Fourth at 'Frinco. SAN FRANCISCO, July 2-Joe Gans and Battling Nelson, who will meet on the afternoon of July 4 in a forty-five-round boxing contest for the lightweight cham-pionship, have practically finished their training work. The weight agreement calls for 133 pounds at the ringside, stripped and only work of the the lightest kind will be necessary for them to reach that figure by Saturday. Gans' methods of training for the coming fight have differed from his usual routine preparatory work for the many previous contests in which he has figured. He has confined himself almost entirely to road work and gymnasium ex-ercises of the simplest nature, entirely climinating boxing. Welsh and Packy McFarland, who meet Saturday afternoon, are in the last stages of their training and so far as condition goes there is but little choice between them. For some time doubt was expressed as to McFarland's ability to make the 133 pounds required. Yesterday, however, he weighed but a half pound over 133. Welsh's weight is a fraction over 131 pounds. Betting favors McFarland at about 19 to 5. about 10 to 6.
