Railway Brotherhood Objects to Provisions Which Debar Courts from Some Rights in Labor Disputes.

DENVER, Colo., July 9 .- Pollowing is the full and correct text of the injunction plank as adopted by the full subcommittee of the committee on resolutions, and as it is expected to be incorporated in the platform:

"The courts of justice are the bulwark of our Hberties, and it is our purpose to maintain their dignity. Our party has given to the bench a long line of distinguished judges, we have added to the respect and confidence in which this department must be jealously maintained. We resent the attempt of the republican party to raise of our citizens to assume that they lack employers' liability act.

"It is the function of the courts to interguard them against abuse.

Judicial Practices.

"Questions of judicial practice have arisen especially in connection with industrial disputes. We deem the parties to all judicial proceedings should be treated with rigid impartiality, and that injunctions should not be issued in any cases in which injunctions would not issue if no industrial dispute were involved.

"The expanding organization of industry abridgement of the right of wage earners and producers to organize for the protection of wages and the improvement of labor conditions to the end that such labor organizations and their members should restraint of trade.

'We favor the eight-hour day on all government work. "We pledge the democratic party to the enactment of a law by congress, as far as the 'ederal jurisdiction extends, for a general employers' liability act covering injury to body or loss of life of employes. 'We pledge the democratic party to the enactment of a law creating a department of labor, represented separately in the president's cabinet, which department shall include the subject of mines and mining." At 12:45 p. m. the subcommittee complated its work and after referring the platform to a committee of five on revi-

A Message From The President

ACOD CHEER FROM THE WHITE HOUSE

The Brown Shoe Company's shipments for the monta of June were $852,503.09, and, according to published reports, we believe these are the greatest shipments of any shoe house for the same period in this country. During the past apring shipping season, from December 12, 1907, to July 1, 1908, we show a total loss in shipments of $296,076.20 over the same period of the preceding year, but as our shipments show a gain of over One Million dollars per year for the last five successive years, and, as our shipments for the first six months of 1907 were one million dollars (8,000,000) greater than our shipments were for the first six months of 1906, our business for the first half of the present year is very encouraging, especially in view of the fact that our sales

However for the past four weeks we have been on the gain side in sales except for one week, and we believe that our incoming business during July and August will show a good increase for these months, also that the same will be the case for the last four months of the year, if the crops of the country are a fair average, as now seems to be the indications, and that our Company's shipments for the year 1908 will show a nice gain ever 1907.

The plank is exactly what was asked for by President Samuel Compers of the American Pederation of Labor, and is understood to have been approved by him as drawn. Mr. Bryan was telegraphed to last night on behalf of the protesting railway men and told that the provision as drawn was impracticable and incapable of administration by any judge.

When the committee met at 10 o'clock the subcommittee was still unprepared to make full report. The labor and railroad planks were still incomplete, but it was ceive cor stated that they would be in shape by noon, possibly earlier. In the meantime the committee took up other questions and confidence was expressed that the committee would be prepared to report to the convention early in the afternoon

Work Negative in Character. The subcommittee proceeded with its labors in the presence of the full committee and when planks were presented by the small subcommittee, took them up for discussion regardless of the presence of the members of the full committee. The work of the early morning was largely of a Colonel Guffey and his followers left the hall and refused to participate in the caucus. James Kerr was elected national committeeman, 411/2 votes being cast for, and none against him. D. C. Dewitt, a delegate, declined to vote, stating that he doubted the regularity of the proceedings. The caucus was held on the floor of the convention by the anti-Guffey delegates without leaving their seats after the convention adjourned. The Guffey supporters departed quietly and the business of the meeting proceeded rapidly and without special incident.

The delegation also selected members of the various committees of the convention. All balloting was by roll call. The anti-Suffey delegates attempted to hold a meeting during the morning, following the seating of the eight contesting delegates from Philadelphia by the convention last night. The seating of the delegates and the ousting of the Guffey men changed the complexion of the delegation and took the control from the hands of Colonel Guffey. A meeting was called for 9 o'clock but was filled with wreckage from the flood and postponed until 10 o'clock and finally until after the first session of the convention because the Guffey supporters in the delegation found it inconvenient to attend. No announcement has been made by Colonel Guffey or his followers as to whether they intend to contest the validity of today's action of the delegation. Some of those who voted in the meeting in the convention hall were alternates and substitutes for delegates not present.

CARRINGTON TAKES LONGER REST

After Interesting Visit to Scene of Massacre Peters and Gibson Return Through Flood District.

Samuel Gibson and S. S. Peters returned Wednesday night from Sheridan, Wyo., where for a week they were guests of Sheridan with Brigadier General and Mrs. Henry B. Carrington and five of their comrades of the Sioux Indian war of 1865-68 on the occasion of the celebration of the establishment of Fort Phil Kearny in the summer of 1886 and the culminating tragedy of the massacre of half of the garrison of that post in December, 1866, by the Stoux inder Chief Red Cloud. General and Mrs. Carrington did not return with the party, as the old general was too much fatigued to undertake the return journey so soon. He will remain at Sheridan another week to rest.

The return trip suggested a comparison of the Indian depredations forty-two years ago and the devastation of the elements in Nebraska with the last week.

Gibson and Peters left Speridan Tuesday afternoon. The return trip was without in cident until reaching Seward, where the first evidences of the deluge at Lincoln became manifest. The roadbed was extremely soft and the trains had to move with the greatest caution. Nearly three hours were onsumed in reaching Lincoln from Seward

First Train to Attempt It. The train was the first that had undertaken to come through the Salt creek botoms since Sunday to Lincoln, and here a remarkable scene presented itself. The whole valley west of Lincoln is still under water, the only visible portions of dry land being the wrecked railroad beds, many of which are washed away. Two or three thousand men are at work in the yards rebuilding the tracks. The whole bottom is the water still remains to within a few feet of the Burlington passenger station. The State fair grounds also are partly submerged and the water extends up to the machine shops at Havelock and the whole valley from Lincoln to Ashland is still largely under water and looks much as it the Platte river had changed its course from its old bed into Salt creek valley. The train left Lincoln about 6:30 Wednesday evening and did not reach Omaha until 11:30. The roadbed is too soft to permit a crossing of the Platte near Ashiand and the trains now cross the Platte at Oreopolis, coming around by way of Bellevue. The water has fallen about four feet since Monday and continues falling. All of the lowland crops in Salt creek valley have been practically destroyed and many smaller buildings have been washed away and are piled out in the wrecked cornfields

Great Time at Sheridan. Gibson and Peters are enthusiastic in their appreciation of the cordiality of the reception given General and Mrs. Carrington and party at Sheridan. It was a week of receptions and distinguished attentions, including automobile rides, luncheons, dinners and addresses.

The party was taken to the Fort Phil Kearny battle ground, twenty-three miles distant, through irrigated alfalfa fields (formerly Peno) creeks and the historic Indians, with whom this party was a two years.

This region is to have a special division in the Nebraska exhibit at the National Corn Exhibition to be held in Omaha, December 9 to 19, according to the dean of the Nebraska college and Superintendent C. W. Pugsley of the Nebraska exhibit, who was also in Omaha Thursday. Mr. Pugsley wants to increase the space allowed Nebraska for the exhibit at the big national agricultural show as the space reserved, when early arrangements were made has been found inadquate to meet the demands. It is likely that Nebraska will need at least 3,600 square feet and would like to get 4,000 square feet of space in the big corn palace. The state department of North Carolina filed application Thursday for space at the erry show and promises to send a big exhibit.
