Fred Beell, the Wisconsin wonder, made short work of Jack Carkeek at the Auditorium Saturday night, as he threw him to the mat with a dislocated shoulder in eight H. D. Reed minutes and ten seconds and the referes gave the fall and match to Beell, Carkeek is a big, powerful fellow and locked a giant beside Beell, but size does not always count. Although he has held the world's championship for wrestling and is known all over the world as a good wrestler, he is now slightly out of form and his forty-seven years are beginning to teil on him. During the first part of the bout he was quits quick and Beell was time in spite of his squirming and efforts to get away. The finish came fast when it came. Carkeek was trying for a waist hold on Beell when the Wisconsin lad turned the fray to his own advantage by selaing Carkeek around the waist, lifting him clean from the floor, whist high, and then throwing HAARS . him to the mat in such a way that Carkeek's shoulder was dislocated and he lay limp on the mat. A physician was called and he quickly prenounced it a dislocated shoulder. Several strong policemen tried to force the shoulder back into place, but were unable to move it, and Carkeek was taken to his drossing room, where Dr. Van Camp soon had the dislocated member in Two seventy-eight-pound lads furnished onsiderable amusement by their antics at the wrestling game, especially when they tried to gain an advantage by the toe hold. The boy in white finally put the other to the mat with a half-Nelson. Charles Truseau made quick work of Kid Herman in the preliminaries, winning in 3:05 and 1:10.
