EAST FAVORS OMAHA ON WOOL

Such is Report Brought Back by Veteran Grader. Manufacturers will buy here

In Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New Jersey Factory Men Approve the Market in the Gate City

"To learn the actual position of the eastern manufacturers, on the Omaha wool market, I have visited the factories in Philadelphia and Camden, N. J., as well as those in Massachusetts and Connecticut during the past ten days.

"The manufacturers are exceedingly anxious to buy on the Omaha market for several reasons, the first being to cut out the middleman's profit, which is often times exorbitant and is usually the cause of market fluctuations.

"The manufacturers as well as the growers, would like to have the price of wool about the same each year, instead of having it 10 cents one year and 25 to 30 cents the next.

"By using the various departments of The Bee Want Ad Pages you get quick returns at a small expense.

TAKAHIRA TALKS AT MOHONK

Japanese Ambassador Tells of Struggle of Japan.

WHY GREAT NATIONS GO TO WAR Something is Wrong with the Government in One or the Other When They Fight—Peace Resolutions.

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., May 22.—Baron Kurogo Takahira delivered an address today before the conference on international arbitration, in session here, in which he outlined some of the causes of war and told what must be done to prevent it.

A careful study of international disputes establishes, it seems to me, that they arise almost as much, if not more, from the internal conditions of the country affected as they do from the conflict of outside interests, and it is a peculiar feature of such questions that where they occur there are almost always signs of disorder, retrogression or misgovernment.

In this respect political observation somewhat resembles meteorological observations. The rain comes down from where there are clouds, international disputes develop where there are undesirable conditions of life, such as I have just mentioned. I do not, of course, mean to say that the less modern or the less organized states are in the wrong in all international questions. On the contrary, there are cases in which such states deserve sincere sympathy, but it is undeniable fact that the less modern or the less organized states present more frequent occasions of public anxiety on account of international disputes, and it may be reasonably questioned whether the unsettled conditions they present—politically, economically or otherwise—does not lead to such disputes.

Japan Holds Its Own. As regards Japan, young as it is, as such a modern nation, I think without fear of being misunderstood that it is holding its own despite all the vicissitudes of life through which it has been passing during the last half century. The incessant criticism and complaints that have been brought against it regarding its attitude and policies in the far east appear to be, in my opinion, due to the rather hasty conclusions of travelers who have not adopted in the less organized kingdom under our protection. These are the countries from which Japan acquired in former times its system of government, education and even religion, by means of which we regulated our political and social life.

If these countries could live up to their ideas of government and society, however obsolete they may be, it is certain they could maintain their positions more securely. But, falling in this, they have allowed themselves to fall into an unhappy condition—disorganized, mistreated, impoverished—and thus have permitted themselves to become the prey of sinister designs and selfish purposes. With such countries as neighbors Japan could not feel repose, but found its own position threatened, and it was finally obliged to take the necessary measures for its self-preservation and to assume responsibilities for their peace and happiness.

Time is Necessary. Disorder, retrogression and misgovernment which called for our action cannot be removed in one day and in removing them some struggles must necessarily ensue. Today we are at the stage of such a struggle.

It is, however, a most encouraging sign of our work that even in its "half-done" stage there is no danger of disturbing international peace in that part of the world insofar as our influence extends.

If every country in the matters between nations and also its own internal affairs in a right spirit, I am sure that every arbitration was no longer to be found necessary and you will be able to enjoy a tranquility as genuine as the spring days at this beautiful spot on Lake Mohonk.

Platform Adopted. The platform of the conference, after approving the work of the second Hague conference and welcoming the signing of fifty and more treaties of arbitration in the last five years, concludes as follows: The fourteenth Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration further commends the activities of our schools, colleges, universities and the various professional, business and labor organizations of the country by the thorough and judicious particular sentiment is created, trained and directed, not merely to the maintenance of the Hague conference and the recommendation of an international and permanent character guarantee for the future a conference of an international and permanent character capable of correcting the inequalities of international practice and of enacting a code of international law based upon justice and equality.

NEW HAVEN LINE MONOPOLY

Government Brings Suit Under Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

NEW ENGLAND IN ROAD'S CONTROL Save One Steam Line and a Few Trolley Systems Road Owners All Transportation Lines in the Region.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—With the object of preventing the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company from exercising any control over the Boston & Maine railroad, and to separate the New Haven road from the extensive trolley system which it has acquired, the government today through United States district Attorney French filed in the United States circuit court at Boston a petition in restraint of trade and monopoly within the meaning of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman anti-trust act.

The petition alleges that the New Haven company has acquired control over approximately 600 out of 600 miles of electric railway in Connecticut, 400 out of 500 in Rhode Island, and about 600 in Massachusetts, which roads, prior to such control, were owned in active competition with the New Haven company. Also that in acquiring about 35 per cent of the capital stock of the Boston & Maine railroad, it has secured practical control over that railroad; and that by the acquisition of the electric lines and this control of the Boston & Maine, it has established a monopoly of all the transportation facilities by land in the New England states, the Boston & Albany railroad being practically the only line of any consequence in the New England states, with the exception of the state of Vermont, not now under the control in some form of the New Haven company.

The petition relates the history of these various acquisitions and shows how the "New Haven" company has persistently pursued the policy of suppressing all competition with it until now, with the exception aforesaid, it dominates practically all transportation facilities between and among the New England states, and between those states and the rest of the United States.

The petition prays that the combination and monopoly be declared a violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

THREE MEN HOLD UP SALOON

Secure Only a Few Dollars and a Watch For Their Effort.

Three masked men held up and robbed the bartender, Garfield Tysacayk, at the saloon of Mrs. August Kradowski, 206 Walnut street, about 10:20 Thursday night, securing between $5 and $6 and a watch, and made their escape through a rear door after knocking down Bob Robinson, a customer who was in the place and who put up a fight.

All three of the men were dressed in dark clothes, dark soft hats and were masked with large blue handkerchiefs, which concealed their faces. Each one carried a revolver, and when they entered the rear door the foremost one ordered the bartender and two customers who were in the saloon to throw up their hands. Robinson made an attempt to pick up a cuspidor, but was felled to the floor by a blow over the head with a revolver. The robbers then emptied the cash register and took a watch, belonging to the bartender, Robinson was only stunned by the blow he received. After taking the money from the cash register the robbers left by the rear door and disappeared toward the railroad tracks, without attempting to search either of the customers.

Secretary Discusses Insular Problems in Address Before Tennessee Bar Association.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 22.—Secretary of War William H. Taft addressed a magnificent audience at the Vendome theater here tonight, the taking over of the Philippine archipelago by the American government being his subject. He was most cordially received and was frequently applauded. Secretary Taft is here as the guest of the Bar association of Tennessee.

After giving a history of the negotiations, resulting in the purchase of the friar lands, Secretary Taft said: "It is quite possible that the friar lands will not prove to be worth what we paid for them, though if agriculture improves in the islands, I think we shall probably be able to escape with a very slight loss."

"The Roman church in the Philippines is in a deplorable condition from a
