PIERS FOR WOOL WAREHOUSE
Foundation in Cement and Concrete is Begun for New Plant.

CARPENTERS MAY START TUESDAY
Storage in Transit Rates Will Go Into Effect Twenty-Seventh and Most Rapid Progress Possible Will Be Made.

Two gangs of cement and concrete workers began the construction of piers on which the warehouse of the Omaha Wool and Storage company will rest Saturday morning on the river front.

The Bradford-Kennedy Lumber company has the contract for furnishing the lumber and three carloads of heavy timbers were switched into the yards Saturday morning. The concrete mixers believe they will have the piers in and ready for the carpenters to begin not later than Tuesday. The force may work all day Sunday if workers can be secured.

The warehouse will be covered with the heaviest of corrugated iron and President Charles H. King found that Omaha dealers carried a sufficient amount to cover the sides of half a dozen terminal elevators and warehouses.

The storage in transit rates go into effect May 27. The management of the storage company in Omaha will crowd the work as fast as possible in order to get the warehouse completed by the time the rates are effective.

Where to Store Wool.
One of the problems confronting the wool growers is where to store the wool or what to do with it each year before it is shipped to Omaha. There is no room in the average railroad station in the west to store wool for a few days or for a week until a carload can be accumulated. Some of the wool is hauled by wagon in sacks thirty to forty miles. In many places switch tracks are the only facilities for shipping.

The Commercial Club and Wool Growers' association may take up this matter together. It is conceded by the growers that it would be unreasonable to ask the railroads to build sheds in which to hold the wool for a few days or even for two weeks. But at the time of the year when wool is shipped the freight cars are idle almost every year and the railroads may be asked to increase side track facilities and run in strings of empty cars, in which the wool

REAL STEP FOR COURT HOUSE
Plan Submitted for Erection of Jail for Five Years.

BOARD WILL DELIBERATE ON IT
Asks W. Farnam Smith to Present Another Plan for Temporary County Prison on Three-Year Basis.

Preliminary steps toward the erection of the new court house voted by the county at the special election are being taken by the county board. At the meeting Saturday W. Farnam Smith presented to the board a proposition to erect a two-story temporary jail on the corner lot at Eighteenth and Harney streets and lease it to the county for five years for $18,500. At the request of the board he will submit another proposition for the same kind of a building for a three-year lease.

Commissioner Ives has prepared a list of questions to be submitted to the county attorney on the matter of procedure in starting the new court house. The list was not adopted by the commissioners, but was held over until the report of the canvassing board is received. The questions are as follows:

1. Did the court house bond proposition receive sufficient votes to carry it?
2. If the bonds carried what are the steps to be taken in order to make an orderly and legal progress in the erection of a new court house?
3. What are the funds available for the erection of a temporary jail?
4. When are the funds available for grading the site and beginning the disbursement of funds in the erection of the new court house?

Ure Draws Its Fire at Last.
Ure also introduced a resolution which drew fire from both Trainor and Bruning. It provided that all supplies not covered by annual contracts be bought on bids to be submitted on specifications on file in the county comptroller's office, and that these specifications be made out by the comptroller by 2 o'clock on Wednesday of each week; that bids be received on them up to Thursday at 5 p. m., and that action be taken by the board on the following Friday. In effect, the resolution makes the comptroller the purchasing agent of the county, instead of the county clerk. At the request of Trainor the resolution went over until the next meeting.

The board gave the contract for installing the heating plant at the tuberculosis ward

YOUNG MAN TAKES HIS LIFE
Prefers Death to Insanity, Which He Feels Coming On.

LEAVES NOTE OF LOVE TO FAMILY
Married Last Christmas to Lincoln Girl, with Whom He Had Lived Happily and Whom He Calls Good Wife.

Clarence J. Burchard walked in to the Drexel hotel at 8:30 Saturday morning, registered under the name of George W. Shoel, went upstairs to a room and sent a bullet through his right temple into his brain, producing instantaneous death. He left a note indicating that he feared he was going insane, which was his reason for the act.

He lived with his wife at 295 North Twenty-sixth street. They were married only last Christmas and their married life had been happy. Burchard was a son of Dr. C. P. Burchard of Falls City, Neb. He was employed at the Byrne-Hammer Dry Goods company as a checker in the stock room. He was 22 years of age.

The young man showed no signs of his intention when he registered and the name he wrote on the hotel register is written in a firm hand. He went up to the second floor in the elevator. Mrs. Allie Courtney, the housekeeper, saw him wandering up and down the hall. He asked her where room 24 was. She noticed that he carried a revolver in his hand, but thought he merely intended to take it into the room and put it away. She showed him the room. There was no key on the door.

"Never mind," said Burchard. "I'll drop a chair against it."

Loses No Time.
He went inside and jammed a chair back under the knob. In a few moments the shot was heard.

The body lay across the bed, which was soaked with blood from a ragged hole in the right temple. The revolver lay on the floor. He had laid his top-coat and his coat neatly across the bottom of the bed. His collar and necktie were placed on the bureau. On the bureau was also a letter, written on a piece of fine paper in a very good handwriting. It had been folded and evidently had been written and brought to the hotel in his pocket. It read as follows:

My darling wife, papa, mamma, brother and sister,
I am sorry that I will forsake you, but I am losing
