ROGER AUTOISTS DRIVE HARD

Sullivan Party Travels All Night to Make Omaha.

CONTAINS ONLY FOUR DELEGATES

Man Playing Title Role of Comedy in Omaha and Most of the Party Are "Rank" Outsiders.

Having heard harrowing tales of the Iowa and fearing it might rain again before they could complete the journey across that state, Roger Sullivan automobile train with Roger in Denver, and only four live delegates—made an all night run and pulled into Omaha at 4:30 Saturday morning. The five cars were sent to the Kimball garage and the twelve members of the party went to Hotel Rome and to bed, where they staid until nearly noon.

The party of touring democrats was expected to arrive Friday evening, but one of the automobiles broke down at Glidden, Ia., and seven hours' time was lost in getting the break repaired. When once again on the road the tourists made a vow and a bet not to stop again until Omaha was reached, and they made the run of 110 miles without stopping to oil their machines. As a result one of them was so badly burned that all of Saturday forenoon was spent in putting it in shape for the remainder of the journey.

Personnel of Party. E. C. Hamilton is the leader of the party and all look to him for orders. Other members of the party are: A. L. Ferry, treasurer of the Illinois theater, Chicago; Lou M. Housman, veteran sporting writer; F. L. Estey, representing the Chicago Inter Ocean and the New York Telegraph; Michael J. Agnew, son of the late Judge Agnew, of the Illinois superior court; George C. Smithson, who carried the army dispatch in the army automobile which recently made the record run from New York to Fort Leavenworth; Judge John Barriman of Springfield; J. F. Carroll of Chicago, superintendent of the Postal Telegraph company for twenty-two states; George Self of Streeter and Dr. Mathew Weydard, Bartley Burg and M. E. Finan of Chicago. Agnew, Barriman, Burg and Weydard are delegates to the convention.

F. L. Estey says that the only incident of the trip was the surprise party arranged by Mrs. James Daley, wife of Roger Sullivan, at her home at Colo. Ia.

"We were speeding along in good shape when upon turning a corner we were confronted by an old lady with snowy hair, who reminded me of Barbara Fritchie, waving a huge American flag, which must have been ten feet long. She yelled: "Stop, stop, by God, you stop!" "We naturally stopped and she told us she was Roger Sullivan's aunt and was 81 years old. She was disappointed because Sullivan was not in the party, but she made us get out of our machines and go up to the porch, where she prepared a bountiful luncheon composed mostly of home-made pies. It was a delightful incident and the boys all appreciated it. All along the route we have been treated simply fine, and at Cedar Rapids the streets were so crowded with people who wanted to see us that we could hardly get through."

Johnson for Second Place. Eugene Sullivan, brother of Roger, and J. J. McLaughlin started out with the party with the intention of going only as far as Garfield park, but they kept with them to Cedar Rapids.

Judge Barriman says that the Sullivan autoists are for Governor Johnson of Minnesota for vice president and that they will bend every energy to bring about his nomination. The judge says that Johnson is a much better man for the place than Lieutenant Governor Chanler of New York, Mack's candidate, or John W. Kern of Indiana, Tazewell's man, and that he believes the Minnesota will be nominated. Dr. Weydard, however, says that they would not allow Judge Barriman or any member of the party to talk politics, that they are making the trip for fun, and are not going to have their pleasure marred by anything.

On account of the Sullivan party getting into Omaha "at such an unearthy hour," as Joe Butler-Jin—expressed it, the "local" members of the faith did not cross the river to meet it. While the visitors were asleep Saturday morning, however, prominent members of the Dalmian Democracy made up a good-sized purse with which they bought numberless drinks for the Chicago tourists. George Rogers, Counselman Bridges, Harry Hayward, Thomas J. Flynn and a number of other democrats composed the entertainment committee.

The Roger Sullivan automobile train left at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, expecting to make the run to Lincoln before night. Mr. Bryan will entertain them at Fairview Sunday and they will proceed west on Monday, expecting to reach Denver Thursday.

NEW WATERPROOF COATS

Also, Something Concerning the Newer Things in Dust Coats.

Some of the waterproof fabrics which it is asserted are free from rubber are made up into good looking coats and come in excellent colorings. The imported model reproduced here was of checked waterproof material, in two shades of beige and a very little white, and the collar was of velvet in the popular chadron shade. Good green and blue effects are offered in these materials and in the waterproof silks as well.

Outside the strictly tailor made class of dust coats, yet simple enough to be practical, are tunic coats of more fanciful form, slightly full, made with big armholes and odd sleeves, trimmed with embroidery on collar and cuffs and with motifs of embroidery. There are delightful coats, too, whose trimming consists entirely of multitudinous little buttons and imitation button holes of silk, and indeed, buttons of one sort or another play a very considerable part in the trimming of most of the season's coats.

With their attendant simulated button-holes they may be set along the full length of straight long fronts, along open sides, up the outside seams of sleeves, along the openings in the back of the coat skirt, on the pockets. Big buttons often emphasize the shortened waist line in the backs of the directoire and empire coats and ornament the fronts of the cutaway coats. The button covered with cloth, silk, liberty or other material is, however, the fad of the hour, and comparatively few of the metal and jeweled buttons are used.

Young Hearts in Old Frames. A dashing young Lechwiner of 19 carried off a skittish bride of 39 in a motor car at Prague du Sac, Wis. She was his first love and for his sake she remained unmarried. Six sons of the adventurous bridegroom pursued him on horseback, but romance was in the auto and won the race. Who will dare to laugh at the old maid's motto, that while there is life there is hope, after the illustration of reward for a faithful bee?

MEXICAN TOWN IS LOOTED

Bandits Rob Bank and Postoffice at Vilsca.

ALL JAIL INMATES ARE RELEASED

Troops Rushed to Scene and One of the Fleeing Robbers is Captured—Others Escape Into Wilds of Durango.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 27.—Wild stories concerning a formidable and serious revolutionary outbreak in the northern part of Mexico were wholly discredited today by telegraphic reports received from Governor Cardenas, of the state of Coahuila. According to these telegraphic advices which were received by Vice President Corral today, one of the boldest bandit raids ever attempted in the history of Mexico was successfully carried out when the town Vilsca was assaulted and looted yesterday. The bandits, numbering fifty, all well armed and mounted, swooped down upon the town without warning. A feeble resistance was made by the police of the plaza, but after three of them were killed and three more wounded, the marauders practically had things their own way. They first proceeded to the jail, releasing all the inmates, some joining the robbers. The bandits next headed for the bank of Nueva Leon, a branch of the main institution of that name, which is located in Monterey. They soon overpowered the employees they and robbed the bank of all the money they could get. The sum is not stated in the official dispatches.

Postoffice Robbed. From there the robbers with a whoop went to the government stamp office, looting it and doing great damage to the postoffice. They then turned their attention to the express office, robbing it. By this time the whole of the town's population was terrified. The bandits cut the telegraph wires and tore up some railroad track. However, before communication was interrupted, word was sent to the state capital of the assault.

Governor Miguel Cardenas immediately reported the raid to the secretary of the interior here and dispatched local troops to the scene. After imprisoning the municipal officers and further terrifying the inhabitants of the town the bandits got word that troops were on the way to the scene. They then prepared to flee. In the morning they left, proceeding via Hacienda Herbas and the town of Matamoros de la Guza.

First Fight with Troops. At this place they encountered the first detachment of troops sent to capture them. A lively fight ensued, in which one trooper was killed and several were wounded. One bandit was captured, but the remainder escaped and are now in the wilds of the state of Durango, having crossed the border between Coahuila and that state shortly after the battle. The captured bandit is now in prison in the city of Torreon.

In giving access to the correspondence containing the above facts to the Associated Press and in commenting upon the happenings, Vice President Corral today said: "For over a score of years the republic of Mexico has been absolutely free from bandit raids or uprisings similar to the disgraceful affair which occurred at Vilsca yesterday. For that reason we will mete out strong punishment to these criminals in order that the world at large may know that the days of the bandit in this country have passed.

"From private information which I have received today I am satisfied that most of the men concerned in the raid have spent time in jail before. The men were trying to rescue former railroad employees who had been imprisoned, and for that reason they first attacked the jail."

PIONEERS HAVE JOLLY TIME

Men and Women of Early Nebraska Have Annual Picnic.

J. J. McCLAIN, EIGHTY, OLDEST

Hanscom Park in All Its Native Beauty, Illumined by the Sun's Bright Smile, Scene of Gay Festivities.

A glorious day and a big attendance signalled the fourth annual picnic of the Douglas County Association of Nebraska Pioneers at Hanscom park Saturday. The old timers began to assemble early during the forenoon and they came from all sections of the county, with visiting pioneers from Sarpy and Washington counties and a number from Council Bluffs to mingle with their old friends of half a century ago. A large banner stretched between two big trees and flanked with flags announced the gathering place of the pioneers on a shady hillside west of the lake. The women folks had brought with them an abundance of all the substantial that go to the makeup of an ideal picnic dinner, including fried chicken and accessories, such only as the fruitful farms and gardens of Nebraska can produce.

The morning was devoted to visiting and the pioneer days were reviewed, old friendships renewed and new ones made. Augustus Lockner, as chairman of the committee on arrangements; Martin Dunham, president of the association; A. N. Yost, M. J. Peenan, Joe Redman, T. F. Swift, David Anderson and a host of others of the old pioneers constituted themselves as a committee on good nature and saw that everybody was looked after and that no man or woman should be permitted to consider him or herself a stranger longer than a minute.

Oldest Man is J. J. McClain. The oldest pioneer on the grounds was J. J. McClain, who was 80 years of age May 14 last and came to Nebraska in 1857. Someone tried to make "Uncle" Joe Redman believe that he was 100, but Colonel Redman insists that he isn't 90. Mr. Redman in yielding the palm of age to Mr. McClain, remarked: "Put it in The Bee that Mr. McClain is a good old Methodist if a person was found hungry on the grounds he was arrested and sentenced to a diet of fried chicken, cherry pie, coffee and other good things, and Henry T. Clarke was detailed to see that the sentence was carried out, with a committee of the good pioneer women as assistants.

After dinner came some music by the band and singing by Jo Barton and a quartet of good singers, who sang every thing from "Old Dan Tucker," "Old Uncle Ned," "Old Felix at Home," "Oh Su-an-nah Don't You Cry for Me," to "The Miserer" and the "Merry Widow."

Then came the platform exercises. Then came the platform exercises with Chairman August Lockner as master of ceremonies, who delivered the address of welcome and incidentally alluded to the fact that General H. B. Carrington was to be a guest of the city Monday afternoon, and that many of the pioneers would be permitted the opportunity to see the old Indian fighter.

A sad feature of the afternoon was the reading of the roll of the pioneers who had passed away since the organization of the present association four years ago. M. J. Peenan read the list which is as follows, with the year of their death:

Mrs. St. A. D. Balcombe, 1908; Mrs. E. N. Barney, 1907; Mrs. E. A. Bird, 1907; George C. Bassett, 1908; Edward B. Callahan, 1907; Rev. B. F. Dittenbacher, 1907; John D. Furay, 1907; James S. Gibson, 1908; Isaac S. Hascall, 1908; Henry A. Koster, 1907; Dr. Harvey Link, 1908; Jane McClure, 1908; Hugh J. McKenna, 1907; Nicholas Mergen, 1908; Mrs. George M. O'Brien, 1908; William A. Paxton, 1907; A. Roberts, 1907; Edward Rosewater, 1906; David L. Simpson, 1907; Simon Trostler, 1907; William R. Turner, 1908; James G. Megath, 1906; making a total of twenty-two.

Orator Charles L. Saunders. Miss Grace Conklin gave a recitation, after which the principal address of the day was delivered by State Senator Charles L. Saunders.

Rev. P. A. McGovern followed with a short address, after which came more music, and then the pioneers were given the floor for five-minute talks. Some good pioneer stories were told by the old veterans, a number of women being included among the talkers. Music was sandwiched in between the talks and afterward such of the pioneers as fancied enjoying a dance did so, with Joe Redman as floor manager and specialist in high and lofty kicking.

The present membership of the association is about 80, and over half of that number were present at the picnic, which is pronounced by all the pioneers as the best ever held under the auspices of the association.

YOUTH MAY YET BE FREE

Young Man Convicted of Felony Likely to Profit by Post-Trial Evidence.

Evidence discovered after the trial of the case may give Peter Wladarski, a young Pole, his freedom after he had been convicted of a felony. The boy was convicted of cutting David Oliver, a workman at the Smelter, with intent to wound. T. A. Hollister, the boy's attorney, produced Simon Robinson, night watchman at the smelter, who went on the stand Saturday morning and testified he had seen Oliver and three other workmen chasing Wladarski's younger brother, about five minutes before the cutting and that he had pacified them. It was the same crowd of men that held the trouble with the defendant a few minutes later. Judge Sears held this might throw some light on Wladarski's plea of self-defense and granted him a new trial. Wladarski is unable to talk English.

Don't Purge the Bowels—Do as Nature Does

Nature gets her laxatives from food. If you ate plenty of fruit, coarse food and green vegetables, you would get laxative enough. But you eat fine food, and too much of it. And you exercise too little. So it is vital that you help the bowels in another way.

But don't use salts or pill cathartics. Never employ harsh physic. Nature does all things gently. Give her gentle help. Cascarets are vegetable. They have just the same effect as a laxative food. They never gripe, so you know they don't irritate. They act in Nature's way. Yet they are just as effective as violence.

While harsh physic ruins the stomach, Cascarets aid digestion. While harsh physic callouses the bowels, Cascarets restore the natural functions. Every effect is curative. Those who are well informed about laxatives employ only Cascarets.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure to get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The box is marked like this:

The vest-pocket box is 10 cents. The regular box is 25 cents. 12,000,000 boxes sold annually.
