

Pretty Gowns of Lingerie

NEW YORK, June 26.—Garden party frocks and summer finery of all kinds are coming into their own nowadays, and lovely gowns of lingerie and other sheer summer materials are being packed into the trunks of the women turning their faces toward summer resorts.

Even here in the city one sees marvelous summer confections at the various smart restaurants, for not every one who can afford good clothes abandons New York in June and indeed a throng of visitors comes to town at this time of year, bringing with them summer outfits more or less elaborate.

A GOWN OF EMBROIDERED PIQUE AND ANOTHER OF SHEER LINEN AND LACE.

hids fair to draw the summer crowd as it has drawn the winter crowd a group of South American folk were dining the other evening, dining uncommonly well. It is remembered in passing, the men were elderly, well-dressed, looking two elderly women were handsome, well-dressed, bewitched; but it was at the group of girls that the diners stared in frank admiration.

transverse tucks set into the front of the frock with lines of narrow valenciennes insertion is often effective, and a tremendous amount of tucking in all depths is used. We have seen French frocks of white batiste with no trimming other than these multitudinous tucks and a finish of lace at throat and on the sleeves.

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or do you want to know something of your composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. So he publishes broadcast and on each bottle-wraps, what his medicines are made of and verifies the same. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

Activities and Views of Women in Various Walks of Life

Suffrage in Europe. DA HURSTED HARPER of New York, a leader of the suffrage movement in the United States, writing to the New York Sun from Amsterdam, whither she went to arrange for and participate in the International woman suffrage alliance convention which meets in the Hague, Dutch city, this summer, gives some interesting facts regarding the progress of the movement for political equality of the sexes abroad. She writes in part: It seems now as if an American woman will have to continue to be president of the alliance. This is not because the women of other countries have not the necessary qualifications, but because of the national jealousies. Dutch women, for example, would never serve under an English president; neither Norway nor Sweden would accept one from the other; Germany and France, of course, are hopelessly hostile.

parliamentary franchise and made them eligible to Parliament. Swedish women already have the municipal suffrage and the Parliament made them eligible for election to the offices for which they could vote. In Great Britain, where they have exercised the municipal suffrage for forty years, Parliament made them eligible as mayors and town and county councillors, and seven famous Dutch city this summer, gives an eighth afterward appointed to fill a vacancy. During the present year Denmark has conferred the municipal franchise on women on the same terms as exercised by men. The Parliament of its colony Iceland, where women have had the municipal vote since the beginning of the century, has made them eligible to the town councils, and four of the fifteen members of the council of Reykjavik, the capital, elected a few months ago, were women, one of them heading the list in number of votes.

Chicago "Maiden Aunts." Chicago is boasting of its "five maiden aunts" and declaring that they have done more toward securing better industrial conditions in that city and in the country at large than any other like number of citizens, men or women, in the world. The "five maiden aunts" are Jane Addams of Hull House, Julia Lathrop a charity expert, Mary McDowell of the University City Board of Education, Margaret Haley, who organized the Teachers' Federation, and Dr. Cornelia De Bey, a practicing physician, who secured the settlement of the great stockyard strike by arbitration. Dr. De Bey has also been prominent in investigating factory violations of the child labor law and is a member of the Chicago Board of Education.

Smart Empire Bolero Coat. Another type of empire bolero is illustrated in one of the cuts, and, though hardly so chic as the one just described, it is very effective and by no means difficult of construction. This plain little bolero, widely open in front, cut off straight just beneath the bust line and finished with two short square tails in the back, is to be made up in silk or gray color—emerald green, French rose, Copenhagen blue, cerise, chardon, etc.—toned down by black liberty revers, buttons, sleeve finish and optional lining, and is for wear over short waist lingerie frocks or any other summer frocks whose coloring will permit the association. Costs much like the other in price and is made, too, in the popular cretonne and in flowered silks of designs resembling those of the cretonne. The black details are retained upon these flowered coats and the little garments are charming over a clinging empire frock of white muslin, with a parasol and perhaps a hat trimming matching the coat.

But the women of continental Europe have special obstacles to overcome. Outside of Great Britain and the United States it is somewhat difficult for the women to work along lines of absolute justice and fairness with a complete recognition of equality of rights. This is just as true of the men, and it is simply because the two countries have had a longer experience in representative and constitutional government.

Work for College Girls. One of the graduates of Wellesley has been making a careful study of the opportunities for work offered girls with a college education, and concludes that the department stores offers some of the best. She interviewed twenty-three buyers, women who had for the most part worked their way up from cash girls, and none of them with a college education; in fact, few with even a grammar school education. Evidently they were women of unusual ability, but with a college education they would have been able to do more. The maximum paid is $50,000 and the minimum $15,000. Few other occupations would pay anything like as well.

Honors Won by Foreign Girls. It is safe to say that with young women from all the nations on earth competing for, and carrying off, college honors, they will be acknowledged to be rivals that have to be reckoned with. The Agnes H. Robinson Mezer prize in anatomy, given in competitive examination to a student of the second year at the Philadelphia Woman's Medical college, has just been awarded to Olivia Salamanna of Cavite, Philippine Islands. Another member of the same class is Miss Ethel Day, from Fortepore, a small town in the foothills of the Himalayas, near Lahore. Both these young women will practice medicine in their native countries.

Leaves from Fashion's Notebook. Detachable buttons made of white pique are in the style, to say the least. The when they are sent to the tub, are a convenience. Many of the new fashions have imitation wood sticks below Japanese paper. Others are fringed at the top with small bells.

Girl Education in Japan. It is a curious fact that conservative as the well-to-do Japanese people are in many of their views, they are willing to send their daughters to schools to be educated rather than leave them to the care of governesses. Even princesses and little ladies of the royal family mingle nowadays in schools with daughters of wealthy commoners. The systematic education of a Japanese girl begins with the kindergarten and after three years she is ready to enter the elementary school.

Woman Lawyer in Egypt. Even Egypt has had to come to it, and now there is at least one woman barrister in the land of the Pharaohs, Mrs. Naima Michel. She has passed all the examinations with honors and for months past made application to the Egyptian tribunal for leave to plead, and at last the mixed court of appeals has granted her permission. She is an Armenian by birth, daughter of a well-known barrister of Tiflis. She based her thesis, "Pro

Long bands of embroidered linen are used for studs down the front of muslin frocks and as shirt waists. The cuffs buttons come to match. Sleeve length well fitting gloves of chambray in deep tan are excellent for summer, as they will wash. They are better cut than were the short heavy ones of last season.

WOMAN'S NATURE. Is to love children, and no home can be happy without them, yet the ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass usually is so full of suffering and dread that she looks forward to the hour with apprehension. Mother's Friend, by its penetrating and soothing properties, allays nausea, nervousness, unpleasant feelings, and so prepares the system for the ordeal that she passes through the event with but little suffering, as numbers have testified and said, "it is worth its weight in gold."
