McAlester, Oklahoma These new officers for the Missouri Valy Veterinary association were elected atopening session of the fourteenth annual meeting, which opened in the city half Tuesday morning for a two days' session. The association embraces in its member hip the veterinary surgeons of Nebraska Kansas, Iowa, Missouri and Oklahoma and over one hundred answered roll call when he meeting opened at 10 o'clock.

More careful examination of applicants and the greatest precaution in admitting nembers were advocated by President Dr. H. Jensen of Weeping Water, who suggested in a short address that the associaion wanted among its members only the est and that the constitution should define the powers of the hoard of censors and give them power to exclude undestrable pplicants.

Some Disgraces to Profession. 'I am sorry to say that there are some who claim to be veterinary surgeons who are a disgrace to the profession and whom we would not care to have in any of our associations. Some, of them have managed to creep under the canvas and get into state associations, but we don't want them in this association and we don't want to give them standing by official recogniion. There are some practicing in Nebrasks whom we could not greet on the street and retain our self-respect."

The suggestion was quickly taken up by he veterinary surgeons and a committee will present a resolution Wednesday which probably will be a drastic measure to preent unreliable surgeons from gaining addission to the organization and eventually aise the standard of the association.

During the morning session Dr. S. H. lingery of Creston, Ia., gave a report of steresting cases which had come under is personal observation and been reported him by other members of the associaon. Dr. C. V. Liggett of Peculiar, Mo., had not arrived in the city to speak on 'Mushroom Poisoning in Cattle" and his address was postponed.
