> COLD DISHES FOR HOT DAYS Upon Salads that One Relies Principally at This Time of Year.

After all it is upon sainds that one relies principally for cold dishes in hot weather. The names of these are legion and they may be as simple or as elaborate as one pleases. The green salads every one knows -lettuce, cress, romaine, escarole, endive, beet tops, dandelion, chicory. But these are only a beginning. When tomatoes come the salad expert is in her glory. She makes them into baskets, with and without handles, and fills them with anything and everything edible. Meat or fish, vegetable or fruit, nuts or cheese, singly or in combinations, with a French or a mayonnaise or a boiled dressing-all are good. She arranges sliced tomatoes in meat or tomato or cucumber aspic, and lets her ingenuity go in devising unusual effects. With cucumbers, too, she achieves great results, converting them also into baskets to hold celery or tomatoes, or cold meat or fish well seasoned.

One of the prettlest of the luncheon or supper salads is made by cutting the top from a green pepper, removing the seeds with a knife or a stick-they burn the skin if touched with the fingers-and filling the basket thus made with chicken or lobster salad. Each pepper may be placed on a lettuce leaf and crowned with a spoonful of mayonnaise. Another salad is prepared by hollowing a tomato and filling it with dice of cucumber, or peeling a cucumber, cutting it in half lengthwise, scooping out the inside, and replacing this with dice of tomatoes. Serve either tomato or cucum ber on a lettuce leaf, and garnish with cucumber ribbons. These are made by shaving the peel from the outside of a cucumber and then slicing this. Take a slice -it should be rather thick-and with a sharp knife cut this in a spiral, as you would pare an apple. The shaving must be very thin, as it is not long before the seedy center is reached, and only the flesh of the cucumber will serve for the ribbons. Cucumber boats filled with shrimps are a satisfactory dish for a cold supper Mayonnaise is served with this, or a good boiled dressing. The cucumbers haived and filled with other sliced or diced cu cumber, served on lettuce, garnished with cucumber ribbons and with strips of the scarlet sweet pepper cut very thin, make a good dish.

The cold vegetables that one unversed in their possibilities might look upon as more or less of a nuisance are a joy to the salad enthusiast. Few are there that cannot be used in salads-one vegetable by itpiles which form a Russian salad. Cold meat or fish, cream cheese alone or combined with olives or nuts, eggs, hard boiled. whole, sliced or stuffed, practically every kind of fruit-all these are like clay in the hands of the potter to the woman who mally at two tables of bridge Monday has made a study of chilled cookery and learned its scope.

A burglary was attempted early Sunday morning at the residence of James Condon, Twenty-sixth and H streets, but failed be cause the people awoke and Mrs. Condon jumped out of a window and gave the alarm. The family was all asleep at about 4 o'clock in the morning when Mrs. Condon was aroused by some slight noise to find a burglar in the room. He discovered her awake as soon as she discovered him. He leveled a gun at her head and told her not to scream or he would shoot. He then went to the cradle and picked up the baby, asking: "How old is the baby?" She replied, "two weeks," not daring to resist "Well, it looks it," said the man-"Where is your money?" "In the next room," replied Mrs. Condon. The man walked into the room indicated and Mrs. Condon seized the baby and jumped out of the window, screaming with all her might Officer Jake Small happened to be near at hand and ran to her assistance. He succeeded in catching a man who had been on watch outside named J. W. Wimsey but the man who was inside escaped through a back window, Wimsey was taken to the jail, where it was discovered he was intoxicated. The members of the Condon family came to the conclusion that the man in the house was also intoxicated. They were able to give the police a good description of the intruder. Nothing was taken from the bouse because the alarm was given too soon. The residence of E. M. Corey was also attempted earlier in the night. Hedgren's Saloon Robbed. The saloon of Gust Hedgren was broken into Saturday night by some thirsty people and a lot of whisky and tobacco was taken. The police are convinced that it was a different gang than the one which broke into the Condon residence. They think the latter came from Omaha, while the saloon job was in line with the work of a gang which is pretty well located in South Omaha. The police force is confident of securing the right parties in the Condon case within a few days.

Club Manager Arrested. Joseph Crouch, manager of the South Omaha colored club, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of selling liquor without a license.
