CROWD TO BOOST FOR JIM

Democrats Offered Free Passage to Denver for "Governor" Boom.

JIMS GET NEXT TO THE BARREL

Such is the story peddled by Jacks, who once more have their feelings hurt by the Enemy.
Wanted—Someone to keep the democratic flag of true flying.
Again there is a sore spot on the Jacks, placed there by the Jims. Once more the Jacks accuse the Jims, their fellow democrats, of unfairness. For the second time the Jacks charge the Jims with dipping into the common funds of the whole party to further their own individual aims.
The report comes from Denver that Mayor "Jim" is seeking to make arrangements whereby the national committee or some other power will pay the cost of running the Jim special train to the convention city next Monday. The report is that the mayor puts it up to his fellow "big" democrats gathered in Denver that the Jims are the favored ones in the eyes of Bryan and that if the Jims go to the convention with a train loaded down to the guards with loyal boosters it will be exceedingly gratifying to the stated standard bearer. Local Jacks say the real reason why Jim wants a big train to Denver is not so much to boost for Bryan as it is to boost for

Jim for governor. And this is where the shoe pinches, for the Jacks naturally are not favorable to the candidacy of the mayor for gubernatorial honors.

Several Offered Expenses.
In support of their charge the Jacks assert that several Omaha democrats have been offered expense money if they will go to Denver and go on the Jim train. One of these is J. J. Mahoney, clerk of the police court.
"Yes, I was told that if I would go on the Dahman special it would not cost me anything," says Mr. Mahoney. "They told me that they needed someone to look after things on the train, you know, and would take me along free if I would go. I understand that George Holmes was also offered free transportation to Denver on the special, the same reason being given him."
E. E. Howell, member of the Jim arrangement committee, has been given the credit of engineering the free transportation, but he says he knows nothing about it and doubts the assertion that expense money is being offered.
"I wish it were so, though," says Mr. Howell, "but I know the local club has no money for anything of the kind. It would be fine if the expenses could be paid as that would mean a whooper of a train, but we will have a good sized train nevertheless, even if every man on it has to buy his own ticket."

Opposed to Hop Duty.
LONDON, July 2.—It was said in the lobbies of the House of Commons that the committee appointed to consider possible means of rehabilitation of the British hop industry is opposed, by an overwhelming

PARK BOARD ON WATER BILLS

Will Refer Them to Water Board, Says Cornish, Who Thinks Council Misunderstood.

Believing that the city council and the city attorney misunderstood the motive of the Park board in referring the bills of the Omaha Water company to them the park commissioners will send the bills to the Omaha Water board for perusal before paying them as instructed by the council on the advice of the city attorney.
"From the nature of the action of the council I believe it misunderstood the motive of referring the bills to it for consideration," says E. J. Cornish of the Park board. "We did not ask the council if the Park board should pay the bills out of its funds, but what we wanted to know was whether we should pay them at all or not. Of course, if the bills are to be paid they will be paid by the Park board and out of the park funds. The council, however, notified us to pay the bills out of our funds and while the city attorney says that the bills, in his opinion, are legitimate, the fact of the litigation at present pending is left sight of."
"We do not wish to get into any trouble or lawsuit. We have always been on friendly terms with the Omaha Water company and hope to continue so. But we referred these bills to the council and purpose referring them now to the Water board for the reason that we do not wish to jeopardize the city in any way in any action which we might take."
The water company presented bills to the Park commissioners a month ago for water furnished since January 1, 1906, to River-view and Kountze parks, Jefferson square and the parking on Capitol avenue. The bills aggregate $16,000. Along with the bills the notice from the water company that if they were not paid by July 1 water would be turned off the parks on that date. Mr. Cornish says that the water has not been turned off and inasmuch as the board has evinced no determination to refuse payment and is merely looking up the matter pending a decision regarding the disposal of the accounts he does not believe the company will turn off the water until a decision has been reached.

MEN RUSH TO SEE THAT GOWN

Yes They Do! What About the Woman Wearing It!

ONE PEEP THROUGH IRON BARS

Morbid Crowds at Brandeis Store Park Elevators to View Shapely Leg of Woman Clad in Slench Dress.
Only the quick wit and determined efforts of an elevator boy saved the young woman wearing the diaphanous or mesh gown at the store of J. L. Brandeis & Sons from being trampled by a crowd of men who went to the store Wednesday to see the "new clothes" and all they could of the graceful wearer.
The evening gown was worn on the second floor in the millinery and suit department. Two elevators led to this floor and they have crush, princely-looking iron doors with strong bars. It was the bars on the doors and the first elevator conductor who refused to open the doors, which saved the woman from the mob.
"Going up," shouted the boy when he opened the door on the basement floor. The elevator was promptly filled. When the first floor was reached the crowd almost swamped the elevator and there was no danger of it exceeding the speed ordinances as it lifted several dozen men to the second floor where the beautiful blonde woman was wearing the gown.
Only a Peep Allowed.
But only a peep through the bars was allowed the curious men. The elevator boy was firm. He would not open the gate. The woman, like a frightened bird in a "gilded cage," walked slowly back and forth before the elevator. Only an instant was allowed for each elevator or sight-seeing car, which like one of the great asphalt ships passed on almpet before the passengers could see the sights.
One elevator after another went up loaded with men, but every time they came down with a look of disappointment on their faces and one of the men attempted to ascend the stairway to the second floor, but had difficulty in making their way through the crowd of men and women on the stairs.

"She's a queen, anyway," said one of the passengers, who saw the woman through the bars. "It's all right, the silks and satins, the lavender hosiery, the brooks and stuff are well worth the trip. She's a fine lookin' lassock, with much fancy clothes and fit for any dunnhewssel to look upon."
Others made no remark at all, but left the store silently, as though they had spent a whole evening in the bald-headed row watching Richard Carle and listening to such queer questions as "If a litchy is a half sister to schoonerovitch, what relation is a catboat to a pousee cafe?"
"It ain't a woman at all. It's a wooden dummy," said a newboy wedged in between two fat gentlemen who carried walking sticks. Both called his bet at once and declared it was a real woman, as no wooden figure could have such "lines."
"Neither two street car transfers it's wooden," piped the boy, "pulling a long splinter from his house. Here's a splinter from one of them posts that's got the lavender stockin's on."
Disgusted and terrified the heavyweights left the store and were seen to cut diagonally across the street and lose themselves in the crowd.
But it was a real woman, for she walked before the bars for many cages of men and plans to do so again Friday evening if the company will strengthen the bars on the doors of the elevator cage.

COIN POURS INTO OMAHA
Money Order Cash is Diverted to Local Postoffice in Large Volume by New Deceit.
Streams of money are now flowing into the Omaha postoffice under a new rule of the postmaster general, which provides that the excess money order cash from all postoffices in Nebraska shall be sent from Omaha. Heretofore only the fourth class postoffices have reported to this office. Hereafter the rural carriers will be paid with drafts on the assistant treasurer at Chicago instead of by the checks of the postmaster at Omaha. The first shipment from the state of funds was received Thursday morning and the remittances were large.
