The Omaha Bureau of Press Clippings, established many years, has grown to be the largest and most complete in the west. Thousands of papers read for items. Good service guaranteed. Note address, 230-232 234 Bee Bdy.

Divorce for Desertion—Mrs. Mahala M. Carpenter has begun suit in district court for a divorce from George W. Carpenter to whom she was married in January, 1879. She says he deserted her in 1886 and has not lived with her since. She asks for her maiden name, Clark.

Street Railway Wins Out—Johann Kueck failed to secure a verdict against the street railway company in his suit for damages by a collision with a car July 4. He asserted the car ran into his carriage and threw him out. He sued for $5,000. The jury returned a verdict for the company.

"Billy" Kierstead Proud of Badges—W. L. Kierstead is the proud possessor of the reception committee badge he wore in Omaha, October 12, 1887, on the occasion of the visit of President and Mrs. Grover Cleveland to this city. He has kept as souvenirs all the different badges he has worn from time to time and prizes this special badge very highly.

Burdick Family Gives Up Home—Rev. Newman Hall Burdick, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, has shipped his household goods to Helena, Mont., where he goes July 6 to become pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and he and family have taken rooms pending their departure from the city, at the home of Miss Kitter C. Avery, 2336 Decatur street.

Man and Wife Up for Fighting—For the second time within the last few months George Lundell and wife appeared before Police Judge Crawford Friday on the charge of fighting and disturbing the peace. On the former occasion Mrs. Lundell was given a thirty-day sentence and her husband discharged, and to even matters up to a certain degree she was discharged this morning and Lundell will serve ten days.

River at High Tide Still—The Missouri river still holds its own at the stage of 19.1 feet at Omaha Friday morning. A fall of half a foot was reported at Sioux City, with a rise of one-third of a foot at Blair bridge. A falling river is reported at St. Joseph and Plattsburgh. River authorities predict a fall at Omaha during Friday afternoon and night and Saturday. It is not thought probable that the slight rise at Blair bridge of Friday morning will be perceptible at Omaha.

Allows Liquor Sold Under His Name—Wade Woodland, formerly proprietor of a pool hall at Maryville, Mo., was arrested in Omaha Friday and will have to go back to his old home to answer indictments charging him with violating the local option law. According to a statement made by Woodland he sold his pool hall and allowed the purchaser to continue selling liquor under his name. Eleven indictments are said to have been returned against him. He consented to return without a regulation.

John McDonald in Critical State—The condition of ex-Sheriff John W. McDonald, who was operated on Thursday at Wis. Memorial hospital, was worse Friday morning and at noon it was stated his chances for recovery were small. During the forenoon he had a severe hemorrhage, which was very weakening. It was said a recurrence of the trouble might prove fatal. He was operated on for gall stones and appendicitis. An old wound he received several years ago while on the police force is also giving him considerable trouble.

Park Board Case Argued—Assistant City Attorney Rine and Attorney F. A. Brogan returned Thursday evening from Lincoln, where during the day they argued the Park board case before the supreme court. Mr. Rine appeared for the mayor and the city and contended that the mayor should have the power to appoint the commissioners, while Mr. Brogan presented the district judges' side of the case and maintained that they should appoint the members of the board. The supreme court took the case under advisement and it may be some time before a decision is rendered.

SULLIVAN AUTO BREAKS DOWN

Party of Democrats Traveling to Convention Stalled at Glidden, Iowa.

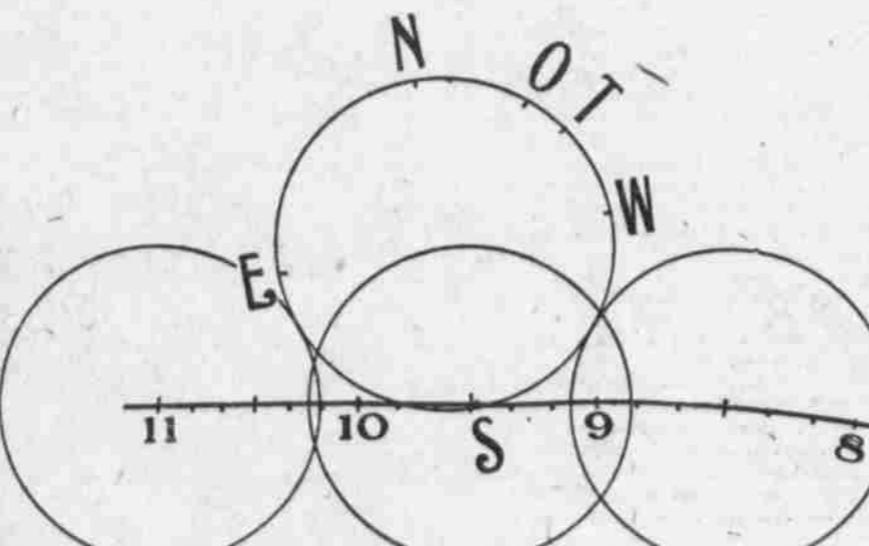

The Roger Sullivan automobile party from Chicago is expected to arrive in Omaha this morning. The automobile train, carrying twenty Illinois delegates to the Denver convention, was expected to reach Omaha Friday afternoon, but one of the machines broke down at Glidden Ia., about 1 p.m. and that has delayed the party. When the tourists reach Missouri Valley a reception committee composed of all Jims, no Jacks allowed, will start out to meet them, ten automobiles having been engaged to carry the local members of the faithful across the river. The members of the Sullivan party will spend today in Omaha and will go to Lincoln Sunday and spend the day at Fairview Monday they will proceed on their journey to Denver.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 28.—The party of democratic leaders of Illinois bound for the Denver convention in an automobile train were held up and banqueted at a picnic spread at the farm of Mrs. James Dailey, aunt of Roger C. Sullivan, near Colo. Ia.

Mrs. Dailey, 80 years old and a jolly Irish woman, suddenly appeared in front of the leading automobile, waving a huge American flag. She made herself known to Mr. Sullivan and bundled the entire party upon the lawn and fed them on Iowa pies, cakes and lemonade for thirty minutes. The affair was an entire surprise and the happiest and jolliest incident of the trip.

Eclipse of Sun on Sunday Morning

On Sunday morning the people of Omaha will have a chance to observe a partial eclipse of the sun. It will begin early enough to get folks up in time for breakfast and the first services at church. Rev. William J. Riggs, S. J., professor of astronomy at Creighton university, writes thus concerning the eclipse:

The eclipse of the sun has long ago been scheduled to begin at Omaha on Sunday morning, June 28, at 8:28 o'clock. At the northern border of Nebraska the time will be 8:30, and at the southern about 8:22. For Iowa the time will vary from 8:34 to 8:35.

The present eclipse is visible all over the United States. Its magnitude varies considerably. In the state of Washington it is only about 10 per cent, that is, one-tenth of the sun's diameter is obscured, whereas in Florida it is 97 per cent. It would be total in Florida if the moon happened to be nearer the earth at the time than it actually is. As the facts want it, the moon and sun are at such distances from the earth, that the moon appears to be a little smaller than the sun, so that when centrally placed before it it is not able to obscure the whole sun, but leaves a narrow ring of light visible all around it. For this reason the eclipse is called an annular or ring eclipse. This ring eclipse is visible in the United States only along a belt about eighty-five miles wide in Florida. It is well worth a journey of many miles to see. Scientifically, however, an annular eclipse is not of much value, since it requires a truly total eclipse to show the sun's magnificent corona, such as was visible in the United States for the last time on May 28, 1908, and will not be visible again within our borders until June 8, 1918, ten years from now.

In Omaha the magnitude of the eclipse will be 50 per cent, and the sun will have the appearance as indicated in the figure. The upper circle represents the sun with its cardinal points, north, south, east, west.

The middle of the three lower circles with its center a trifle to the left of the point, is the moon at 8:31, when it is eclipsing, 50 per cent of the sun's diameter.

The eclipse begins at 8:28 a.m., as has been said before. At the Creighton university observatory the computed moment is 8 o'clock, 36 minutes, 12 seconds. At this instant the moon occupies the position shown by the right of the three lower circles on the diagram. The paper must then be held in such a way that the point, "T" on the sun is on top. The point of first contact where the moon first indents the sun is 75 degrees from the point, "T" to the right. The position of this point is of the greatest importance when the beginning of the eclipse is to be observed with great accuracy.

The moon pursues the path marked 8, 9, 10, 11, in the diagram, these numbers denoting the position of its center at 8, 9, 10, 11 o'clock and at every ten minutes between them. In order to know how the sun will appear at any moment, we need but draw a circle of the size of the moon, center it on its path at any moment, and see how it covers the sun. We must then hold the diagram with the point "T" on top at the beginning of the eclipse, and the point "O" on top at its end, and some intermediate point on top during the course of the eclipse.

The eclipse ends at the observatory at 9 o'clock, 19 minutes, 2 seconds. For the state, the time of ending will be 10:42 at its western border to about 10:59 or 11:03 at its eastern, and for Iowa, between 11:00 and 11:14.

The magnitude of the eclipse is 35 per cent at the northwest corner of Nebraska, and of per cent at its southeast corner. For Iowa, it is between 40 and 46 per cent.

An excellent way to observe the eclipse will be to punch a hole through a large piece of cardboard and catch the resulting image of the sun on a piece of white paper.

If the distance between the hole and the image is well proportioned to the size of the hole, the sun's image will be distinct enough to show the sun spots if any exist at the time.

all Display Ads for Month.

For four weeks previous to the opening of the Corn show in Omaha the Milwaukee & St. Paul, Illinois Central, Northwestern, Burlington, Rock Island and Union Pacific roads will devote most of their display advertising space in the country weekly and daily papers to advertisements for the National Corn exposition.

Besides these definite arrangements for advertising the exposition, the tariffs and notices of the show will go through all the organization of the railroad companies of the east and west.

Everett Buckingham of the committee on transportation, and C. C. Rosewater, chairman of the executive committee of the National Corn exposition, have returned from Chicago, where they talked with many railroad officials.

President J. T. Harahan of the Illinois Central told General Passenger Agent Hatch of his road that the Illinois Central exposition a real Illinois Central proposition for the summer and that too much time could not be devoted to it.

P. S. Eustis, passenger traffic manager of the Burlington, had an idea when he was approached on the subject.

"Why, that show means that if the yield of corn in Nebraska is increased a few bushels to the acre it will add $35,000 to the wealth of Nebraska each year. The man who does not get a part of the $35,000 each fall will be the one who does not go to the corn show and learn how he can increase the yield of his farms. Of course, the Burlington will want a modest slice of the $35,000 and we will do everything we can for the show at Omaha."

Campaign of Publicity.

Equally as encouraging was the interview with Vice President Hiddle of the Rock Island lines. He instructed the advertising department to begin at once the campaign of publicity for the corn show. Mr. Hal Ray, advertising manager, will be in Omaha next week to get in close touch with the exposition.

F. A. Miller, general passenger agent of the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, and W. B. Knakern, passenger traffic manager of the Chicago & Northwestern, both added their promises to do the definite advertising which they said they would do when the movement for the show at Omaha was first started.

Beside the lines which run into Omaha the officers of the corn exposition saw officials of the Chicago & Alton and of the Santa Fe, both of which lines will do some special advertising for the Omaha show.

"Now, the railroads are interested in this movement, not because the passenger traffic is going to be anything like it was to the Trans-Mississippi and International exposition, but because they are interested in developing the country and increasing the prosperity of the farmers," said Mr. Rosewater. "More corn means more traffic, of course, and the railroads want every farmer to have more surplus grain and more cattle. The roads have kept the word in every publication and have shown their friendly attitude toward Omaha and the west by doing what they have started for the National Corn exposition.
