WILEY TO THE NEW MEDICS

Chief of Federal Bureau of Chemistry Orator at Commencement.

TWENTY-THREE IN THE CLASS

Chancellor Andrews of State University, of Which School is a Part, Presents Diplomas to the Graduates.

The sixth annual commencement exercises of the University of Nebraska College of Medicine were held Thursday evening in the First Congregational church before a large audience. The college is located in Omaha and this is the twenty-seventh year of its work in this city. The principal address of the evening was delivered by Harvey Washington Wiley, Ph. D., LL. D., chief of the United States Bureau of Chemistry, Washington, D. C.

Other participants in the exercises were Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews of the Nebraska State university and Dean Henry Baldwin Ward of the Omaha college. The class consisted of the following: Joseph A. Grinnell, Edward C. Hayman, Joseph J. Bonnes, William H. Hensley, Theodore J. Kerr, Charles Lieber, Brownell R. Miller, Frank H. Morrow, John C. Moore, Louis B. Mulikin, James F. Premer, George W. Prichard, Clarence Hubbsall, Earl L. Sisson, Lawrence T. Sidwell, George W. Sullivan, Harry A. Taylor, Simon L. Taylor, Irwin L. Thompson, Charles C. Tomlinson, George H. Walker, Henry F. Wessert, Albert A. Pricke.

The exercises opened with an organ recital by Martin W. Bush. Then followed the invocation by Rev. Daniel Edwards Jenkins, D. D., the chaplain of the evening. The administering of the hypocritical oath and presentation of the candidates to the chancellor and faculty of the Nebraska university and Board of Regents then followed by Dean H. B. Ward.

The graduates were dressed in students' gowns, with mortar board caps, and Chancellor Andrews was similarly attired. Chancellor Andrews conferred the degrees in the Latin tongue, and as the students filed by him and the faculty, the chancellor handed each his diploma as his name was called.

Wiley to the Graduates. In delivering his address to the class on the subject of "Prophylaxis—The Great Work of the Physician," Dr. Wiley said in part: "It gives me pleasure to come so far to

JIM AND LOBECK BREAK EVEN

Mayor and Comptroller Launch Gubernatorial Races Same Day.

JAMES WILL MAKE COWBOY FIGHT

While These Two Omaha Democrats Are Running for Governor Lytle Abbott Will Face for Attorney General Nomination.

Mayor Dahlman began his gubernatorial campaign July 26. Comptroller Lobeck says he will begin his at the same time. Lytle I. Abbott, candidate for attorney general, has made no announcement as yet.

Mayor Dahlman leaves June 22 for Denver, to be in on the ground floor at the Bryan ratification meeting, which convenes July 1. Three days later will find him home, when he will immediately start on a thirty days' tour of the state campaigning for the democratic nomination for governor. He will visit as many cities and towns in Nebraska as possible before August 1, when all the candidates must file for the primaries, which will be held September 8. Candidates must file at least thirty days prior to the date of the primaries. Should the mayor secure the nomination he will continue his campaign up until election time.

A whirlwind campaign is being planned by the mayor, and he is going after the nomination with both feet, he says. The Dahlman-Cowboy quartet, which campaigned with the mayor in the city during his fight for the mayoralty, will accompany him on his tour of the state and sing at every place the candidate makes an address. If he gets the nomination the quartet, now in vaudeville, will stay with him until election. Prominent members of the Dahlman Democracy also will accompany the candidate.

Major Dahlman says he has not yet formulated his platform, but gives out the information that he has "two rattling good planks," all his own. What these planks are, he says, he will not breathe to any man before he starts on his campaign. Lobeck still affirms that he is going to

POSTAL MAN HELPED SOME

Letter Carriers and Clerks Get Some Advantage, if Not All They Asked.

"I hardly know what to say in explanation of the postoffice appropriation bill from the meager analysis given of it in the press reports from Washington this morning," said Assistant Postmaster Woodard Friday morning. "It is clear that the thirty-day vacation proposition is knocked out, but even at that, it is an improvement over the old rule, which gave the postal employees but fifteen days vacation during the year, and should these fifteen days be taken continuously and a Sunday or holiday intervene, such days would go in the sum total of the fifteen days. Now, as I understand the bill, should two Sundays intervene in the vacation period, the employee will be given the full fifteen working days vacation, making a total of seventeen days. Before the salary increase feature only related to the carriers, but, as I understand it, the clerks also receive the benefit of the increase under the new law. I do not know just what application it will have regarding the superintendents of the different departments in the postoffice, or whether they will be affected at all by the bill. This matter will doubtless be more fully shown in the bill in detail a copy of which we will receive as soon as it is passed and signed."

QUICK WORK BY A WANT AD

Joseph Cudaky Gets Prompt Return for a Small Expenditure.

Joseph M. Cudaky has a record for quick action on a want ad. TRACKS HUSBAND OVER OCEAN

Woman Will Not Track Him Back Again, but Sees for a Divorce.

After tracking her husband, John Kovacs, from Hungary to America, Mrs. Pirova Kovacs refuses to track him back again and has applied to the district court for a decree of divorce. In the petition she relates that they were married in Hungary in 1886. In 1894, she says, he deserted her and came to America. Two years later she came to America to find him and persuade him to live with her again, but before she found him he heard she was on his trail and fled back to Hungary again. She adds the charge of non-support to that of desertion.

Bianche Seid's life as the wife of George Seid was brief but full of incident, according to the petition she filed in district court asking for a divorce. They were wedded in Council Bluffs last November, January 4 she says he struck and beat her, and May 11 threatened her with great bodily injury. Suit was filed Friday and she asks that her maiden name, Kuthsek, be restored to her.

DOOMED, SHACKS REPIEVED

Two Months Lease of Life Granted to Old Structures that Must Fall.

Two months lease of life has been granted the shacks at Sixteenth and Harney and Seventeenth and Harney streets, where fruit is sold, but by decree of the city council issued in special session Friday morning they will have to fall by August 1. No opposition was made to the condemnation proceedings if the shacks would be allowed remain sixty days, and to save any litigation or possible trouble the council decided to grant the grace asked.

Custodian Rowden of the city hall presented a communication to the council to the effect that C. W. Hull & Co. had failed to live up to its contract to furnish the city hall with Chesapeake slack coal at $12 1/2 a ton, and the custodian asked for permission to buy coal elsewhere and tax any excessive price to the Hull company. The matter was referred to the building and property committee for investigation.
