large cases of beer were confiscated. Potato Bugs Get Busy-The potato bug pest has been more general this season than for several years about Omalia. City gardeners are having a constant batwith the pests and are winning out. The suburban gardeners have gone at the bugs systematically and succeeded in eliminating the pests with the aid of Paris green, which is conceded as about the only effective remedy.

New Cottages at Lake-About a dozen new cottages and a score of tents have been erected or are being erected at the Omaha Rod and Gun club grounds at Cutoff lake. Beveral families have clready located there for the summer season and others will move their lares and penates out there during the current week if the rain takes a notion to quit. Arrangements are being made for a big carnival at the lake some time early in July.

Plenty of Cherries-Centrary to the early predictions as a result of the May frosts, the cherry crop of Omaha is going to be abundant. Cherry trees in all parts of the city show an abundance of fruit and the early cherries are ripening rapidly. The late cherries apparently have not Jeen injured at all. The same cheering report of an abundant harvest of cherries from the southern part of the state is coming in and the price of the fruit is on a reasonable buying basis.

The attendance may swell to 60,000 or more. Already the numbers who have announced their intention of being present is within 4.000 of the attendance at the Boston convention of 1903, when 35,000 teachers were registered.

Cleveland entertained the National Educational association thirty-eight years ago. The city was then accredited with a population of $2,000, and its guests, members of the association, were 170. This was when the organization was eight years old. One of the problems that the local executive committee has been called upon to deal with is the furnishing of distilled has been appointed by the Board of Rewater. It is estimated that over 3,200,000 glasses of water will be required. Fifty tons of ice a day will be required to keep the water cool. The national spelling bee is to be held in Rockefeller park, and the open air reception is to be conducted in the university circle, in which 500 boys will sing, three bands play and thousands of electric lights furnish illumination.

The work of preparation for the convention has consumed almost a year. The sum of $60.000 needed for local expenses was raised by subscription.

University of Nebraska. The commencement exercises of the University of Nebraska were held during the last week, and old school men say more people were here from over the state than at any previous commencement. This may have been due to the large number of graduates, there being 307 from the various departments. The feature of the week was the address by Senator Charles A. Towne of New York. This was heard by a crowd which completely filled the auditorium.

A committee of the Board of Regents of the university acted favorably upon a proposition to establish a school of journalism at the university, and the matter is now up to the finance committee. The committee which reported favorably has in mind putting some successful newspaper man in charge of the department to deliver lectures and direct the course and then give the students practical experience on the college paper. Occasionally editors and newspaper men from out in the state will be invited to deliver lectures to the class. The committee has no idea that every student will become a newspaper man, but the members are of the opinion that the training secured in such a department would be of immense value even though the student engaged in other professions. Some years ago Will Owen Jones of the State Journal was the head of a department of journalism at the university Students returning to the school of agri-

During the alumni meeting of the uni versity graduates held at the farm Wednesday, June 10, the dairy department gave a milking machine demonstration which was followed by an exhibit of international prize winning steers by the department of animal husbandry. The judging pavilion was well filled with former students of the university. All seemed very much interested in both demonstrations. The prize in the weight-judging contest was won by Miss Emma Hanlon, a recent graduate, whose estimate was correct on two animals and only fifty pounds off on the third. Miss Hanlon lived on a farm before coming to the university and she has also taken some agriculture at the farm.

Total The above does not show the assessment of the Union Stock Tards company, which will probably be about $4,200,000.00. The big agriculture. The high schools whose names corporations of the city will be responsible for over half of the city taxes.

The table quoted shows that the tax com missioner has raised the assessment of nearly every one of the corporations. This is notably the case with the Omaha Water company and the Street railway. The Omaha Water company has been raised about $300,000. This probably means that the company will contest the assessment in court. If the court allows the city to tax the franchise it is asserted the assessment will be none too high.

The Omaha Water company appealed last year and the court decided that the assessment was illegal because the tax commissioner and the Board of Reviews had no facts before them on which to base such an assessment. It was not declared by the court that the assessment was excessive. The Street Railway company objected to the assessment last year also when it was $100,000 leas. It is likely that they will file remonstrance.

If the assessment is kept up to about the figures quoted the rate of the levy will be reduced fully five mills. This will be a black eye to the people who have been declaring that there must be an increase on the mill levy.

The value of the real and personal property assessed last year was a little over $21,000,000. The tax commissioner over looked an assessment of $500,000 in footing up his balances last year, and this made considerable difference in the totals. The board of review goes into session the adjustment Tuesday morning. This board will be in session eight days. The people who have any belief that their assessment is unjust must appear before this board and prove their case.
