DR. JENNIE CALFAS QUILTS

Resigns as Physician of Woodmen Circle, Effective June 1.

DEMANDS PAY FOR TWO YEARS

Says She Could Not Continue with the Order Under the Conditions Which Have Lasted for Year.

Dr. Jennie Calfas, supreme physician of the Woodmen Circle, has resigned her position to take effect June 1. The announcement was made Saturday morning at the office of Mrs. Emma B. Manchester, supreme guardian of the order. Mrs. Manchester said the resignation had been tendered without any explanation whatever from Mrs. Calfas and intimated that it would be accepted.

"Yes! it is true I have resigned," said Mrs. Calfas. "The condition of my resignation was that I be paid two years salary, or $7,200. I could not longer remain in the Woodmen Circle under the conditions which have surrounded my position for the last year. I have tried to avoid more publicity in the matter than was necessary, but I feel that in justice to myself I should state that I was not forced out of my position. The relations with Mrs. Manchester have not been as amicable as might be wished for, but the officials of the circle have not been able to prefer any charges against me, and so far as I know, have not wished to do so."

"Was your resignation brought about under duress, while the executive council was in session the past week?" was asked.

"Not by any means," replied Mrs. Calfas. "I have been treated very fairly by the members of the executive council. It has not been a pleasant task to perform my official duties under the conditions which have surrounded my work and I am both satisfied and pleased at the outcome."

When it was known at the Woodmen circle that Mrs. Calfas had resigned, there was an evident feeling of relief among the women in that body. Two or three persons in semi-official positions expressed their pleasure at the what they consider the fortunate climax of an internal struggle which has at times threatened to disrupt the affairs of the circle.

Mrs. Manchester, in admitting that Mrs. Calfas had resigned, did not say so in many words, but the impression was given by her that she was more than pleased at the manner in which the affair had been settled.

Mrs. Calfas admitted that the trouble is not entirely an end. She declared that as soon as her official connection with the circle was ended the poisoning affair would be taken up in earnest and some new light shed on the affair.

CREIGHTON UNI DEBATORS

Young Men Who Make Up the Literary Society of the Academic Department.

After a successful year of work, during which much progress was recorded, the Creighton Literary society, an organization of the academic department of the university, will close the year by entertaining friends Monday evening and give a public program in the university auditorium.

To show those who attend something of the work which the society has been doing, a short debate will be given. It will be on the question of whether the United States should permanently retain the Philippine Islands or not. Francis E. Marrin will open the debate and the affirmative will be by Thomas G. Langhler and Leo B. Day. The negative side will be taken by Gerald C. Floersch and Louis T. Bachand.

Besides the debate the program will consist of an essay on "Wordsworth" by Roy A. Conley; declamation by Walter C. Hronek; essay, "Education in Ancient Egypt," by Francis R. Wallace; solo, John Jamieson, and music by the University orchestra.

The judges of the debate will be Matthew A. Hall, George E. Pritchett and Paul L. Martin.

Rev. William J. Ryan, president of the literary society, is a zealous advocate of occasional public work on the part of the students, and the program of the society Monday will not be the first nor last exercise of the kind, though it will close the work for the year.

The following are the members of the society:

Louis T. Bachand, Alfred Charde, Herbert J. Connell, Leo B. Day, Thomas E. Donnelly, John C. Daugherty, William E. Donovan, Gerald C. Floersch, Walter C. Hronek, Arthur H. Huntzinger, Thomas J. Langhler, Francis E. Marrin, Clement L. McCertan, W. Reid McKenna, Clement L. Martin, Lewis W. Moore, Daniel A. O'Leary, Harold L. Pritchett, Carl B. Rasmus, Francis B. Wallace, John A. Welch.

FARMERS FEELING JUBILANT

Happy Because of Good Crop Condition as Result of Ample Rains.

Farmers of Nebraska are feeling jubilant, according to the weather and crop report of the Union Pacific for the week. The reports say that during the week the weather was generally clear and warm with two heavy rains from Omaha to North Bend and south of Valley and north of Columbus, with a light rain from North Bend to Grand Island and St. Paul. The soil is in good condition and winter wheat and rye have made good progress and should yield a good crop. Spring wheat, oats and alfalfa made rapid growth and are in good condition. The weather has been favorable for corn planting. In some localities the corn is up and making a good stand. Farmers were anxious to get the corn in and as the weather was favorable not much time was spent in trading. The outlook for a good crop is very encouraging.

Friday night's rain was general over the state, with no severe storms reported from any of the weather bureau stations. The showery conditions are likely to continue during Saturday night and Sunday, with no material change in temperature.
