WASHINGTON, April 18 .- (Special Telegram :- Congressman Pollard, who has become interested in the subject of good roads and has made a study of the methods in vogue for the building of roads in the clay and sand districts of the United States, succeeded in having incorporated in the last supropriation bill, being a member od the agricultural committee, a provision that engineer officers should be sent to cooperate with county boards and give them benefit of both their engineering and practical knowledge looking to the construction of better roads. Mr. Pollard today addressed a letter to the chairmen of the county boards in his district, calling situation to a previous letter written by him and to which no reply had been made, represent the best improved and thoroughly up-to-date methods of improving the public highways of the country.
