The new council will stand three republicans and five democrats. The democrats control the present council.

Political Lines Broken Down.

The result of the election demonstrates that party politics was eliminated to a very great extent, at least so far as the voting on the head of the ticket was concerned. It shows also that Mr. Wallace not only did not get anything like his party vote, but did not draw very largely from the democratic vote "Wallace did not get the vote of 3 per cent of the business men," declared a well known republican and leading merchant of the city last night. Mr. Wallace's radical position on the water works question undoubtedly turned his wife, and of John Griffin. Taft and His Manager Say They Have no Communication from Governor.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, March 31 .- (Special.)-Ora Williams today received from A. I. Vorys Secretary Taft's political manager, a letter stating that neither he nor Mr. Taft either directly or indirectly ever received any communication from Governor Cummins giving his position on presidential matters and stating further that the statement published by some of the Iowa newspapers a week or more ago purporting to be a communication from the governor to Mr Taft was never understood to be from Cummins at all; that parts of it were read to Secretary Taft by Mr. Curtis Boyd, but that it was never shown to President Roosevelt, as some of the newspapers claimed, and that no copy of it was ever retained by Mr. Taft. Mr. Williams today addressed an open letter to Mr. Adams, manager of Senator Allison's campaign, in which he state that wrote the statement; that it was a strictly confidential memorandum and that it was written and given to Mr. Boyd before Boyd ever saw Governor Cummins and was his own personal views on the situation and his alone. He furthermore charges that the published statement was not as it was originally prepared and asks Mr. Adams to publish it correctly in all the standpat newspapers, offering to furnish a correct copy if he will agree to have it published. In Mr. Vory's letter he denies that either he or Taft either gave out or authorized any one to give out the communication which Mr. Williams states that he prepared. Mr. Williams asks Mr. Adams to explain how they secured the copy which was given to the press.

Weaver Gets Papers.

General James B. Weaver today secured from Secretary of State Hayward blank nomination papers which he will circulate in order to have his name placed on the demo cratic ballot for governor. At the close of the democratic convention at Cedar Rapids last week when General Weaver was defeated for delegate at large to the national convention by the liquor interests in the democratic party he promptly accepted their challenge by announcing himself a candidate for governor. His action today in getting nomination papers to circulate is carrying into action his declared intention at that time

It is not known what other candidate will be annourced in the democratic party if any. Fred White, a former candidate, is being mentioned as is also John Dennithe party nominee for lieutenant governor. It is confidently expected that some candidate will enter the field and that the temperance question will thus be a direct issue inside the democratic party. Candidates Have Filed.

Congressman Charles A. Kennedy, from the First congressional district, today filed his nomination papers for renomination with the secretary of state. He is one of the first congressmen to file. Nomination naners were filed with the secretary of
