Affred &. Vanderbilt, Young Man of Thirty, Heir to Fortune of Sixty Million Dollars-Foreign Trip Delayed.

NEW YORK, April 2.-There was little surprise expressed in any quarter today over the announcement that formal action in a suit for absolute divorce had been taken by Ellen French Vanderbilt against Aifred G. Vanderbilt. Within the social set in which the couple have been leaders, it had been known for a year or more, that there was a lack of

At the same time although a younger son, he became the head of that branch of the Vanderbilt farefly, his sider brother Cornellus having decoups chirchiged from his father through his marriage with Miss Grace

Alfred fit kandwhilt married Eilen Freiren, the drughter of the late Francis O. French a New York banker, on January 11, 1801. At the time of his marriage Mr. Vanderblit was 23 years old and his brids 21. They have one child, a boy, who is with his mother at the home o Mrs. Vanderbilt's brother in Tuxedo Park Efforts at Conceniment.

The papers in the case which were filed in the county clerks's office today, show that every effort is being made to conceal the real nature of the suit. There is nothing in any of the papers available to show whether the contemplated action is for a separation or divorce. It is generally believed bowever, that an absolute divorce will be asked by Mrs. Vanderbilt, according to an affidavit which has been filed by her attorneys. With the other papers stas a slipulation signed by the legal representatives of both parties agreeing on Pauld Mornice as referee to hear the evidence and any order from Justice O'Gorman appointing Mr. McClure referee.
