SCHOOL AND COLLEGE WORK

Preparing for Commencement in Various Institutions.

MANY SUMMER SCHOOLS PLANNED

Class Tour of Europe Under Guidance of Iowa College Professor—Educational Activities of the Middle West.

Two middle west state universities—Iowa and Illinois—announce as commencement day orator the famous Wu Ting-Fang, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from China to the United States.

The girls in attendance at the State University of Iowa are agitating the construction of a woman's building. There are about 750 girls in attendance, which is nearly one-third of the total attendance.

The girls are making preparations for a great rally to be held in the university armory on May 9. This rally is for the purpose of housing the woman's building.

Work is going on rapidly on two new university buildings. One is a house for the president, and the other is an addition to the hall of engineers.

The addition of the engineering building is of exactly the same size as that part already constructed. In harmony with the other university buildings, it is of Bedford stone and of fire proof construction.

Iowa College, Grinnell. Prof. Steiner led the Friday morning chapel exercises, giving to the students his farewell message before leaving for his European trip in the interests of immigration and immigrants.

Prof. Steiner is now in the east, first in attendance on the sessions of the Congressional Brotherhood, and then visiting Oberlin and other colleges to gather men to accompany him on his trip.

the miners and others workers. The trip will be no mere pleasure jaunt, for the young men will have three study periods each day during the six months that Prof. Steiner is with them and will continue their study in various countries during the remainder of the year.

Among recent visitors to the college have been Mrs. D. P. Breed, president of the Women's State Home Missionary society, who gave an address to women Sunday afternoon, April 28. Mr. E. T. Cressy of Sioux Falls, S. D., who gave an illustrated lecture on the battle of Chickamauga, in which he participated, and Rev. R. C. Cully, '97, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Sioux City, Ia., who addressed the student body at that hour.

In spite of much persuasion on the part of trustees, faculty, alumni and others, Prof. George A. Brown, '08, positively declines the position of field secretary to which he was recently elected. Mr. Brown prefers to remain in educational work, where he is the successful principal of schools at Shenandoah. He is the third alumnus to refuse the responsible office of field secretary.

The usual round of spring term festivities is now under way. The junior academy students gave an entertainment and banquet to the senior class last week. Saturday night the juniors in the college department gave an elaborate banquet to the seniors. The May morning breakfast annually given by the Young Women's Christian association as a means of raising money to defray expenses of delegates to the conference at Lake Geneva during the summer, was served this week.

Miss Ruth O'Neill, one of the promising young violinists of the conservatory, gave a complimentary recital in her home town, Hamburg, Ia., Friday night. In this she was assisted by her teacher, Miss Rosa Marquis of the conservatory. Both artists won for themselves many expressions of praise. Later, a reception was tendered them at the home of Miss O'Neill's mother.

The fever for outdoor sports is now at its height. Tennis playing is quite the fad and the courts are occupied nearly all the time outside of recitation hours. Additional courts must be provided. The young men are training in base ball and for various events pertaining to field day. The college team has, so far, won two games of the three games played. Next Saturday they cross bats with Simpson college, their most formidable rival so far this season.

Upon recommendation of the faculty committee the executive committee of the board of trustees has elected to the professorship of Greek and Latin in Tabor college Mr. Myron Clinton Gaston, at present superintendent of schools in the city of Thurman. Throughout his undergraduate course Mr. Gaston is said to have maintained a high standing, as a result of which he won a scholarship in the University of Iowa, where he spent the next two years. His major subject was Greek, his minors Latin and pedagogy. His thesis was highly commended and secured for him the degree of A. M. Prof. Gaston has had five years' successful experience as an educator, the last three years at the head of schools at Thurman. His wife is Emily Jane Colby, a member of the class of 1903, a successful teacher, a fine musician, a woman of culture and Christian character.

Prof. Gaston is a grandson of Mr. George Belcher Gaston, founder of Tabor college, hence it will be a source of satisfaction to many to learn that the Gaston name is once more officially connected with the institution. Under his scholarly leadership the department of Greek will doubtless remain popular and continue to flourish. We trust he may build himself into the mature life of the college as his grandfather did into the foundation, and remain an efficient factor in educational circles until he will be eligible to the Carnegie foundation fund. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gaston have in and about the city of Tabor many relatives, more friends and a host of acquaintances, who will rejoice over their good fortune and deserved promotion. Their coming will be a distinct acquisition to the teaching. The seminary building is most advantageously located to insure comfort during the hot days of summer. It crowns one of the highest points in the city, from which the eye may range over miles of the Missouri valley, the highlands of Iowa and a perspective of Omaha. The building is new, spacious and elegant, and affords every convenience conducive to health and mental activity.

State College, Ames, Iowa. Speaking of the free scholarships recently offered by the Board of Trustees, President Storms today said: "The fifty scholarships are intended to aid the needy and the deserving. A scholarship generally means free tuition. At Ames tuition is and for years has been free. Consequently the scholarship can be used to meet contingent expenses incurred at the college."

"We recognize in the county superintendent the best possible agency to select the one most entitled to the scholarship, and consequently have empowered this officer to make the appointment subject to the approval of the superintendent of schools in the city where the appointee graduates."

The total increase in attendance at the college during the last two years has been about 300—a number sufficiently large to keep the institution embarrassed every year for lack of funds to meet increased expenses for additional equipment and teaching force. The state college, however, belongs to the people, and the trustees as well as all sections of the state. It is the hope of the trustees that the scholarships offered will be the means of encouraging fifty additional young people to enter upon college courses."

Educational notes. The Insurance Press prints a detailed record showing fifty-eight fires in school buildings in the United States and Canada since January 1.

It is stated that Andrew Carnegie will give $25,000.00 to endow a national university at Washington, D. C., and that President Roosevelt is to be head of the institution.

President Francis Goodwin of the Wadsworth theorem, Hartford, Conn., on Thursday laid the corner stone of the addition to the building which J. Pierpont Morgan is building as a memorial to his father, Junius S. Morgan, to be called the Morgan memorial. This will cost about $600,000. The total gifts of the Morgans, father and son, to the almshouse, exceed $1,000,000.

The fifteenth annual summer session of the University of Michigan will open June 22, 1908. Work will be given in the departments of literature, science and the arts of engineering of medicine and surgery of law, and in the homoeopathic medical college. The session continues until August 14, in all departments except in the department of medicine and surgery, and in the homoeopathic medical college, in which work will close July 31.

The value of industrial training in the common school is finding an increasing recognition. That child is best armed to fight his way in the world who has instructed hands as well as an instructed head. The New York Times, discussing the subject, goes so far as to declare: "For ourselves we are quite prepared to say that in any community the schooling provided for all people is profitable and wise in the direct proportion that it aims for the things" for him, as four bottles cured him completely. He is now entirely well and free from all the suffering incident to acute kidney trouble. All druggists.
