wages by railroads and others is widespread.

Industrial affairs show little change, with shutdowns or short time about counterbalancing resumption. There is, for the moment, more doing in finished lines of iron and steel, but in crude forms rather less is doing and the leading producing interests in woolen goods reports 60 per cent of its looms idle. Shoe shipments are a little larger at the east and full time has been resumed at the leading western manufacturing center, but shipments are still well behind a year ago. Cotton goods are lower, but prices are very irregular, with jobbers in many instances cutting considerably below European offerings. There is considerably more doing in export trade in light-weight cottons for Cuba, some prices reported being below European offerings. Collections are a trifle better, but requests for immediate shipment being reported.

EMIGRATION TRIAL OF ONE CASE

Emma Hoskovec Will Attempt Once More to Get Damages from Street Railway.

For the eighth time the damage suit of Emma Hoskovec against the street railway company is scheduled for trial in the district court. The case is becoming one of the famous ones in the history of long drawn out litigation in Douglas county. It has gone to a jury seven times and has been argued once in supreme court, which Thursday reversed the verdict for the street railway company brought in at the close of the seventh trial and remanded the case for another trial.

Mrs. Hoskovec was injured six years ago when alighting from a car at Thirteenth and Dodge streets. She began suit on October 7, 1902. The jury at the first trial gave her $4,000 damages but a new trial was allowed the defendant. The next jury disagreed, the third gave her a verdict for $2,000, the fourth found for the defendant, the fifth jury was discharged because of the illness of a juror, the sixth returned

THE PENALTY OF OVERWORK

Work has been man's lot since the creation, but a day of toil should not have its penalty of pain. Why is it then, you ask, that backache so often follows? It is because the modern tendency is to overwork, to tear down faster than nature can rebuild. An unnatural strain is thrown upon the vital organs, and more especially upon the kidneys, which have the work of filtering the blood free of waste and poison.

The heavy tax of overwork—the strain upon the back that is so common to many trades and occupations, is too great. The kidneys begin to fail in their work, and there is a double danger to health. The poisonous matter collects in the system and the kidneys themselves begin to break down.

Pain in the back is only a warning of trouble in the kidneys. An inflammation has set in, and a disordered condition of the urine soon becomes apparent.

Too much or too little urine, with a constant desire to void the secretions, any noticeable deviation from the normal color; the appearance of a sandy sediment, proves a disordered condition of the kidneys that needs quick attention.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Every Picture Tells a Story

If your work seems hard for you, if you have a lame, weak or aching back, if you seem tired and listless, and seem to be running down without apparent cause, begin at once with Doan's Kidney Pills, the great kidney remedy that has cured so many of your neighbors. It has given thousands of working men and women strong, sound backs for their daily work.

OMAHA PROOF
John Hoefler, 2218 Burdette St., Omaha, Neb., says: "I just as heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills today as when they cured me of kidney trouble in 1899. At that time I was bothered by a steady, dull ache across the kidneys, especially severe when I stooped or lifted. I used remedy after remedy but obtained no relief and was at a loss to know how to dispose of my trouble. I at last started taking Doan's Kidney Pills and the prompt relief I received induced me to continue their use. They soon disposed of my suffering entirely and there has never been a symptom of it since. I occasionally take a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills as they serve to keep my kidneys in good working order."
