WRIT TO RELEASE SOLDIER

Judge Munger Thinks Father Should Have Minor Who Enlisted.

NOW UP TO WAR DEPARTMENT

General Morton, Upon Whom Writ of Habeas Corpus is Served, Has No Jurisdiction in Anderson Case.

Judge W. H. Munger granted a writ of habeas corpus Thursday evening in the case of William T. Anderson, father of Albert L. Anderson, a minor, who recently enlisted in the United States army and was assigned to the Second Field artillery, stationed at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming. The battery to which the young man was assigned is about to depart for the Philippines.

The writ of habeas corpus was directed to Brigadier General Charles Morton, commanding the Department of the Missouri. Young Anderson first attempted to enlist in Omaha, October 2, 1907, but was rejected by the recruiting officers here as being both under age and under size. He then gave his occupation as a base ball player. He subsequently managed to enlist at some point in Kansas. He is only 14 years of age.

Morton Not Content. Brigadier General Morton filed his return to the writ Friday morning. He alleges that he has no jurisdiction in the premises in that Albert T. Anderson is now in confinement at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming, and is awaiting a trial by general court-martial for fraudulent enlistment, his trial having been ordered April 21, and consequently Anderson is now under the sole charge of the secretary of war and that the commander of the Department of the Missouri has no jurisdiction in the case.

It appears from the statements made by the officials of the army at Fort D. A. Russell that Anderson enlisted February 21, 1908, and was sent to Jefferson Barracks, Mo. Before his formal acceptance as a recruit he produced a paper purporting to be from his guardian, J. E. Hawkins of Kansas, consenting to his enlistment and alleging that Anderson was 18 years of age. This document has since been shown to be a forgery. Anderson was placed under arrest and in confinement for fraudulent enlistment and his trial ordered by general court-martial.

The date for the hearing on the writ of habeas corpus has not yet been fixed, nor can it be until General Morton hears from the secretary of war, who may direct Anderson's release from confinement at Fort D. A. Russell and order him to appear before the court at Omaha.

JURORS TO GET MORE MONEY

County Authorities Decide They Are Entitled to Pay for Six Days a Week.

Beginning with the next term jurors in district court will be allowed fees for Saturday whether they serve on that day or not. After some discussion, the county authorities decided a juror is entitled to fees for six days each week from the time he begins to serve until his three weeks' service is up or he is finally discharged. The date for the hearing on the writ of habeas corpus has not yet been fixed, nor can it be until General Morton hears from the secretary of war, who may direct Anderson's release from confinement at Fort D. A. Russell and order him to appear before the court at Omaha.

TASTES LIKE CANDY THOUGH WILL CURE ANY CASE OF INDIGESTION

Dispepsin will make you eat and then digest every bite for you, leaving nothing to ferment and sour. Of course if you insist upon waiting until you have tried all the so-called digestive tablets, bitters, cur-alis, etc., before you really make up your mind to get rid of your stomach trouble, there is nothing to hinder you. But listen! You haven't Catarrh of the Stomach or Nervousness, or Gastritis, or Cancer, etc. Prove this by taking one 22-grain Triangular of Dispepsin after your very next meal. Convince yourself within five minutes that your actual disease was sour, acid, Stomach—Food fermentation—that every bite you ate turned to Stomach gas, Stomach poison and Acid, which makes you feel sick and miserable, producing such symptoms as pain in the pit of the stomach. Difficulty in breathing after a meal. Headaches, Belching, Heartburn, Nauseous breath, Water brash, Bloating, Hiccups, Sour eructations, Gas in Stomach and many other bad feelings.

Indigestion is a result, not a cause, of your misery. If the Stomach is sour, your food becomes tainted, and that's why you have these stomach disorders. Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on the case of Pape's Dispepsin, which costs only 50 cents anywhere in this city. Read what this effective Stomach and digestive treatment contains, and how absolutely harmless it must be; how it does for the Stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn; absolutely removes every corrupting or tainting element, and will digest for you 2,000 grains of any kind of food. Get a case of Dispepsin now, then eat anything you want at your next meal, and you will not suffer from Indigestion or Stomach trouble. Each bite of food will taste good, and, besides, you will not need liver regulators to keep your intestines and Stomach clean and fresh. Now and forever rid yourself of the misery of Indigestion and Stomach trouble. Make your meals a pleasure by going to the table with a healthy appetite.

AMERICAN SHREWDNESS

Growth of Middle Western States Repeated in Western Canada.

REGINA PEOPLE "GET THERE"

Causes Leading to Growth of Omaha Are Resulting in More Rapid Growth of Regina, Sask., Canada.

Shrewdness and keen business instinct which leads to a quick grasp of opportunity has always characterized the American people. The wonderful and meteoric growth of the United States, to the position of a great nation—which gave to the nineteenth century the name of being "The Century of the United States"—is a marked tribute to the genius and energy of the American people. But, as the prime minister of the great sister country of the north said, there is a new star on the horizon—Canada—and as the nineteenth century belonged to the United States, so the twentieth century would be "The Century of Canada." Canada's premier, when making his glowing prophecy, realized that western Canada, with its wonderful resources, would be the main factor in placing Canada among the great powers in civilization.

Just indeed is the pride of Americans in the western states. The growth has been marvelous—the development of cities wonderful. From a wild, dead west American energy and shrewdness has wrested nature's best and built an empire where the staid and settled east had hardly dreamed it could be done.

Several decades ago the city of Chicago was supplying all the demand of the western states. But the population grew, and with it demand grew. So great was the demand on the facilities of Chicago there arose the necessity of locating a point where shipping could be done to better advantage. A point with good location for distribution was necessary—the result was Omaha. Today the west is supplied by Omaha instead of Chicago. Omaha has grown to be a city greater than expected.

Why? Because of American shrewdness and energy in developing resources and building up a country. Every American knows the history of the growth from Chicago to Omaha and Kansas City. In keeping with their reputation for a determined and untiring search after opportunity and material advantage, Americans pushed northward and came to the Chicago of Canada—Winnipeg. There they saw a city which was solving the same problems as their own city of Chicago in its early days solved. But there they did not stop. They pushed westward and there saw the great factor which would eventually make the twentieth century the "Century of Canada." They saw a beautiful prairie country stretching for 90 miles, from Winnipeg to the mountains, and 40 miles in width. They saw a country of marvelous possibilities of unlimited resources. They saw a country which would experience the same strenuous growth as their own western states—that there would be repeated the same history, only to a greater extent. They took advantage of the opportunities they saw—they made "things happen." And Canada acknowledges to Americans the fact that to them is due, to considerable extent, the growth of the Canadian west. This was a few years ago. What is the condition today? Population has grown, demand has grown; today American capital and insight, Canadian capital, railroads, all see that the growth is assuming great magnitude. Americans see today that the great west, with Manitoba on the east, Alberta on the west and, richest of all, Saskatchewan in the center, is repeating, faster and broader, the history of their own west. Shrewdness and insight of American business men see in the heart of the greatest wheat-producing area in the world the city which is feeling daily the heart-throbs of the ever growing commercial activity of western Canada, a city which will eclipse the rapid growth of Omaha—Regina—and as an evidence of their belief in its possibilities the American investors in the west have named it the Omaha of Canada. In that city are people who "get there," because it is a city which is "getting there" every day. Regina pursues in its daily life a "get there" policy, which always appeals to the American business men.

Regina is a city which occupies the position of being one of the wealthiest in Canada. It owns the town site, its electric light plant, water works and sewerage system. As an evidence of the advantage of owning their town site, they have just completed a magnificent city hall, costing hundreds of thousands, from the sale of a few city lots, thereby not costing the rate-payers one cent. It has its streets paved for miles, and last year the buildings erected amounted to over $2,000,000. In three years Regina has grown from 4,800 population to over 12,000 souls, and today promises to eclipse the growth of Winnipeg, which in five years has grown from 50,000 to over 100,000 people. Regina is the capital of Saskatchewan, and is erecting government buildings which will be the finest in Canada. Why should not Regina be one of Canada's leading cities? Investigation into conditions shows that railroads recognize in Regina the coming metropolis of the west. Already two of Canada's transcontinental railroads pass through, and the third, the great, new National Transcontinental, has its line within 100 miles and in a short time will be completed into the city. These roads, together with branch lines, enable Regina to tap every portion of the great country, east, west, north and south. All the important agricultural implement concerns of Canada and the United States have their distributing headquarters in Regina, as well as several large wholesale institutions. A soap factory, several sash and door factories, iron foundries, etc., are operating, and a stove factory is making arrangements to start manufacturing. It is to Americans that the marvelous possibilities of Regina appeal most truly, because they have seen the conditions which are working today in the west and in Regina carried to a completion in the country to the south. Regina and western Canada will appeal to Americans also because they are ever anxious to find an opportunity to obtain material advantage. They want Americans in Canada and welcome us as brothers, and they realize that we are linked with them in working out their great destiny. Western Canada, and particularly Regina, wants men who will assist them in bringing about the condition which will make Regina what every indication proves it will be—the commercial center of the last west.

Regina wants American vim and energy and business ability. They demonstrate the fact to us whenever we visit their city. They realize what we have done at home and that we can do the same there, because the great influx of settlers—the building of new towns and cities—is only increasing the necessity for a city to solve the same problem which was years ago solved by Omaha in the south—adequate and more rapid and efficient distributing facilities.

American capital is already greatly interested in Regina, and more is being invested every day, but there is room for more. Thousands are going there to take advantage of the opportunities of the great and last west—to be with the many who will reap a share of the benefits of the wonderful resources which are as yet practically in the first stages of development. The heritage that is western Canada's is a great one; the future that is Regina's is one greater and brighter than any city in America, and Americans who are now in Regina point with pride to what they have helped to accomplish and what yet can be done. Canadians are not "chaps" who want us and use every opportunity of proving to us what a factor the western American is in the development of a new country, and every day they realize that if we come we should lose no time. They know that they have a country which has possibilities greater than any country that they ever offered. In Regina they see the giant octopus, whose tentacles are fast stretching out over the country in every direction, absorbing its trade and commerce and solving the great problem of supplying the demands of the countless homes, towns and cities dotting its fertile plains, which seem to spring up in a night so great is the harvest which can be reaped. From Regina, before many years, in every direction, will roll the heavy trains laden with supplies for the teeming millions of the west, piloted by two inseparable pilots—American enterprise and shrewdness and Canadian steady and progressive business energy.

Storm Kills Shorn Sheep. CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 1.—(Special.)—Some losses of shorn sheep are reported from Carbon and Natrona counties as a result of the recent cold rains, snowstorms and very cold nights. The losses are not unusual however. Reliable reports received at sheep headquarters here indicate that only one clip of wool has been disposed of in the entire state, and that was the wool of Robert Cronawate of Casper, who received 10 cents advance and contained his wool. There are a number of buyers at Casper and Rawlins, the two leading wool centers of the state, but they are making no offers, and are simply waiting for instructions from their houses. Only in a few instances have they even gone so far as to examine the clips. The growers are not worried, however, for they know they can store their clips and obtain a sufficient advance to carry them until the fall marketing of dry sheep and lambs.

DYNAMITE DESTROYS AN EYE Explosion Causes Serious Injury to Jesse C. Root, Farmer West of Omaha.

The unexpected explosion of a charge of dynamite on the farm of Jesse C. Root, seven miles west of the city, Tuesday, resulted in injury to Mr. Root, from which it is probable he will lose his left eye. Mr. Root was blowing out stumps with dynamite. He had placed a heavy charge under a stump, but as it did not go off within the expected time he went up to see what was wrong. The charge exploded when Mr. Root was near, throwing fragments of wood against his face and injuring his eye. He was able to walk to the house, where he was attended by Dr. H. C. Heald of Millard.
