With breathless interest as state after state swelled the Bryan strength. When New York was reached in the call of states, the announcement of Chief Murphy, "seventy-eight for Bryan," brought out a wild outburst of enthusiastic applause, which for a time compelled the suspension of the roll call.

Judge Parker Silent.

A further delay was caused by a demand for a poll of the New York delegation. On this poll many of the New York delegates, including Judge Alton B. Parker, the presidential nominee four years ago, remaining silent, the result disclosing: For Bryan, 85%; Johnson, 46; Gray, 69%, but the entire seventy-eight votes of the delegation were cast for Bryan under the "unit rule."

Poll of New York State.

There were calls for silence all over the hall as Charles M. Murphy rose to his feet when the state of New York was called. "New York is voting under the unit rule and casts seventy-eight votes for Bryan," he said.

Judge O'Connor of Utica, N. Y., one of the state delegates, arose and shouted: "Mr. Chairman, I challenge the vote of New York and demand that the delegation be polled."

"Alton B. Parker," called the clerk in beginning the poll.

There was no response, and he called the name thrice without response.

"Charles P. Murphy" was the next name called.

"I vote for Bryan," responded the chief of Tammany Hall, and head of the delegation.

Lewis Nixon was next. "Bryan," he called.

There were a number of absentees in the delegation, but a continuous chorus of "Bryans" came in response to the calls of the clerk.

G. Hyde Clark broke the solid Bryan vote by declaring for Johnson and Judge O'Connor of Utica also voted for the Minnesota man. The result was strongly in favor of Bryan. The absentees were many, but the result was not announced in numbers. It was declared by the chairman, however, that the vote as announced by Mr. Murphy was correct and the vote would be counted as 78 for Bryan.

Pennsylvania was similarly called, after sharp disagreement within the delegation, and the vote of Pennsylvania as finally cast was divided.

Minnesota Capitulates.

Before the vote was announced Mr. Hammond, who had placed Mr. Johnson in nomination, moved to make unanimous the nomination of Mr. Bryan, saying Minnesota knew how to lose as well as fight well.

A great cheer broke from the throng.

Judge Gray, Murray Vandiver of Maryland and a delegate from Delaware seconded the motion of Mr. Hammond.

There came cries of "Georgia," "Get Georgia in." That state, after a short pause, declared that it also accorded this motion, which upon being put by the chairman was carried with a roar. H. H. Elders of Georgia alone voted in the negative.

"I now declare William B. Bryan to be the nominee of the democratic party for the president of the United States," said Chairman Clayton, and the delegates, giving one wild cheer, began to move toward the doors.

A motion to adjourn until 1 p. m. Friday was then carried with a whoop, and at 3:45 a. m. the convention adjourned. The big clock in the balcony, however, still marked the hour of Thursday midnight.

As the delegates and spectators left the hall the echoes of enthusiasm continued to reverberate throughout the building, while crowds outside took up the shout and bore it along the dark and silent street, awakening the city, just as the first pale rays of dawn were breaking in the east, with the resounding chorus of "Bryan, Bryan, Bryan."

When the hands of the clock in the Auditorium last night pointed close to the hour of 12, the superstitious man climbed to the top of the railing opposite the speaker's platform and stopped time in its flight. The cheers which followed indicated that the assemblage did not want important business transacted on Friday.

Mrs. Leavitt a Spectator.

Mrs. Ruth Leavitt, perhaps the most interested person in the convention, remained to the end, witnessing the furious demonstration when her father was nominated by acclamation, the excited yelling when his seconds made their speeches and the lesser cheers received by the two rival candidates, Johnson and Gray.

Not until the votes had been cast and her father endorsed by the convention as the unanimous choice to bear the standard of the party, did she leave her seat in her box at the south end of the Auditorium and join the crowd, hurrying homeward.

Whenever enthusiasm at the mention of great leader's name broke loose all eyes were turned toward Mrs. Leavitt, who, smiling and happy, listened to the ovations accorded her father.

Nomination of Kern.

The convention, after adjourning at day light, with the nomination of Mr. Bryan, resumed its session at 1 p. m., with a powerful undercurrent already in motion toward the nomination of Kern for second place.

On the call of states, Indiana presented the name of Kern; Colorado, through Governor Harris, placed in nomination Charles A. Towne; of New York; Connecticut presented Archibald McNeill and Georgia, Clark Howell.

The names of Judge George Gray of Delaware, and of John Mitchell of Illinois were not presented, owing to the positive requests of these gentlemen not to have their names go before the convention.

For a time it looked as though a ballot would be required, but the steady line of states joining in Kern's nomination, soon made it apparent that the chances of all others had been extinguished.

Mr. Towne was the first candidate to recognize the decisive character of the Kern movement and in a ringing speech withdrew his name from consideration and pledged his support to the ticket of Bryan and Kern.

Withdrawing his name from the contest, supporters of Howell of Georgia and McNeill of Connecticut, leaving the Indiana candidate alone in the field. The withdrawal of the Connecticut candidate was accompanied by a motion that the nomination of Kern be made by acclamation.

The motion was carried with a deafening shout and the great assemblage broke into clamorous demonstration on the accomplishment of its work and the completion of the democratic national ticket.

The nomination was made at 4:30 o'clock and the convention thereupon adjourned without delay.

The democratic national committee will assemble tomorrow to complete its new organization and to select the chairman who will be the commander-in-chief of the democratic forces in the campaign.

The throngs of delegates and spectators are scattering tonight for their homes and every train is bearing away thousands from the eventful scenes of the Denver convention.

NOMINATION OF MR. KERN

All Other Candidates Withdraw and It Is Made by Acclamation.

CONVENTION HALL, DENVER, July 10.—At 10 o'clock, the hour to which the convention adjourned, this morning, not one-fourth of the delegates were in their seats and they were coming slowly into the hall. The long, hard session of last night, conducted as it was, in great heat, and the fatigue caused by the physical work of the two great demonstrations in honor of Mr. Bryan, all combined to make most ample excuses for late arrivals.

It was 1:40 p. m. before Chairman Clayton rapped for order. Vice-presidential conferences were in progress all over the hall at the time and it was some little while before the delegates gave their attention to the chair.

Mr. Clayton was too hoarse to make himself heard and spoke a reading clerk to introduce the Rev. Father Martin J. Corbett of Westfield, N. Y., who delivered the invocation.

The priest's mention of the name of "that God-fearing leader, William Jennings Bryan," called out a ripple of applause, which was renewed when he had concluded.

Mr. Clayton's hoarseness soon became so serious that he yielded the gavel to Representative Ollie James of Kentucky.

Governor Vardaman of Mississippi was recognized to move that the convention proceed to the nomination of a vice-presidential candidate. The motion was carried with applause.

Senator Stone of Missouri made a motion that all nominating speeches be limited to ten minutes each, and that seconding speeches be not more than two for each candidate and not longer than five minutes each.

Chairman James in putting the motion did not state that part of the motion holding the seconding speeches to two and the motion as adopted was in accordance with his statement and limited the speeches in time, but left them unlimited in number.

Call of States Begins.

Acting Chairman James directed the call of states to proceed.

"Alabama."

"Alabama yields to Indiana," replied the chairman of the delegation from that state and the followers of John W. Kern cheered lustily.

Thomas R. Marshall, democratic candidate for governor of Indiana, was sent to the platform to offer Mr. Kern's name as the first on the list.

Mr. Marshall paid tribute first to the platform of the convention, next to Mr. Bryan, then to Indiana and lastly to Mr. Kern himself. A convention which had begun so well, he declared, should end well. Mr. Kern, he asserted, had all the qualifications that could be desired for the office and would be a standard-bearer worthy of a united democracy.

Indiana's delegation cheered Mr. Kern for several minutes. They were joined, however, by only a few delegates from Florida.

Colorado Names Towne.

When Colorado was reached on the roll call, ex-Governor Thomas of that state took the platform to place in nomination Charles A. Towne of New York. The convention did not at first understand whose name Governor Thomas was to present, but as he proceeded recounting the events in the career of the man he had come to name, it was understood that Towne was the man. The mention of Mr. Towne's name was received with applause, but only one New York delegate showed signs of approval by waving his hat.

Connecticut was next to place its candidate in nomination, sending J. J. Walsh to the platform to name Archibald McNeill of Bridgeport.

Delaware yielded to Georgia its place on the roll call and L. I. Hill from the latter state in a few words placed Clark Howell of Atlanta in nomination. Mr. Hill made a happy little speech that had in the minds of the delegates an added virtue in that it was short. The mention of Mr. Howell's name was greeted with much applause.

Folk Seem Kern.

Florida, next on the call of states, yielded to Missouri, and Governor Joseph W. Folk took the platform amid cheering from all sections of the hall. It was some little time after his introduction before he could proceed. When he spoke it was to second the nomination of Mr. Kern.

Governor Folk spoke briefly and was cheered again when he closed with the mention of Mr. Kern's name. The band played "On the Banks of the Wabash" in honor of Indiana's candidate.

"Idaho won't the nomination of Charles A. Towne," shouted a delegate from that state when its name was reached on the roll.

Mr. James, after Idaho had been heard, yielded the gavel to James Hamilton Lewis of Chicago, who recognized Fred Kern of Illinois as his first official act.

Mr. Kern placed the name of John Mitchell before the convention. Although he did not offer him as a candidate a heavy cheer followed the mention of Mr. Mitchell's name and it was heartily repeated every time it was mentioned. Mr. Kern said that Mr. Mitchell had said that he preferred that his name be not presented as a candidate and he therefore on behalf of Illinois seconded the nomination of Mr. Kern of Indiana.

Indiana Yields to Alabama.

When Indiana was reached Chairman John E. Lamb announced "Indiana gracefully yields to Alabama." Congressman T. J. Hefflin of the latter state then spoke briefly to second Mr. Kern's nomination.

As spokesman for Iowa Martin J. Wade seconded Mr. Kern.

Ollie James of Kentucky seconded Mr. Kern as one of the knightliest democrats in the world.

There were no further responses from the states until Maryland was reached, when M. F. Lee of that delegation arose and seconded Mr. Towne of New York.

Mr. James at this point again assumed the convention gavel, relieving Mr. Lewis. Michigan was next to second Mr. Kern as Minnesota a moment later seconded M. F. McNeill, Mississippi also seconded Mr. Kern.

The chairman of the Missouri delegation said the democrats of the state had hoped to offer David R. Francis as a candidate, but he had declined. Missouri therefore favored Indiana's favorite son. Minnesota requested to be passed.

Nevada seconded Mr. Towne.

New Hampshire fell into line with the Kern states. New Jersey was passed and then New York was called.

New York Keeps Out.

Leader Murphy of Tammany arose amid
