No other maker can offer you such positive assurance of merit in rain-coats as we can in our Watershed, because no other maker has considered worth and reliability in rain-coats of enough importance to warrant the expense of operating a thoroughly modern and complete waterproofing department such as ours.

THE HOUSE OF KUPPENHEIMER
CHICAGO NEW YORK BOSTON

IN THE COURT OF JOHN DOE

Monk Trummer is Knocked Out in First Round.

AGE FOND OF OLD WHISKY

Jim Brannagan Was the Close Friend of Peter Snyder Until Peter Succeeded in Accumulating Wealth.

"Knocked on the Nut, or the Persecuted Pugilist," might have been the euphonious title of the story told by "Monk" Trummer Saturday in police court. "Monk" aspires to be a "pug" and has a considerable following among the progressive young men who occupy the gallery in the Krug theater. Wednesday evening Officer Knutson ventured to remonstrate with "Monk" and after the show had occasion to knock him down with his club outside the gallery entrance.

"Monk" was a badly battered pugilist when he appeared in police court. Half a hundred of his admirers who happened to be at leisure crowded into the court room to see the show with "Monk" in the leading role of hero and Officers Knutson and Dougherty as the heavy villains. One could almost hear the hisses as the cops told their story and Court Sergeant Whalen had to raise for order while the hero was relating his grievances. The judge discharged "Monk."

Samuel Hayden seemed to be in a maze when he was brought into the court room. Samuel is rather an old man, but not too old to like whisky. In response to four questions he explained that he had been merely passing through the city on his way to Dorchester, Neb., and got off the train to get something to eat. It appears he also had something to drink. At any rate he forgot to get on the train again.

When he was discharged he stumbled to the table where Detective McDonald happened to be making out the claim checks for valuables left down stairs at time of arrest.

"What is your name?" asked McDonald three times.

"Samuel Hayden," replied Hayden.

He looked around with a weary eye. Another man was sitting near.

"Company A," said Hayden to this man. He caught a glimpse of another bystander.

"Thirty-fifth Iowa," he explained to this person.

He saw a third man and advanced several steps in order to say to him:

"Company A, Thirty-fifth Iowa."

By this time his claim check was made out and he was hurried through the door before he could explain his company and regiment to any others.

Jim Brannagan was deeply hurt at being accused of robbing his friend, Peter Snyder. Snyder had $2 on his person when arrested Friday. After the court had heard all evidence Brannagan turned to Snyder and with tears in his voice, demanded:

"Ain't I always been your friend, Peter? Ain't I always done what was square by you? I ain't never robbed you, have I? I ain't never—"

"Dollar and cents, each," said the court thus interrupting Jim's tear compelling masterpiece.

Leo Theofil and Ira McAulley seemed convicted by their clothes. If one had seen only their feet one would have said they were gentlemen, prosperous, well-to-do. Had one seen only their upper clothes one would have unhesitatingly pronounced them hoboes. It was their possession of $2 patent leather "kicks" in conjunction with their badly ventilated coats and ragged coats, that caused their arrest. However, no one was present to prove the shoes were stolen. So they were discharged.

REV. S. P. A. LINDAHL DEAD

President of Omaha Swedish Immanuel Hospital Board Dies at Rock Island.

Rev. S. P. A. Lindahl, president of the board of directors of the Omaha Swedish Immanuel Deaconess' institute, and probably the leading mind in the Evangelical Lutheran Augustana synod in America, died at his home in Rock Island, Ill., Friday morning of heart trouble at the age of 64 years.

Rev. Dr. Lindahl was well known in Omaha. He came four or five times each year on business connected with the Swedish Lutheran institutions. He made his last visit to the city only a few weeks ago.

He was known as a marvelously talented organizer, a man of soundly grounded religious conviction, a tactful diplomatist and a man of keenest mind. His activities were broad. Among the positions he held were these: President of the board of directors of Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill.; editor of Augustana, the leading periodical of the Swedish Lutherans in America; organizer and for many years president of the Scandinavian Mutual Aid association of Chicago. He was appointed on all important synodical committees for several years. In short, his activities were constant and he was ever in the lead of the most progressive movements whether in religion or in the practical affairs for the protection and advancement of Scandinavian Americans.

Rev. M. Lindberg will go to Rock Island to represent the Omaha Immanuel Deaconess' institute at the funeral, which will take place next Tuesday afternoon.

Railway Notes and Personal.

L. C. Bevington, secretary of the Transcontinental Passenger association, was in Omaha Saturday.

J. B. Frawley, district passenger agent of the Union Pacific, with headquarters at Kansas City, was in Omaha Saturday.

Owing to the rapid development of the country and the discovery of gas at Greybull, Wyo., the Burlington has decided to build a new depot at that point. The opening of the government irrigated lands in that section have made considerable business for the Union Pacific.

Residents of Fremont and intermediate towns are anxiously awaiting the time of the completion of the Lane Cut-Off. The immediate cause of their anxiety is the persistent rumor that the Union Pacific intends to put on a complete motor car service between Omaha and Fremont as soon as the short line is finished. Union Pacific officials in Omaha say that this probably will be done.

The Northwestern has definite plans under way for the extension of that line from Lander, Wyo., to the Pacific coast. It is reported in railroad circles that the terminus of the Northwestern is Lander, Wyo., which is 1,100 miles from Chicago and from 1,600 to 1,700 miles from the Pacific coast. The Northwestern is said to be forced to make a detour to the south by reason of developments in railroad circles, one of which is the acquiring of control of the Illinois central by the Union Pacific.

Another building of the Milwaukee to the coast and another building of the Western Pacific by the Gould line which will give that road a line from coast to coast.

SUIT FOR LIFE INSURANCE

Action Brought in Federal Court by Widow to Recover Five Thousand Dollars.

The argument and taking of testimony in the suit of Mary Cary against the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company to recover on a $5,000 insurance policy was heard before Judges W. H. Munger and T. C. Munger in the United States circuit court Saturday morning. Suit is brought by Mrs. Cary as a beneficiary of her husband. He was originally insured in the Northwestern Life Insurance association and upon the collapse of that company it is alleged that the policy was taken over by the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company. Payment of the policy is now resisted on technical grounds by the Mutual Reserve company.

Several expert witnesses, including William Henry Brown, state agent of the Equitable Life of New York; Ora H. Menoid, state agent of the New York Life, and G. W. Noble of the New England Mutual Life, were examined in the case.

The judges Munger have taken the matter under advisement.

AMERICAN TRAVEL THE BEST

Real Pleasure in United States as Compared with That in Europe.

"Travel in this country is a genuine treat," said S. J. Marks, a Boston capitalist, as he stepped from the Overland Limited at Union station. "It is entirely different from traveling in foreign lands. In the first place the nuisance of a passport, which you are compelled to show at nearly every town abroad, is not necessary here. This passport sometimes requires several days' delay and is truly a nuisance. The cars of foreign lands are more generally of the compartment system and once you enter you must remain in your little compartment until the car starts. How different on this train, with its magnificent observation car. Because of these separate compartments and the lack of communication between the cars, dining cars are little used. How much better to take your time in a splendid car than to have to hurry through a meal at some eating station, as is the practice in most foreign countries."
