NOTES ON OMAHA SOCIETY

Mrs. Samuel Burns, Jr., Entertains for Mrs. O. T. Eastman of Evanston.

OMAHA COUPLE ELOPEMENT Miss Mildred Ross and Mr. Joseph D. Havens Quietly Married at Wilbur, Neb., Last Tuesday.

Mrs. Samuel Burns, Jr., entertained at an afternoon of bridge Friday at her home on South Portland street, complimentary to Mrs. O. T. Eastman of Evanston, Ill., who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles Kohnke. The guests included Mrs. Eastman, Mrs. Kohnke, Mrs. Arthur Remington, Mrs. W. A. Paxton, Mrs. W. A. Redick, Mrs. A. G. Eason, Mrs. Lucien Stephens, Mrs. David Baum, Mrs. A. L. Reed, Mrs. W. J. Foy, Miss Bessie Yates, Mrs. Edgar Scott, Mrs. Fred Myers, Mrs. Warren Rogers, Mrs. H. P. Whitmore, Mrs. Charles Wilburn, Miss Lynn Curtis, Miss Ida Sharpe, Mrs. E. S. Sprague, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. J. J. McMullen, Mrs. M. T. Barlow and Mrs. Henry Wynn.

For Mrs. Dailley. A pretty luncheon was given Thursday by Mrs. R. L. Robinson at her home on Mrs. Edward T. Dailley of St. Joseph, Mo.

The table has a centerpiece of pink roses in a low mound and plate cards, hand-placed, with pink rose buds marked the places. Mrs. Earl Brink, Mrs. E. H. Jenks, Mrs. W. G. Preston, Mrs. W. O. Henry, Mrs. Fred Dale, Mrs. Walter Dale, Mrs. L. W. Edwards, Mrs. Arthur Draper Smith, Mrs. Ray C. Wagner, Miss Frances Spooner of Cedar Rapids, Miss Lynn Carpenter, Miss Elizabeth McConnell and Mrs. Robinson.

The announcement of the wedding of Miss Mildred Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ross, Jr., to Mr. Joseph D. Havens, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Havens, which took place Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Wilbur, Neb., at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Beebe, came as a great surprise to their large circle of friends, although their engagement had been known for some time. After the ceremony Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Beebe served a wedding breakfast. Mrs. Havens was educated in Omaha, having attended Brownell Hall and also the Sacred Heart convent.

Both young people have been telling their friends and parents that they would surprise them some time Tuesday Mr. Havens was called to Wilbur on business and asked permission of Mrs. Ross to have Miss Ross accompany him. As the trip would take but a few hours and both families have friends at Wilbur Mrs. Ross consented, saying at the only intimation given of the proposed wedding was a remark by Miss Ross: "Perhaps we will get married today," addressed to her mother as they left, to which Mrs. Ross replied confidently, "Oh, I think you will wait a while." The bride is but 23 and the groom 21, and their marriage was opposed only because of their youth. Mr. and Mrs. Ross are building a new home at Forty-ninth and Dodge streets and had expected to have the wedding there in the fall. Mr. Havens returned to Omaha with his bride Tuesday evening and in the meantime the young people are staying at the homes of their respective parents until they can arrange for a home of their own.

Infarnal Affairs. Mrs. Frank Hoel gave a small kennington Friday afternoon at her home for Mrs. Armstrong of St. Joseph, Mo., who is visiting Mrs. Harry Burnham. A decoration of garden flowers was used through the rooms and seventeen guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. William Swartz Poppleton entertained informally at bridge Thursday evening at their home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Eastman, who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Kohnke. Four tables were placed for the game.

Class Gathering. The graduating class of the Walnut Hill school, was entertained Thursday evening by Miss Effie Cleland and Miss Margaret Nelson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cleland. The class colors, blue and green and rose pink, were used in decorating the rooms and the porches. Several school pennants were also in evidence. Miss Barbara Bard served punch on the porch. About thirty guests were present, including four of the teachers—Miss Powell, Miss Macomber, Miss Rogers and Miss Warren.

Birthday Party. Master Billy Bush, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bush, celebrated his fourth birthday Thursday by giving a party at the Bush home in Dundee.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent with games and a luncheon was served under the trees on the lawn. Mrs. E. R. Bush was assisted by Mrs. Frank Fahn, Mrs. Frank Carmichael, Mrs. E. E. Kimberly and Mrs. C. O. Talmage. Those present were Misses Alice Kimberly, Doris Talmage, Ruth Greasley, Elizabeth Westfield, Ruth Kimberly, Dorothy Carmichael, Dorothy Dodda, Esther Westfield, Mildred Klupp, Angeline Ruth, Madeline Stuart, Edgerly, Billy Fahn, Billy Bush, Jack Fahn, Alvin Hill.

Afternoon Tea. A small tea was given Friday afternoon by Mrs. Henry Nott at her home on Farnam street. Garden flowers were used throughout the rooms and in the dining room, where tea was served. The table was attractive with a decoration of columbine, heliotrope and ferns. Assisting Mrs. Nott were Mrs. Arthur C. Smith, Mrs. Edgar M. Morseman, Jr., Mrs. Bertha Offutt, Mrs. L. F. Crawford, Mrs. Frederick Bush and Miss Jessie Millard. During the afternoon, Mrs. Turner and Miss Moore sang informally.

Linen Shower. Mrs. E. R. Curry and Miss Alice Curry entertained Thursday afternoon at a linen shower and 3 o'clock tea for Miss Mamie Shrum, who will be one of the June brides. Those present were Miss Mabel Snyder of O'Neill, Miss Mabel Snyder of Omaha, Miss Essie Fry, Miss Annie Fry, Miss Genevieve Van Kurah, Miss Donna Wilbur, Miss Mabel Christianaen, Miss Ruby Fuller, Miss Edith Shrum, Miss Mabel Wilding, Miss Olga Brally and Miss Ruth Currie.

Prospective Pleasures. Mrs. Philip Potter and Miss Potter have issued invitations for a 3 o'clock coffee for Wednesday morning, June 23, at their home at Thirty-third and Dodge streets, for Miss Shattuck, Miss Moore, Miss Ferris and Miss Platt. Mrs. Joseph Barker will entertain at luncheon Saturday for Mrs. Parker of St.

Joseph, who is the guest of her brother, Mr. W. H. McCord, and Mrs. McCord Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Ward Burgess will entertain for Mrs. Parker at a game of tennis, followed by supper.

Come and Go Contest. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Caldwell returned Friday morning from an extended trip in southern Europe. Miss Faith Potter is expected home the first of the week from Minneapolis, where she has been attending the wedding of a college friend.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Davis announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Roberta, to Mr. Edward D. Hicks, at Plattsmouth Wednesday, June 17. Mr. and Mrs. Hicks will reside in Omaha. Mrs. John S. Brown of Chicago is the guest of Mrs. Henry Brown.

Miss Marjory Barrett of Dunlap, Ia., is the guest for a fortnight of Miss Ruth Reynolds at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Reynolds.

DIRECTOIRE COAT EFFECT

Its Modifications May Be Employed Admirably in Bridesmaid's Costumes.

Along directoire lines is the short waisted robe of net and lace with the long-tailed

EMBROIDERED CRAPE AND NET.

Directoire coat of embroidered crape—a costume, by the way, which with slight modifications would make a tremendously effective bridesmaid's costume. Tunic skirt draperies of all sorts are in vogue for the long skirt, the lines indicated in use of the crape being especially favored, because simple of construction. The short-waisted bodice of this model is extremely pretty and chic without being complicated and might be combined with a straight plain skirt trimmed only by several folds of satin.

REDUCING THE DOUBLE CHIN

What Remedy to Apply and the Proper Way of Applying It. One can reduce the flesh under the chin and if plenty of skin tonic is used one can feel sure that the flesh will not be left in a loose, flabby condition. The flesh can be reduced very notably, but this must not be done if one wishes to avoid a much worse condition of a "striny" neck. Take time and do the work properly and you will feel that you have accomplished a very good work. The treatment is as follows: Bathe in real warm water, holding it to the flesh with a cloth, or, better still, letting it run through a spray upon the flesh for several minutes, after touching the fingers to cold cream roll a little of the flesh at a time between them for fifteen minutes, apply the cold water spray for a few minutes and then put on skin tonic with a sponge, squeezing it on until the flesh is very wet, then hold the head up and spit with the fingers until dry. Cold water and skin tonic should be applied in this manner three times daily and the hot water and rolling process given once a day.

MRS. PALMER TO THE FORE

She is Complimentary Figure in London's Fashionable Set This Season.

Mrs. Potter Palmer's state of mind can be more easily imagined than described when she learned almost at the last moment that her grand dinner party for eighty in honor of Miss Red's engagement and the concert by the greatest opera stars which was to have followed it on last Wednesday night, for which all arrangements had been completed on the costliest scale, must be canceled. The duke and duchess of Connaught had informed Ambassador Reid that Wednesday was the only evening they had open for the ball proffered them at Dorchester House. The two functions would have clashed hopelessly, and probably to the destruction of Mrs. Potter Palmer's entertainment. So she accepted the inevitable, recalled her invitations by telegraph, and had a smaller dinner of twenty-eight people, who went to the Dorchester House party in full force.

But even this comparatively small affair was done in dazzling fashion. The tables, graced with gold plate, the dessert knives were of solid gold, it is said. The rooms were exquisitely decorated with the choicest flowers, while the table cloth was inserted with lengthwise bands of rare Flanders point lace of date of 1864.

Mrs. Potter Palmer presented the new tight-fitting costume in its highest perfection. She wore a broad diamond tiara, and a glittering jeweled snake encircled her neck.

Mrs. Potter Palmer has taken Kingswood House for the Ascot races, at a rental of $1,000. Her party there is still incomplete, but will include Mr. and Mrs. Hilda Wilkins, Mr. Paine May, Dowager Lady Gerard, Miss Mildred Carter, Lord Boyston, and Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster Lowther. All have tickets to the royal enclosure at the Ascot course, and Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Hilda Wilkins have been invited to luncheon on the day of the king's party at Ascot.

AMERICANS REVIVE INDUSTRY

Women Marring European Noblemen Have Done Much to Restore Lost Arts.

Several American women who have married British and foreign noblemen will be gratefully remembered by future generations by reason of their enthusiastic and successful efforts to revive decaying industries.

The duchess of Roxburgh is a keen supporter of the Scottish industries, and many Scotch families who had almost forgotten the art of making plaids are now busily employed.

Lady Suffolk is gradually converting Malmesbury into the lace making town which it was a century ago, and she pushes the sales with all the art of a drummer, and Lady Bateman is reviving several native industries in southern Italy. Her sister, Miss Dunham, is already in town booming the wares, which have been produced by feminine experts to be beautiful.

ful. The marchesa, who has sold many fine pieces to the duchess of Portland and to Mrs. Pierpont Morgan, intends to invite all the smart women in London to a sale of southern Italian lace and linens at the Ritz hotel. The lace are worked from designs sketched by the marchesa from museums in Naples, Rome and Florence.

Close to the Limit.

"Talking about men men," said the man in the machine, "old Hervey can give pointers to all of 'em. When he found out that his children were taking jumps of sugar out of the box in the pantry, he feeling them to the next door neighbor's party how do you suppose he stopped it?"

"Whipped the children," answered the man with his feet on the table.

"Worse than that," "Roasted the lump of sugar in heronberry," suggested the man with the bulbous nose.

"Worse than that," "Sprinkled red pepper on them," ventured the man with the fringed trousers.

"Worse than that," "None of your good guess it in a year. He went to a stout-curtain's shop and had two or three dozen chunks of marble made into cubes. He took the sugar lumps out of the box in the pantry, put these marble cubes in their place, and—"

"O, come off!" "Try that on some other crowd," "Gentlemen, it's a fact, and I can back anybody that doubts it!"

After which the session broke up in a row.—Chicago Tribune.

Mount Shasta Has a Rival.

That geodesic surveyors in the employment of the Department of the Interior have explored all Nevada and yet missed discovering Mount Cedar, in White Pine county, was the assertion made by State Engineer Nicholas when he returned from the eastern part of Nevada. Nicholas says investigation by him has proved that Mount Cedar, unmarked on any map ever made of Nevada, is higher than Shasta in California, and that prospectors have dropped rocks from the top which have fallen over a mile before hitting the side.

Mount Cedar is fifty-six miles from Ely and was the center of a snowstorm which raged Monday, when twelve inches fell. In Mount Cedar's crater nestles a lake, which, according to Nicholas, is a half mile in width. The state engineer and assistants will thoroughly explore the new find within a few weeks and the value of recently discovered water rights will be determined.—San Francisco Chronicle.
