

CHIEF ROUSED ON ROAD LAWS

Tired of Violations, Determines to Make Some Arrests.

SERVES FAIR WARNING TO ALL

Will Place Some of His Patrolmen on Mounts to Run Down the Automobiles that Disregard the Laws.

Take warning, by the orders of Chief of Police Donahue. Autoists, drivers, bicycle riders—everyone must keep to the right of the road in the city of Omaha if he wants to keep out of the station and keep his name off the police docket.

"I am tired of this constant disobedience of the road laws and purpose stationing two policemen on each crossing in the business section of the city and make people keep to the right of the road, whether they want to or not," said the chief.

"I will have a peach of story. If you reporters come around some Monday morning I will give you a peach of a story," said the chief.

"The chief says he ought to have a larger force and more motor cycles, but he is going to try to stop the speeding by hiring motor cycles to make the people keep to the right by calling in policemen from the outlying districts.

SOUTH WING OF HIGH SCHOOL

Proposition May Be Acted On at Monday Night Meeting of Board.

The proposition of beginning the construction at once of the south wing to the high school building will come before the Board of Education at its meeting Monday night and it is probable, in the opinion of J. C. Lindsay, member of the board and property committee, that an architect will then be engaged to draw the plans for the new addition.

"There is an Omaha girl with the Sells-Floto show," said Doc Waddell. "She is going to be married to a young man who is a member of the show."

"The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson, at 15th and Farnam, was the scene of a wedding ceremony which was performed in a most beautiful manner."

PUT UP A GOOD FRONT

Conscientiousness of Being "Well Dressed" Acts as a Tonic on the Mind.

John F. Fitzgerald, editor, publisher and one time mayor of Boston, will not tell how much money he spends yearly on his clothes, despite the fact that he follows the example of a prominent London play-actress, who proclaims that good clothing is the first essential of a successful life.

"I cannot give you any idea," said Mr. Fitzgerald, "to make up for this scarcity, the 'better, bigger, bigger Boston' man furnished a great deal of advice to others."

"A good suit of clothes, besides procuring for the wearer a recommendation at first hand, acts as a tonic on his mind; it really aids in achieving success, for the conscientiousness of being attired in a shabby suit of clothes dissipates mental energy."

"A good suit of clothes stimulates self confidence, and he gave a careful look at his own attire. 'It is absolutely necessary that a man be dressed neatly and well set up if he is to gain any foothold in this world.'"

"Of course it is too bad and it seems unfair that personal appearance should be judged on the same scale as mental aptitude, but these are the world's rules, and he who would go against them does so at his own peril."—Boston Globe.

SELLS-FLOTO CIRCUS HERE

Big Show Spends Sunday in Omaha Prior to Performance on Monday.

Out on the clearing at Twentieth and Paul streets today is a canvas city with its physicians, lawyers, barbers, people and horses and it differs with other cities and towns as to common council and charter, having none, and it is not stationary and permanent. It is very movable and goes many miles in the course of a season, which averages about forty weeks with a circus. Over this city of "white tops" floats the banner of Sells-Floto. It came over the Union Pacific, fifty cars strong, which shows a decided increase in size since last year. The fact is it is the one show all America has its eye upon, because it is anti-trust, strictly union and strictly American.

There are 300 horses with the show, 400 people, and 10 acres of canvas. Its capital is $20,000,000. The daily expense is $2,000. Two years ago Sells-Floto came to Omaha and played to turn-around business. It was billed then and is yet called "The Circus Beautiful." Well does it uphold and sustain the title.

The acts of the circus are those which "tease the blood way back." When its Yankee Doodle pageant of the grand entry begins with Uncle Sam and the Goddess of Liberty leading off on two stepping horses down to the most exciting finale over in a circus, twenty-one stallions driven at full run by a bareback rider on the backs of the patrons have full proof of Sells-Floto supremacy.

Perhaps one of the most beautiful features of this or any other circus is the Golden Troupe of Russian singers and dancers, and the sweet singers of Sweden. They sing with a real color of locality and their dancing is a most curious combination of the graceful and eccentric.

There are thirty clowns headed by the great Spader Johnson, a Swede for the first time away from the Barnum show. Over 100 minor acts are put on and six big thrillers, impossible of imitation. All this is high hygiene.

The races are stirring and dangerous, which means enjoyable. But if you want a real nerve shaker, watch the finale with 12 stallions tearing madly around the track with Alton King riding the last span like a Roman colossus. As the stallions swing round the turns you get their breath hot in your face; you see their panting flanks rise and fall; their eyes are glittering with effort and you know if one should make a mistake there would be several dead stallions and probably a dead man at your feet.

The street parade will be at 10:30 tomorrow morning. It is one mile in length and a dancier. The performance will be at 8 and 9 p. m. The doors open at 1 and 7 p. m. There is a free exhibition of the circus lot after the parade.

At the matinee tomorrow the children of the Benson Orphanage, the Detention home and the Child Saving Institute will be guests of the Sells-Floto management.

Today was an interesting day to all who go to the show grounds to see the sights. Sabbath day on a circus lot is always interesting.
