MONEY SIDE OF THE WRESTLE

Winner Gets Three Times as Much as the Loser Tuesday.

The money side of the Burns-Beell match at the Auditorium is a little bit interesting itself—especially to the man who won.

The total receipts were $2,952.75. Of this the Auditorium got $1,033.45, or 35 per cent, and $1,919.30 went to the wrestlers. This amount was divided between Burns and Beell on the basis of 75 per cent to the winner and 25 to the loser. Burns therefore received for his night's work $1,439.45 and Beell $479.85.

There were 3,378 paid admissions and 300 complimentaries.

There was not as much betting as was expected, though there were many odds on Beell. Burns deplores betting at all times and was happy when he learned of the limited degree to which men indulged in it. He said Gotch told him over in Humboldt the betting was two to one on Beell in some cases.

The receipts at the match would have been much larger, of course, but for the popular prices which Manager Gillan of the Auditorium puts into effect. The wrestling game has been given the good support this winter and last to which it is entitled when conducted, as it has been, on such a clean, straight basis.

BUCK FRANCK ON THE WAY

Wants to Be in Omaha to Welcome the Recruits.

Captain Buckerino Franck of the Champions of the Western league left Los Angeles Tuesday night and is headed straight for Omaha. He writes that he wants to be on hand when the first of the recruits begin to arrive that he may take hold of the reins and see that none of the players cultivates the dreaded glass arm from too violent work in the preliminary practice.

Manager Rourke has arranged with Ducky Holmes, manager of the Sioux City team for the 800 to appear at Vinton street park Saturday and Sunday April 11 and 12. This completes the schedule of exhibition games for each Saturday and Sunday until the opening of the league season. Bellevue and several minor teams may be taken on for week day games to fill up.

Anti- Pool Room Bill Signed.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 18.—Governor Willson today signed the Witheim anti-pool room bill which was passed by the general assembly last night. The bill legalizes pool selling on race tracks during race meetings, but not otherwise.

FARMER BURNS THE VICTOR

Secures the First and Third Falls From Fred Beell.

FINISH IS A SPECTACULAR ONE

First Two Bouts Long and Strenuous, But Final One Ended in a Hurry With a Greco-Roman Trick.

By calling from the realms of the past his skill in ancient forms of wrestling, Farmer Burns caught Fred Beell for a flying fall from a wrist hold and hip lock or cross buttock of the old Greeco-Roman style of wrestling and won the third and deciding fall at the Auditorium Tuesday night, thereby giving him the title of light heavyweight champion of the world.

Although Omaha is strictly a Farmer Burns town, because of the many times he has wrestled here, always on the level, Fred Beell of Wisconsin had many followers in that vast crowd of spectators which filled the Auditorium, and all his good moves were roundly applauded, for many there were who thought the time of Farmer Burns had come and he was to make way for a younger and coming man. The Farmer, however, refused to be relegated to the down and out class and showed that he still had more strength than his younger opponent, that he was just as quick and knew more of the science of the game. Beell had come to Omaha with the reputation of being the fastest man on the mat and yet in the mixups Farmer Burns came up behind as often as did Freddie.

Farmer Burns won the first fall in 32:15. Beell won the second in 35:50 and Burns won the third in 3:50.

Whirlwind Finish.

The sight presented at the climax of the wrestling match was one seldom given to sporting men to witness. The vast crowd of over 6,000 people stood absolutely still and not a man moved after Referee Griswold had made his decision, for the fall was made so quickly that few could get it in their heads that it was all over. Each had won a fall and the gladiators appeared for the third fall and there was considerable speculation as to which was to be the winner. Many thought that the old Farmer was all in from the twisting that Beell had given him in the second bout, but those who have watched the Farmer many times before knew that in that fall, althought the decision went against him, he was getting all the best of it, as he was practically resting all the way through, while Beell was exhausting his strength. The Farmer had one fall to the good and evidently did not care much whether he won the second or not. He had decided to play his waiting game to save his strength and let the other wear himself out by doing all the work.

When they appeared for the third fall their bodies had been thoroughly dried by the rubbing of the attendants. They stood shoulder to shoulder for three minutes, and then Burns seized the wrist of Beell, caught him just right on his hip and threw him over his body to the mat, where he held him with his body until the referee gave him the fall. The crowd did not move. The wrestlers rose to their feet and Beell evidently wanted to make a few remarks. The crowd was getting loud in the cries of approval of the decision and would not stop until Farmer Burns finally raised his hand.

What the Wrestlers Say.

"That was a deadly lock I happened to get on Mr. Beell, and he had to come," said the Farmer.

"I would like to have another chance," said Mr. Beell when he had a chance to make his talk. Some thought he wanted another chance for the third fall and some thought he wanted another match.

Beell admits the referee's decision is final and does not deny he was thrown fairly, but wants another match for $1,000.

"I have friends who will put up $1,000 that I can throw Beell again," said Farmer Burns, and the crowd went home.

Farmer Burns, William McCune and some sportsmen from Omaha were on the stage at Council Bluffs Saturday night watching the Beell-War Eagle match, when McCune said:

"Farmer, why don't you ever use that old Greco-Roman arm hold where you used to throw them over your hip, any more?"

"Wrestlers are getting too smart and we can't work it on them any more, so we quit using it," replied the Farmer.

Whether it was that suggestion from McCune, who is an old-time wrestler and boxer, that caused the Farmer to try the old hold on Beell is for the Farmer to say.

In his dressing room after the match Beell would not say that he had not been thrown fairly, but his seconds maintained they could see daylight under his shoulders all the time. Farmer Burns had Wassem and Pierson in his corner and Beell had Emil Kiank and Bert Shores, champion of Minnesota. Farmer Burns had his hair cut and a new pair of shoes.

Match in Detail.

For the first time since he has been wrestling in Omaha Farmer Burns failed to appear on the mat first, but let Beell lead the way. For six minutes they stood with neither getting an advantage and then Beell got behind, but the Farmer got away. Another mixup followed and again Beell got behind, but this time the Farmer worked his way to the point of vantage and Beell got up. Farmer made a dive at Beell's feet, missed and Beell got behind and for the third time the Farmer got away. Farmer stumbled and went down and Beell got behind. At the end of half an hour neither had an advantage, although Burns had been doing most of the leading, contrary to his usual custom for the first fall.

Burns finally got a half Nelson and a crotch hold which Beell was able to break but could not get away. Burns was working fast and soon had a full Nelson Beell was also able to break. Finally Burns secured a crotch and half Nelson and Freddie could not escape and had to go to the mat. Time: 32:15.

Beell had the first advantageous hold in the second half, but it availed naught. He got behind again for a crotch hold, but again the Farmer got away, the men nearly going off the platform, the ropes and spectators saving them.

Beell grabbed Burns by the legs and got behind to try for a toe hold, but the Farmer walked right away from it. He tried the same thing again with the same result. Beell got the Farmer down and secured a hammerlock, the Farmer taking a restful pose. He broke the half Nelson which Beell secured with his English bar, but Beell held to the English bar, secured another half Nelson which he soon turned into a head hold and forced the Farmer's shoulders to the mat.

Some thought the Farmer went down easily, but when it is considered that the English bar is a deadly hold and that in addition to that Beell had the Farmer's head back so he could not bridge, it is seen he had to go. Time 35:50.

Preliminary Matches.

Ed Morgan won in straight falls from Jack Kinney, in the preliminary, the time being 8:10 and 5:5.

Counseman and Burlew gave an exhibition of country wrestling between falls of the big match and then stripped off their Rube clothes and gave an exhibition of tumbling and balancing. They belong to the Young Men's Christian association classes.

The crowd was well handled with none of the crowding which has been witnessed at some of the former matches. Every reserved seat in the big building had been sold before noon and only general admission seats to the chairs in the arena were left and these were nearly filled before the fun began.

BEELL POSTS HUNDRED DOLLARS

Puts Up Bonus for Second Match with Farmer Burns.

"I have no kick coming, except that I would like to have a second wrestle with Burns, and if he throws me then, all right, or, of course, it's all right anyway," said Freddie Beell, the sturdy little Wisconsin man, Wednesday morning.

Beell then posted $100 in cash with a member of The Bee staff, which he will leave up for a few days to give the Farmer a chance to cover if he wants to accept the challenge for a second match.

"If Burns accepts, I will stay in Omaha and train until the match," added Beell. "And I will get down to about 160."

Burns himself says at 160 or even 158 Beell would be better than at 167 or 168.

Beell was misunderstood by the vast audience at the Auditorium Tuesday night when he arose and tried to speak after his defeat by Farmer Burns. The roaring mass of humanity thought he was questioning the decision in the last fall; he was not. He was trying to get an opportunity to say, "I am fairly and squarely thrown, but I would like to have another match with Burns."

The fall came so quickly that Beell and everybody else save the cunning old Farmer were surprised. When the two men arose from the mat Burns ask Beell if he was down.

"Yes," said Beell, "it was very quick and I was surprised."

The Farmer called at the editorial rooms of The Bee before taking the 11:40 a. m. train for Des Moines, Wednesday morning.

"It was a great match and Beell is a wonderful man, a wonderful man," Burns repeated. "He gave me a terrible drubbing and might have got me if the match had gone much longer, but then I might have got him, too. We were both very tired, for we had worked hard. I never saw a better man than Beell of his size and I don't believe anybody else ever did. He is not only a marvelous wrestler, but a thorough gentleman off the mat and I like him fine."

Beell is anxious for another match and Burns probably will give it to him, but he wants to wait until after the Gotch-Hackenschmidt match which will engage his attention from now on. Burns is perfectly willing to meet Dr. B. F. Roller at the Auditorium in May and the match may be made.

Beell remains in Omaha a couple of days. He is exceedingly disappointed over his defeat, though takes it manfully. He thinks perhaps he was a little over-confident and will be more cautious next time.

Frank Gotch, champion of America, was one of the first men to congratulate Burns on his wonderful victory. Burns received a telegram from Gotch early Wednesday morning, saying he had booked himself and the Farmer for an exhibition at Empire theater, Chicago, for Saturday night and asked for an answer. Burns answered over the phone, calling Gotch at his home in Humboldt, Ia.

"I tell you Frank was glad I won," said the old gladiator, his bruised face wreathed in smiles. "We were all following the match overe here," he said, "and the town is wild with enthusiasm for you. You did a great job to win and I am proud of you."

"And then, say," and the old Farmer burst into a gleeful laugh. "Frank said, 'and you can bet I'm going to win from Hack, too.' And I believe he will."

Regarding the sensational reports circulated by a certain sheet that the wrestle was a fake, Manager Gillan of the Auditorium says:

"I can't imagine the motive that inspires this report. Of course, no intelligent man who understands wrestling could have witnessed that match and concluded it was a fake, and, besides, the division of money ought to settle that. I treated this paper fairly in the matter of tickets, so can't understand its animus."

It is said some of the young men did not get all the tickets they wanted to distribute among their friends and took this method of getting even.

It is pointed out that this same paper has systematically knocked everything over given at the Auditorium, that it knocked the horse shows on the pretense that the prices were not right.

CHICAGO, March 18.—Fred Conklin of Chicago defeated J. F. Poggenburg of New York tonight in the fifth game of the national amateur championship tournament, 400 to 229. Conklin opened the game with a run of fifty. Poggenburg did not play strongly, only reaching the double figures six times in his twenty-five innings. Conklin played steadily and at times brilliantly, making several seemingly impossible shots.

The score:

Conklin—50, 3, 4, 20, 6, 83, 8, 31, 0, 0, 7, 4, 65, 0, 19, 2, 0, 16, 26, 4, 13, 4, 0, 0, 4, 31. Total, 400. High run, 83. Average, 15 10-26.

E. W. Gardner of Passaic, N. J., this afternoon defeated Clarence Jackson of Chicago in the fourth game of the tournament, 400 to 266. The game was not of a sensational character, the high run of 63 being scored by Gardner in his second time up. Jackson played brilliantly in spots, but in several instances spoiled a good start by apparent over anxiety. On the other hand, Gardner played a careful and safe game.

CORNHUSKERS DEEP IN GLOOM

Rules of Missouri Valley Conference Depleted Base Ball Team.

LINCOLN, March 18.—(Special.)—The passage of the one-year freshman rule by the Missouri valley conference has upset the Cornhuskers' base ball plans. The rule, passed at the Kansas City meeting Saturdays, bars all freshmen from competition in intercollegiate athletics. Since many of Nebraska's most promising base ball candidates this spring are first-year men, this rule will deal a hard blow to the team. Some of the best men who will be hit are Harris, shortstop; Pierce, Greenslit and Stutnecker, catchers; Jessup, first base; and De Cauter, pitcher. Of these men Greenslit, Stutznecker and Harris were considered as having a place on the 'varsity clinched and were being relied upon to add great strength to the nine. But now that they will not be allowed to participate in the intercollegiate contests, other men will have to be developed for their places, a task that the coaches do not like to consider.

In fact, Head Coach Fox is inclined to believe that it will be impossible to get another set of players out of the present squad as good as these ineligible men. The squad this spring is large, larger than any other in Cornhusker history, but the best new men on it are ineligible and the coaches will be forced to go back to some of the old men whom the freshmen had beaten out of their places.

The ruling against freshmen has cast considerable gloom over the Nebraska camp. Interest in the base ball team has been high among the students this spring, and this blow to the nine has let the supporters down with a hard jolt. Since the out of doors practice began, large crowds—fully the size of the foot ball rooters who attended the practice in the fall—have been out to see the candidates train, and have manifested unusual interest in the work of the nine. They had figured on backing a winning team this spring and the new ruling has disappointed them.

Much grumbling is heard among the students now against Nebraska's entrance into the Missouri valley conference. They argue that if Nebraska were not in the new organization, the base ball team would not be obliged to obey the conference rules and there would be easy sailing for a strong nine this spring. They point out that the Cornhuskers were no sooner in the conference than the other members began to legislate against them by passing a freshman eligibility rule over the strong protest of Captain Workizer, Nebraska's representative at the conference meeting. If any advantage has been gained by joining the new association they do not see it. It is enough for them to know that the bright prospects for a winning base ball team have been blighted. If left to decide whether to pull out of the conference they would say to sever all connections with the Missouri valley organization at once.

BOXING BOUT PROVES FATAL

Willie Robinson, Philadelphia Amateur Killed by Blow Over Heart.

PHILADELPHIA, March 18.—In the amateur boxing tournament following the regular performance at the Bijou theater here tonight Willie Robinson, aged 19 years, was killed while boxing with Charles Wolf, of the same age. Robinson and Wolf, who were friends, had been in the ring but thirty-five seconds when the latter struck Robinson a severe blow over the heart. Robinson collapsed on the stage and became unconscious. The regular physician in attendance, who had previously examined the contestants, failed to revive Robinson and he died in the police patrol on the way to a hospital. The contestants were to have boxed three rounds for a prize. Fred Douglass, the referee, under whose management the tournaments are held, together with Wolf, Frank Moore, his second, and Marcus Williams, second for Robinson were arrested and given an immediate hearing at which they were held to await the action of the coroner.

The Mail's Delay—There are now and then some queer things happen in the United States mail service. We have heard of people getting letters years after they were written, and in one instance it is related that a woman received a letter written by a school girl friend which letter had been stored away somewhere for fifty-three years. This week the Blade received a copy of the Sheridan (Wyoming) Post, under date of July 30, 1903, of nearly five years old. At that time the paper was edited by Frank Mills, formerly of Laurel. The paper is yellow and frayed and shows its age. It probably got caught in the patch on some mail pouch and has perhaps traveled all over the Union.—Coleridge Blade.

The Latest Improved—The motor car got tired on its way home Tuesday evening and stopped to rest near the fair grounds. The male bipeds aboard, headed by A. B. Outhouse, hoofed it into port, while the hotel hack went out and brought in the lady passengers. The balky little animal was taken to the shops at Grand Island Wednesday morning and the freight engine was again brought into requisition to take care of the passengers east. Motorman Tonlouse, who is at present rapidly nearing the working stage with his injured hand, and will in a few weeks be able to again take charge of the motor on this branch, insists the motor cars of the latest pattern are a pronounced success, properly handled, and expects to have one of the best assigned to the Loup City branch at an early date. Latter—No. 17, one of the latest pattern motor cars came up last evening and it
