ALFALFA PALACE FOR SHOW

Building Planned for Accommodation of Corn Exposition Crowds.

WILL STAND NEAR AUDITORIUM

Structure Will Be Frame, Lined with Baled Alfalfa, and Prizes Will Be Awarded for Best Product.

From all indications an alfalfa palace will be a necessity to accommodate the crowds which will come to the National Corn Exposition to be held in Omaha December 9 to 18.

Plans for this palace are being considered by the executive committee of the corn show. It is proposed to erect at small cost a large frame building south of the Auditorium, where the corn show will be held. This will be lined with baled alfalfa, grown for the purpose, and alfalfa is expected the entire building will have the appearance of being built of alfalfa and timothy hay in bales.

There is a section in Iowa which is the kingdom of one Timothy. The farmers who are fortunate enough to be the subjects of this hay king are anxious to send a display to Omaha and it is possible that while the alfalfa palace is built of alfalfa from Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming, it will be decorated with bales of timothy hay.

Alfalfa Meal Mills.
Just now Omaha is promised an industry which may equal in extent any industry in the city—the alfalfa meal mills.

It has been demonstrated that alfalfa is one of the best foods for dairy and stock cattle. The packers recognize this and are paying the highest prices for stock fed on alfalfa and corn. The dairymen also have discovered the value of alfalfa meal, which is a balanced ration. This is shown by the fact that the Oradell Dairy Farm company of Trenton, N. J., has been building a large mill in Omaha. The M. C. Peters Mill company, already the largest manufacturer of alfalfa meal in the west and inventors of the special machinery, have contracts for all of the product of their mill and are contemplating an addition doubling the capacity.

From Colorado it is learned that seven alfalfa meal mills are being erected in that state, while western Nebraska is to have two mills, one of them a branch of an Omaha mill.

Indications are that Omaha will have half a dozen alfalfa meal mills in two years, turning out daily almost 200 tons of alfalfa meal, and the National Corn Exposition is not going to overlook such a growing industry.

Among the prizes offered will be hay presses worth from $100 to $150.

PROF. BARKER AND THE BOYS

University Man Will Take Lads on Tour of Biology, Geology and Botany.

The Young Men's Christian association has its annual convention in progress here and is being arranged with Prof. P. D. Barker of the University of Nebraska to spend one month with boys studying biology, geology and botany out in "God's glorious out-of-doors" among the insects, rocks and flowers. Educational Secretary McGovern of the Young Men's Christian association has looked after the details of the plan. He says the course of study will begin June 23 and end July 24. Prof. Barker will take boys between 12 and 14 years of age out with him each day, five days a week, and study nature.

"Of course, the study will necessarily be somewhat elementary in character," says Mr. Miller. "But we hope to be able to accomplish much good for the boys. Prof. Barker will teach them the names and characteristics of the various insects, animals, rocks, earth formations, flowers, trees and plants, so that they may be able to distinguish any of these when they come in contact with them. We don't expect boys of these ages in such a short time to learn all about any of these things, but we do expect them to learn enough to enable them to distinguish kinds of trees, plants, flowers, bugs and have some idea of the rocks and earth. It will be a typical walk with nature, a communion. Besides, some days or parts of days will be spent in the gymnasium or the swimming pool and other days the boys will take lunches and stay out until late in the evening."

DEED OF SALE YEAR AGO

Record Shows John L. Kennedy Bought the Home of Z. T. Lindsey.

Deeds were placed on record Tuesday showing that John L. Kennedy, vice president of the banking house of J. L. Branda & Sons, bought year ago the former home of Z. T. Lindsey at Fortieth and Harney streets. The sale was made by A. L. Reed, and Rev. T. K. Hunter, one of the trustees of Bellevue college, has bought a residence lot and home between Eleventh and Twelfth on Marcy street, the deed being given by the Philip Potter company for $4,000.

MIDLAND IN LARGER HOME

Paint and Glass Company Forced to Secure More Spacious Plant.

Lack of room in the company's present quarters at 1802-12 Harney street, and increase of business have forced the Midland Glass and Paint company to move to the Ames building on Eleventh and Howard streets, formerly occupied by M. E. Smith & Co., wholesale dry goods dealers. The building is now being put in shape for the new tenants and the move will be made before August 1.

The building to be occupied by the Midland company in the future is twice the size of its present quarters and has a floor space of 19,434 square feet. It will be the largest exclusive glass and paint jobbing house in the west. When once enclosed in the new building the Midland company will be able to fill orders much more promptly for the reason that it will have its stock all in the one building and much more easily accessible. In the past the company has been compelled to rent additional outside room and have goods stored in a number of houses at the present time.

The company expects to add a large and up-to-date mirror and beveling factory, the present forces being increased to a considerable extent. The capacity of the leased art glass plant will also be enlarged, this plant having grown rapidly in the past two years, and a department for the manufacture of art glass lamp shades, domes and goods of a similar character will also be installed. This will be done in addition to conducting the regular jobbing business as heretofore.

All territory west of Omaha, with the exception of California and Oregon, is covered by the Midland Glass & Paint Co., stocks being carried at Denver, Ogden and Boise. The company has a large number of salesmen on the road.

SON OF W. H. KENT IS DEAD

Not the Veteran Newspaper Writer, as Was First Reported from St. Joseph.

The report that W. H. Kent, the veteran newspaper man of middle west, had been killed by a train at Watson, Mo., Monday, June 8, proves to be erroneous. W. R. Kent, son of W. H. Kent, was found dead there, and the error arose in the confusion of names. W. H. Kent was in the proof room of the Bee when a telegram came last week telling of the death of his son, who was then enroute to Omaha, and he left Friday for Missouri.

RECORDS TORN FOR STAMPS

Valuable Files at Court House Mutilated for Money Making—Relics of Civil War.

That old and valuable records in the district clerk's office have been torn and mutilated by stamp collectors for the sake of the civil war revenue stamps was the startling discovery made by District Clerk Smith Tuesday. Hundreds of papers filed during the war were found to have holes torn in them where formerly the old revenue stamps were pasted. Most of them relate to land condemnations and actions in cases establishing title to land, and in case of a contest the papers would be of great value to the owners of the property.

Deputy District Clerk Gow, who has been going through the stacks of old documents which have been stored in the court house attic, has unearthed an armful of mutilated papers and the indications are he has not discovered all the damage yet.

The mutilated papers are dated during the later years of the war, when revenue stamps were required on certain classes of documents. Many of them relate to condemnation proceedings taken by the Union Pacific when it was building its line through eastern Nebraska. Others concern similar proceedings by other property owners in establishing title to land.

Owing to the lack of storage room these records have been lying in a confused heap in the attic until recently, when District Clerk Smith decided to arrange them in order so they could be used in case anyone wanted to make reference to them. In this way the mutilation was discovered.

Clerk who has been in the office for some time says about ten years ago a young man called at the office and asked to be allowed to go through the old files saying he was interested in some litigation. He was allowed to do so and later it was reported he had sold $500 worth of old stamps in Omaha. Nothing was thought of the incident until it was noticed that all of the old revenue stamps had been torn off the records. The name of the man has been forgotten.

District Clerk Smith says the wholesale stealing of stamps is due to lack of space and help properly to store and watch the records of the office. It is necessary to give the public access to the files in many cases and practically no guard is maintained over these records.

Among the old files was found a commission signed by Governor Butler and Secretary of State Thomas P. Kennard, making Casper E. Yeast a notary public. The commission was never delivered. It is dated May 9, 1887. District Clerk Smith will send it to Mr. Yeast as a relic.

A man who is in perfect health, so he can do an honest day's work when necessary, has much for which he should be indebted until it was known in Branchton, Pa., prices that he was not only unable to work, but he couldn't stoop over to tie his shoes. Six bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure made a new man of him. He says, "Success to Foley's Kidney Cure." All druggists.

COURT DISREGARDS BOAST

Sends Fellow Who Exploits His Financial Backing to Jail for Five Days.

Browny, disheveled and dirty, Frank Geiser, undismayed, made a persistent defense when brought before the police judge on a charge of begging. Mr. Geiser asserted that he had no need to beg on the street.

"I can get a quarter or a half a dollar any time I want it," he said. "I got friends that'll loan to me, I pay 'em back. My credit's good. I don't have to ask no man for a measly nickel."

This display of vast pecuniary resource, of tremendous financial backing, had but little effect on the court, however, and Mr. Geiser was sentenced to jail for five days.

MILWAUKEE RUSHES TO COAST

Will Be in Seattle by Christmas, 1909, Says Earling.

CORDIALLY RECEIVED BY PUBLIC

Extension of New Line to Pacific Has Been Interrupted by the Continued Rains, Says the President.

The Milwaukee coast extension will get into Butte, Mont. by July 15, and we now expect to be into Seattle by Christmas, 1909," said A. J. Earling, president of the Milwaukee Road Tuesday morning as he lodged between showers at Union Station. With Rowell P. Miller, chairman of the board of directors of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road; Frederick Layton of Milwaukee, a director and Charles W. Harkness of New York, a director of the company, Mr. Earling has been making an extended tour of inspection of the new line which will connect the Mississippi valley with the Pacific coast with a new railroad for nearly the entire distance.

"The rains have been extremely heavy in Montana and have interfered materially with our work. Some serious damage has been done by these rains but that will soon be repaired as soon as it quits raining. The Northern Pacific is a heavy loser this spring from rains and washouts west of Butte have put that line almost entirely out of commission on through business."

Line Hurdly Received.
"The way our line is being received by the people of the northwest is also most gratifying. There is no secret that the Hill lines have been in a most congested state and our line is looked upon as being the medium of relief from those conditions. The country adjacent to the new lines is also filling rapidly with settlers, in fact, at a surprising rate. We tap some splendid country, hitherto quite a ways from the railroads and the people are quick to grasp the opportunity of getting cheap land near a railroad."

The party arrived in a special car on Union Pacific No. 4 Tuesday morning and left shortly afterwards on a special train over the Milwaukee for Chicago.

George Haines, formerly city passenger agent of the Milwaukee in Omaha, of District Earling that the country is rapidly filling with settlers. The party was met at the station by F. A. Nash, general western agent, who accompanied the members of the party to Council Bluffs.

Open Rate for Teachers

Secretary Irwin Shepard of the National Education association announced that for the forty-sixth annual convention, which will be held at Cleveland June 29 to July 2, the "open rate" round trip plan for tickets will govern the members. The Interstate Commerce commission has overruled the certificate plan and no other change will be made. The one and one-half fare rate, the dates of sale and the extension of tickets for return to August 31 will remain the same. From Omaha the summer tourist fares are in effect. The fare will be 25c on standard lines and about 15c less on the differential lines.

Railway Notes and Personal.

L. W. Wakeley, general passenger agent of the Burlington, still continues to improve from the effects of his appendicitis operation.

Although the Northern Pacific is not opened all the way to the coast, a large amount of freight as far west as Missoula, Mont., and all freight, except perishable, is now being received at the rate of war as Missoula. The Burlington's fast train between Lincoln and Billings is still out of commission, the local work being done by the other train, and no through passengers being accepted.

HE CAN WHISTLE FOR HIS PAY

Messenger Boy Who Insists on Whistling Gets Discharged Without Wages.

Rudolph Pollock was discharged from the Omaha Messenger Express company's employ last week and his employers refused to pay him the $250 which was due him. Therefore the young ex-Messenger took his grievance into police court.

There had been trouble. The young man alleged he was merely engaged in whistling a tune. When told to "cut it" he politely requested that he be permitted to finish the tune he was then engaged on. He continued to fill the air with melody to the manifest discomfort of another employe who was trying to take a message over the telephone. Then his employer discharged him. He demanded his wages and then a fight broke out. All parties were discharged in police court.
