BANKERS DISCUSS GUARANTY

Practically All of Speakers of Opinion it Would Be Good Thing.

SYSTEM NEEDS SAFEGUARDS

Largest Attendance at Convention in History of Group Five—Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year.

"With a governmental guaranty you have the absolute confidence of the public and every dollar of money can do business," declared D. L. Heinsheimer, president of the First National bank of Glenwood, at the annual meeting of group five, Iowa Bankers' association, which was held at the Grand hotel yesterday.

The proposed governmental guaranty of bank deposits was the principal subject discussed informally at the meeting. Mr. Heinsheimer, who for many years has been a vigorous advocate of the proposed system, opening the discussion by request. The discussion was most general and all of the speakers practically endorsed the plan as a good one, providing it could be carried out in a safe and practical manner.

Mr. Heinsheimer emphasized the argument that governmental guaranty would inspire confidence in every depositor and would prevent panics that arise through lack of confidence. He declared his belief that private deposits were entitled to the same privilege as the deposits of public funds, which are guaranteed.

Attention was called to the adoption of the plan in Oklahoma, but the speakers agreed that it had not been in operation there sufficiently long for judgment to be passed upon its probable success. One of the speakers advanced the opinion that if the guaranty was to be made, all banking institutions, including national, state and private, should have their deposits guaranteed after thorough examination by the proper officials. It was also suggested that the guaranty plan would do much to forestall postal savings banks.

Plan Needs Safeguarding.

Hon. J. T. Brooks expressed it as his opinion that the plan of a governmental guaranty would eventually come, but the plan would have to be properly safeguarded to prevent dishonest men going into the banking business. The necessity for a banker to have personally the confidence of the people would be done away with under the governmental guaranty system, Mr. Brooks contended.

The meeting was the largest attended ever held by the group, no less than seventy representatives of the leading banking interests of southwestern Iowa being in attendance. As many of the bankers desired to leave for home on the early afternoon trains, the program was carried out at one continuous session, lasting from 10 a. m. to 1:30, at which time the meeting closed and the bankers adjourned to the dining room, where a daintily appointed luncheon was served.

financial stringency last fall, when, he declared, the people showed the strongest confidence in the thorough integrity of the men at the head of the banks. Mr. Baird declared that money was a measure of life energy and that the banks being in charge of money were "the greatest preservers and conservators of human energy ever conceived by the mind of man."

George Walters of Harlan responded briefly to the address of welcome, expressing pleasure at the hearty welcome accorded the bankers by the citizens of Council Bluffs, in which city he said he was always perfectly at home and he was sure the other members of the association felt the same.

The late Unpleasantness and Chicago Banks and Bankers" was the subject of an address by Henry Meyer, cashier of the Harrison National bank of Chicago. The late financial flurry was referred to by Mr. Meyer as "one of the most remarkable affairs in the financial history of this country or any other. His traces, conditions prevailing immediately before the flurry and told of the plans adopted by the banks of Chicago for meeting the financial stringency. The speaker emphasized the importance and value of organization in meeting conditions such as prevailed.

Ackley Howard, vice president of the First National bank of Sioux City, spoke at some length on "Financial Legislation Now Pending," but did not express himself as in favor of any of the plans under consideration. He advised against hasty legislation and advocated a currency that would be safe and actively circulating as the thing most to be desired.

The program was brought to a close with a short talk by J. M. Kelley of Macedonia on the cause of panics, which he said was lack of confidence on the part of the people, who consequently withdrew their money from the banks. Mr. Kelley proposed asset currency on the grounds that such a system would merely aggravate existing difficulties.
