

LIGHT ON GUINNESS MYSTERY

J. G. Truelson, Jr., at Vernon, Tex., Says He Helped La Porte Woman.

TOOK WIFE THERE TO BE KILLED

Jewelry in Ruins Marked with Woman's Name and She is Missing—Confession is Withdrawn.

LA PORTE, Ind., June 1.—With the return today of Sheriff Sumner from Vernon, Tex., where he went to investigate the alleged confession of a New York man named Truelson, who wrote to Prosecutor Smith that he had been an accomplice of Mrs. Guinness in several of her murders, the details of the case which has been the subject of so much newspaper comment will become known.

Truelson has been in jail there since March 29, charged with swindling by representing himself to be Jonathan G. Thomas of Pittsburgh, a cousin of Harry K. Thaw, and passing many forged checks.

Thief Breaks into High School and Seizes Reserved Seats to Exercises.

For the first time in several years a theft has occurred at the high school. Some time Saturday or Sunday a basement window of the old building was forced open and the thief then gained entrance to Principal Wenzel's office, probably by means of a key, and rifled the money drawer of $18 in cash, $4 in stamps and a few reserved seat tickets for the commencement exercises.

The final examinations begin at the high school this morning and continue the remainder of the week. The tests in various subjects will be given on different days, regular class work being discontinued till next week.

The high school cadets assembled for a few minutes yesterday afternoon to hear some announcements and instructions concerning the encampment at Blair next week. The battalion will leave Omaha early next Monday morning for the Northwestern road, and will be preceded by the signal corps, which will lay out the camp and complete other necessary arrangements on Saturday.

LOAN AND BUILDING MEN

State Association Holds Seventeenth Annual Meeting at Hotel Loyal.

ONE OF CONDITIONS IS HIGH

President Nattinger in His Address Shows an Increase in Assets of Nearly Three Million Dollars.

The seventeenth annual session of the Nebraska State League of Loan and Building associations closed its work Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock by the election of these officers for the ensuing year:

President, C. W. Hininger of Grand Island. First vice president, H. A. Graft of Seward. Second vice president, R. M. Gillan of Auburn. Third vice president, George E. Gilmore of Omaha. Secretary-treasurer, Elmer E. Bryson of Omaha.

The next annual meeting will be held in Grand Island. The afternoon session was devoted to the reading and discussion of miscellaneous papers. These included "Some Objections to the Dayton Plan" by A. Truesdell of Fremont; "Amendments to the Nebraska Building and Loan Association Law," by William Baird of Omaha; "Building and Loan Associations attract a Business Man," by David Cole of Omaha; and "Should Deposits be Guaranteed by State and National Banks," by C. McGrew of Omaha. In his paper Mr. McGrew took a strong stand against the guaranteeing of deposits, holding that instead of inviting honesty in the administration of bank affairs, such a law would act exactly the reverse. He held further that such a law would have the effect of driving many of the American banks and newsmen in the world is that business conducted more honestly or intelligently.

The guaranteeing of deposits of a bank by the government or state will not stop a panic. I do not believe that the government or state has any more right to guarantee the deposits of a bank than it has to guarantee any other business. If banking is to be a government institution, then make it such an institution absolutely. Bankers are much like other men. They are of the same flesh and blood as other men and are no better nor worse than other men. Great as we are, do we want to change stocks out of the business now? They have stood the test of years, and I do not think we can improve on them. I believe the time will come when Mr. Baird, in his paper, recommended that the by-laws of the association should be so amended as to increase the capital conclusion is given that the business should be permitted to vote by mail. He was opposed to any other changes in the present by-laws. His recommendations were referred to the executive committee, as was a resolution that efforts be made to have a law passed by the legislature providing building and loan associations from taxation when a bank failure will be a thing of the past. We are proud of our great banking institutions and they are worthy of our confidence.

The clearing weather Sunday afternoon and evening caused an outpouring of amusement seekers from the city to Krug park to enjoy the first Sunday of the 1908 season at Omaha's public resort. The Dixie Concert band arrived from Sioux Falls at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and gave its first concert at 4 p. m. The band pleased its large audience, which expressed its approval by repeated encores. The prima donna of the band, Lydia Ballanch, missed the train on which the band came from Sioux Falls and she will arrive this morning, making her Krug park debut this afternoon and evening.

The Flinn band played both afternoon and evening concerts most acceptably to the hundreds of friends who were present. The Cafe Lulus was largely patronized and the lunch pavilion was crowded, making it necessary for Mr. Kroka to put on all the extra help he could muster during the rush hours. All the concessions were liberally patronized.

DID HIS SINS FIND HIM OUT? Seven Months After a Crime a Man Believed to Be Right One is Arrested.

More than seven months after the crime was committed William Smith was arrested Sunday by Detective Maloney. He probably never would have been arrested had he not dropped a memorandum book on the scene of the robbery.

The detective found the book containing the name William Smith. There are twenty-six William Smiths in the city directory and all these were run down and found to be innocent except one who had left town. This one was arrested Sunday at 2818 Davenport street, and is believed to be the man.

ROYAL ROOSTER IS MISSING Very Fancy English Orpington May Have Met a Common Fate.

From his apartments in the barn of Mrs. J. A. Cascarden, 232 Webster street, an aristocratic rooster was stolen Sunday night. This rooster was no ordinary rooster. He was an Orpington rooster. He was not a common Orpington rooster, but was a very fancy English Orpington rooster, and furthermore his owner ascertained he was a very fancy English Orpington rooster.

Grave fears are entertained that his lordship may have met the common fate of the vast majority of his pheasant brethren.

OMAHA LEADS NAVAL CADETS Two Boys from Home Are on the Honor List in Class of Over Two Hundred.

General Charles F. Mansson telegraphs the editor of The Bee from Washington calling attention to the fact that Omaha is the only city in the United States to have two members on the honor list of the 1908 class of the United States Naval academy, which numbers over 200. Alex. Chaston has a star and is No. 2 and Frank White, No. 1. The honor list numbers twenty-five.

Painters Almost Ruined Police Station Mascot by Applying White Paint.

Who painted Boston Green white? Somebody did. The old negro police station mascot reeled into his adopted home Sunday with his ebony skin converted to a skin of snow whiteness.

Two painters kitched me and painted me, said Boston, who seemed to take the matter rather as a joke. "All de horses shied at me as I come up de street," he added.

Much scrubbing was required to restore Boston to his natural color.
