HITCHECOCK LAUDS PRESIDENT

Democratic Congressman Says Roosevelt Acts for the People.

TALKS TO REAL ESTATE MEN

Says When Book of His Life is Written Greatest Chapter Will Be on Conservation of National Resources.

Commending President Roosevelt in the highest terms for starting the movement for the conservation of natural resources, Congressman G. M. Hitchcock, in speaking before the Real Estate exchange Wednesday noon, said:

"The things President Roosevelt does in defiance of law or congressional order are generally for the interests of the people." Congressman Hitchcock was speaking of the president reorganizing his commissions and making new appointments without congressional order and without having the law on his side, when he paid President Roosevelt the compliment of saying that he did things for the interests of the people regardless of formalities.

"I believe that when the final chapter in the history of Theodore Roosevelt is written," said the democratic representative, "that starting the movement for the conservation of our resources will be the most important and lasting thing which will be said about the man. All his other reforms and accomplishments are not in the same class—other men had those ideas before him, but the one thing of awakening the American people to the waste going on in the country is due to the work of President Roosevelt."

Growth of Cities.

Mr. Hitchcock spoke almost an hour to the real estate dealers, telling them of the growth of the cities of the United States because of organizations of business men and dramatically describing the fight of Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin against the Aldrich-Vreeland bill on the floor of the senate.

"It was remarkable because the senator from Wisconsin made his address and the courageous fight in the face of the opposition of the men who have been there a life time, run the senate and think they own it, men like Hale and Allison."

Mr. Hitchcock told the real estate dealers that undoubtedly Aldrich had an understanding with Vice President Fairbanks before the session that he, Aldrich, was to walk to the front of the senate chamber and Fairbanks was to recognize him just at the opportune time to demand a roll call and arbitrarily prevent any other senator speaking after Senator Gore of Oklahoma concluded.
