They are not related, but had heard of each other many times and had a desire to meet. Mrs. Loebek is in Omaha with her husband, who is an extensive manufacturer of bedding in Minneapolis.

McKinley Club Election-The annual election of officers of the McKinley club will be held at the Chesapeake restaurant next Monday night. The meeting will take the form of a dinner for the members. Reports from the committee on the Taft banquet will be heard and plans for a vigorous campaign this fall will be outlined.

Arguments in Shepherd Case-The arguments in the case of Shepherd against School District No. 11 of Dakota county were concluded before Justice T. C. Munger in the United States circuit court Monday evening. The suit is to recover on $22,000 school bonds issued by the district in 1894. Judge Munger has taken the case under advisement.

Slabough Up for Office Again-W. W. Slabough, who preceded James P. English as county attorney and who was defeated by him two years ago, has again entered the race for the nomination for the office. He has filed his application for a place on the ballot with the county clerk, being the second to file. The other filing for the office is Albert Sherry of South Omaha.

Divorce Action for Nonsupport-Asserting George E. Bailey has been sentenced to the Nebraska asylum for eighteen months from Council Bluffs, Pay Bailey has begun suit for divorce against him in district court. She says he has not only failed to support her and their three children, but she has had to support him at times. She also charges him with cruelty.

Koreas Get Tired Waiting-Two horses attached to J. Peterson's milk wagon evidently became wearied for the parade to approach, so they started on a run down Harney street from Twentieth to see what the crowds on the street meant. At Seventeenth they decided to turn off, but turned too quickly and broken bottles, milk and ice and the wagon were piled into an indiscriminate mass.

Suit for Death of Kusband-Frieda C. Gingerich has begun suit for $5,000 in district court against the Telephone Construction company, which is installing the independent system. She holds the company responsible for the death of her husband, Christian D. Gingerich, who was killed June 12, being struck by a falling telephone pole forty feet long. The accident happened at Twentieth and Ames avenue. James Martin, the foreman under whom GINGERICH worked is also a defendant.

Molander Inquest Wednesday-The inquest over the death of Albert Molander, the young man who was run over and killed by a switch engine at Fifteenth and Nicholas streets Saturday night, was adjourned until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, owing to the absence of important witnesses this morning. From the testimony offered Tuesday morning it developed that Molander and other young men had been in the habit of riding the engine and of even helping the train crews to the extent of throwing switches.

Lead Receivership-A hearing on the acceptance of the report of the referee in the receivership case of Henry D. Reed against Riley Haskell and others, a corporation of McPherson county, was heard before Judge T. C. Munger in the United States circuit court Tuesday and the matter was taken under advisement by the court. The suit has been pending in the federal courts in various forms since 1888. It relates to disagreements as to terms of partnership in the formation of a cattle feeding and ranch concern in McPherson county.

Roles Shot in the Air-Two negroes, two shots, two arrests, and the main features of a "third ward" meeting are briefly told. The shooting was done by Halch Smith, a colored prize fighter, who lives at 108 North Ninth street. He was locked up on the city jail on the charge of shooting with intent to wound, the intent being as far as the bullets got. They were intended for Henry Watkins, a colored laborer, who resides in Martin's Arcade. He was arrested as the complaining witness. The affair occurred in the rear of the saloon at Ninth and Dodge streets and the arrests were made by Officer Reilly. Charges Against Justice of the Peace-Asserting that Justice of the Peace Ben E. Anderson dated a judgment rendered against them July 6 back to June 23 and thus prevented them from appealing from his decision, Sylvester Besley, Frances Besley and Peter Jassen, Jr., have applied to the district court for a mandamus to compel Anderson to correct his record. The judgment was rendered in a suit brought against them by the Fuley Loan company, a chattel loan concern, and the judgment was for $100 and the costs of the suit. They assert they have a valid defense, but as the judgment was dated back more than ten days they lost their right to appeal because the statutes allow only ten days for appeals from the justice court.

GREETINGS FROM OVER SEA

Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben Receive Letter From G. W. Wattlew Dated Moscow.

An unexpectedly large crowd was present last night at the Ben, regardless of the heat and the circus attractions adjacent, to witness the initiation of one of the largest classes of the season.

Secretary H. J. Penfold of the Board of Governors read several announcements, among which was a letter from G. W. Wattlew, writer from Moscow, Russia, in which he sent his greetings to Ak-Sar-Ben and wished for it every prosperity. He was enjoying his globe-trotting trip immensely and having the best kind of a time.

Mr. Penfold also called special attention to the new innovation of the Cinderella ball to be given the evening of October 3, and asked the co-operation of all the knights in the matter to make it one of the great successes of the festival season.

The additional announcement was made that next Monday night will be "Lincoln night." The Board of Governors has invited the Lincoln Commercial club to be present, and all knights were asked to write to their customers and friends in Lincoln urging them to come and thus make "Lincoln night" one of the biggest of the year. William Kennedy, formerly of Omaha but now of Lincoln, will act as grand mufli that evening, and he is taking a lively interest in the matter and promises a big crowd from Lincoln, which can be largely augmented by further invitations to Omaha people to their Lincoln friends.

Grand Mufli Thomas announced that the membership last night was 968, as against 782 a year ago last night. The announcement was received with the heartiest applause.

The speakers of the evening were C. A. Searle, who told a good fishing story of experiences that the grand mufli and he enjoyed last week up on the ranch of Harry O'Neill in Custer county. From fishing stories, all of which he vouched for as absolutely true, he drifted into an eloquent dissertation on the possibilities of Nebraska and the urgent need of carrying out the uses and recommendations of the waterways congress. He believed the transportation problem would be settled by the opening of navigation on the Missouri, which would mean a tremendous impetus to the growth and business of Omaha and the west generally.

He was followed by T. W. Blackburn in a similar strain, advocating no let-up to the Missouri river navigation agitation until it was an accomplished fact. He urged that the problem of commerce was the problem of transportation and its solution rested in the inland waterways and their utilization as transportation mediums, thus relieving the railway congestion and cheapening the cost of transportation.

MAGNEY ADVISED THE ACTION

Democratic Attorney Directed Payment of Election Officers. DEMO-POP ORGAN SHOOTS IN AIR

Makes Attack on Board When, as Records Show, They Did What the County Attorney Advised.

Politicians around the city hall and court house are wondering whether the local democratic organ is preparing to oppose City Attorney Burnam and County Attorney English for re-election. This speculation is based on the fact that this organ is making a vigorous attack, apparently for political purposes, on the action of the county board in allowing only $1.50 a day per man as the county's share of the pay for clerks and judges of the special election held last May. This action of the county board, it is privately and publicly known, was taken because Deputy County Attorney Magney advised the board to take it and at the same time City Attorney Burnam was preparing the same advice to be transmitted to the city council.

"Sincerely Hitchcock knows this," remarked a democratic officeholder, who has been struck like others with the strange course of the demo-pop organ. "He certainly would not make such an attack without having first consulted the facts and records. Apparently he is aiming his shafts at the republican members of the board, which he has struck like others with the strange course of the demo-pop organ."

The letter that prompted action. Here is the letter from Mr. Magney that led the board to take its action: OMAHA, Neb., May 15, 1908.-Hon. E. G. Solomon, County Comptroller, Neb.-Dear Sir: In response to your inquiry as to how much the county is legally required to pay the judges and clerks of the special election held May 5, will say, that section 5, chapter 21a, of the compiled laws of 1907, contains the following provision: "At all special elections in any city (of the metropolitan area) each judge and clerk of such elections shall each receive for their entire service at such election the sum of the same to be paid by the county and city submitting the proposition or propositions to be voted upon at such election."

While Mr. Magney was thus advising the county board, City Attorney Burnam also issued a similar order, directing the same county for the city council. Both Magney and Burnam agreed on the proposition that Omaha judges and clerks of election should be allowed only $1.50 by the county and a similar amount by the city. Under the law if the county had paid more than the members would be legally responsible to the county for the difference and might have been required to pay it out of their own pockets.

Question whether the judges are entitled to more or not may be settled in court by an appeal from the action of the board, provided any of the judges feel that he should have been paid more. Members of the county board who voted to pay the bill of C. E. Herring, attorney for County Comptroller Solomon in the litigation over the legality of the office, declare they did so because the proposition made by Mr. Solomon was a good one for the county to accept. Commissioners Ure and Kennedy have talked to attorneys and are satisfied that Mr. Solomon would have a valid claim against the county for the difference between the salary he collected as county commissioner during the three months the case was in court, and the amount which would be due him as county comptroller. As commissioner he received $150 a month, as comptroller he was entitled to $200 a month, a difference of $150 a month, or $450. His deputy would also be entitled to $200 more than he received, making a claim, which the majority members of the board consider valid, for $1,350.

Magney advised the county to accept, and they paid the bill.

SUPPOSED CASE OF SUICIDE

Hans Bern of Sioux City Disappears and Corpse Found on Bridge.

With indications pointing to his suicide by the Missouri river route, a man supposed to be Hans Bern of Sioux City disappeared about 10:30 o'clock last night from the Lincoln Hotel, where he was staying.

Bern was seen in the saloon at Tenth and Douglas streets by L. A. Kern of 2611 Avenue D, Council Bluffs, and by R. C. Kern, the latter's cousin from Grand Island. The bartender sold a half-pint bottle of whiskey to Bern, who had first asked the price of a pint and had asked for another price: "I guess a half-pint will do."

From the saloon Bern had gone onto the bridge and was followed soon after by the Kerns, who were going home to the Bluffs. The three men met at the toll house, where the Kerns stopped to talk to Tollkeeper Fellers for five or ten minutes. On walking about 150 feet past the toll house Bern's new black coat was found neatly folded and lying between the two railings on the north side of the bridge. His hat, a new soft felt one bearing the mark of the Nebraska Clothing company, was on top of the coat, which had the mark of Nicol, the tailor, on the collar.

The initials "H. B." were cut in the inner band of the hat, and in the pockets of the coat a number of papers were found. One was a receipt for dues paid to Lodge 77, Fraternal Order of Eagles, at Sioux City, from February 5 to August 5, 1908. A receipt for $2 poll tax paid to G. A. Bern at Emerson, Dixon county, Nebraska, was also found. A card of a woman of a Ninth street resort and a program of the Novelty theater, Detroit, were in other pockets of the coat. The theater program was dated May 25 and on the back was an almost unintelligible pencil scrawl which read somewhat as follows: "This is all I can do for you. See you later. Eagle 77, Sioux City."

Bern is thought to be a man about 30 or 35 years old. The Kerns reported their find to Tollkeeper Fellers, who notified the Omaha police of the supposed suicide.

LOU HILL SERIOUSLY ILL

Arrives Saturday From Philadelphia and Condition Has Grown Worse.

Lou Hill, a well known real estate man and financier, is reported to be seriously ill at the Her Grand hotel, and fears are expressed that his condition may become worse and that even death may result.

Mr. Hill is the owner of the hotel building, his nephew, John Hill, being the proprietor. The older Mr. Hill arrived from Philadelphia at midnight Saturday, and was sick at that time. Since then his condition has become worse.

The physicians in charge reported that the condition of Lou Hill was not improved Tuesday morning and that he was still very low. Dr. J. E. Summers and LeRoy Crummer are the attending physicians.

HOUSE OF HOPE NOW READY

Incorporated and Will Be Occupied Thursday, Rev. C. W. Savidge Making Payment Wednesday.

The articles of incorporation of the House of Hope were filed Tuesday morning. Money is rolling into the hands of Rev. Charles W. Savidge for his new home for old folks, which he will establish in the old Dexter L. Thomas house at 366 North Twenty-seventh avenue, but he now has other wants. To save all the money possible to pay on the purchase price Mr. Savidge would like to have twenty persons report Wednesday morning with buckets and brooms to clean the big house, that he may immediately move in from his present quarters at 1713-1715 California street. Mr. Savidge expects to make his first payment of $1,500 Wednesday and move in Thursday.

In order that the house may soon be free from debt Mr. Savidge is making an active canvass among the people of Omaha to raise the entire amount. He is receiving subscriptions of $50 each. It would require 170 such subscriptions and he now has sixty on his list.

"The House of Hope is incorporated by Rev. Charles W. Savidge, Anson L. Havens and Dr. Nelson S. Mercer, and is organized for the purpose of providing for the moral, spiritual, intellectual and physical welfare of aged people of both sexes, who as an effect of age have become infirm and unable to properly provide and care for themselves. The purpose of the organization is to establish a home or homes for such people.

The organization is to be conducted solely for this purpose and no pecuniary advantage is to be derived by any of the organizers on account of membership. The affairs of the corporation are to be managed by a board of fifteen trustees. The first board of trustees consists of the following members: George R. Barker, Louis Boehme, David Cole, Gould Dietz, Thomas Hamilton, Anson L. Havens, Thomas Herd, John G. Jacobs, Mrs. Josephine G. Kitcher, Dr. N. S. Mercer, W. A. Pfnhuth, T. Porter, Mrs. Augusta Raabe, Mrs. Ann B. Savidge, Rev. Charles W. Savidge.

"The officers of the organization shall be a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer."

Buy this week the things you'll need next month-remarkable prices prevail on all lines of seasonable goods. Benson & Thorne Co., Lilliputian Bazaar.

FISH GO HIGH IN PRICES

Cost More to Catch Them and So They Follow Beef on Upward Trend.

When there is nothing but $2 cattle on the market and hogs are bringing $7.00 to $7.25, the fish in the northern and western rivers seem to get the vibrations and go to deep water where they are hard to catch and the price goes up.

This is what has happened the last few days. The result is that fish are somewhat higher than usual. "It costs more to produce them," is the reason given. "It takes lots of money to buy boats and equipment for deep fishing and it also takes experience, but when the pickered and trout are pulled out of deep water the quality is finer. Just like corn fed beef in comparison to the grass fed stock."

There is an unusual demand for smoked fish on the Omaha market. The demand for these cured fish in the middle of summer is unusual and Omaha dealers say that they have never had the demand before. The fish is purchased and sold in this city by the dealers who are selling the smoked whitefish and smoked sturgeon on the Fourth of July. The high price of meats and the fact that fish is becoming a more popular hot weather food each year, are also reasons for the annual demand for the smoked fish.

Michigan celery is offered by the best dealers, it being almost sixty days earlier than usual, arriving last year in September. The rainy weather which has been general throughout the celery region, has enabled celery growers to produce a very fine quality, which has reached the Omaha market.

WAR ON THE AUTO SPEEDERS

Motorcycle Drivers Also to Come Under the Ban of the Police.

Speeders with automobiles and motorcycles on the streets of Omaha will be led a merry life as soon as the new motorcycle law is put into effect. The law is being put into effect at its meeting last night in purchased and put into commission. It is intended to make a specialty of the prosecutions of reckless motorcycleists, as in the opinion of certain members of the board these machines are becoming a menace to the safety of pedestrians on the streets.

After a period of six months work on the police force, Otto F. Schultz has signed from his position, the same to take effect July 7. He is one of the two men who were continued on trial by the board at its meeting held last week. The resignation was accepted.

Two sets of charges were ordered filed against members of the fire department and Harry Ulmer, a saloonkeeper, will be ordered to appear before the board next Monday to answer the charge of testifying in regard to his being a resident of Omaha last night in purchased and put into commission. It is intended to make a specialty of the prosecutions of reckless motorcycleists, as in the opinion of certain members of the board these machines are becoming a menace to the safety of pedestrians on the streets.

WOOL COMES IN REGULARLY

One-Tenth of Wyoming Clip Will Remain in Storage Here. THIS MEANS 3,500,000 POUNDS

Manager King Says He is Well Satisfied with the Character and Volume of the Wool Received.

About one-tenth of the wool clip of Wyoming will remain in storage in Omaha—this means 3,500,000 pounds.

Wool has been coming to Omaha regularly and L. L. King, manager of the Omaha Wool and Storage company, is authorized to say that the wool is not all shipped by any means and over 1,500,000 pounds will yet come to the Omaha market. Mr. King received bills of lading for eight carloads of wool Tuesday. The wool in this one consignment will weigh over 20,000 pounds.

"We are well satisfied with the wool we have been securing and next year the growers will understand the possibility of storing in Omaha and securing better prices, when we will get all the wool we can handle," said Mr. King.

The fact that the Omaha Wool and Storage company, together with the St. Paul Wool Storage company, has forced the price of wool up several cents, will make friends for the western storage companies and the growers will forward their clips next year.

Starting at the beginning of the shearing season with a firm determination to make off the growers what they lost last year, the Boston and other eastern buyers offered 12 to 13 cents for Wyoming and Montana wools and said they would not be compelled to pay higher.

But the prices being paid are all higher than 14 cents and the lowest price paid last week in Boston was 15 cents. The quotations on the latest quotations on wools: Territories, 15 to 18 cents; scoured, 40 to 42 cents; Texas, 17 to 19 cents; pulled, 30 to 35 cents; Oregon, 18 to 19 cents; medium fleece, 23 to 25 cents; California, 15 to 18 cents; fine fleece, 30 to 35 cents.

Schools and Colleges

Some very good authorities among the wool growers credit the higher prices being paid for the wools to the movement to store the clips in Omaha and St. Paul. Prices at present remain firm and no indications of a weakening are to be seen. Much of the wool now being bought by eastern brokers and buyers is said to be secured as a precaution against advance. Buyers claim that it is not needed by manufacturers, but must be taken, as the prices are apt to advance 2 or 3 cents more.

Boston buyers are still paying 13 cents for good wool in Montana and 16 and 17 cents for the ordinary. This is still 2 and 3 cents lower than the growers want to take, but many are selling. It is figured that the better clips will cost 55 cents secured. In South Dakota the Omaha house has learned that buyers are paying prices which will make the scoured wool cost 35 cents, the fine and 30 and 32 cents for the one-half blood.

The amount of wool sent to the east is far short of what it was last year and this leads the storage companies in the west to believe that regardless of the fair prices being offered they will still get a large amount of wool. Telegraphic advices Monday to the Omaha Wool and Storage company stated that $7,700,000 pounds of wool had been received in Boston thus far in the season. The receipts to the same date last year were 17,258,000.

Dutch Neck Again.

The simple little Dutch neck, or square cut neck has become immensely popular in the mid-summer frock in spite of rumors of the extremely high collars being worn abroad. The lowest neck is one of the most comfortable as well as one of the most pretentious styles for young women and although the girl with the scrawny neck shuns it the beauty experts say it is one of the best developers she could possibly adopt; that she can afford it for a season or so for the sake of its result.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIVE PROGRESSIVE EAR-TRAINING EXERCISES

These exercises are designed to cultivate the sense of "inner-hearing," by teaching the student to observe and listen. The student is fitted with a quick ear are trained to know and to realize what they hear. Robert Schumann says: "The most important thing is to cultivate the sense of hearing and take pains early to distinguish tones and keys by ear. To be able to find what they each give out." These exercises are practiced regularly and systematically will enable the student to hear the beauties in music from a harmonic standpoint and to analyze and hear the mistakes in well known pieces. These ear-training exercises are used in the Effa Ellis Music School, No. 1 and No. 2.
