Passengers in the Two Cars Luckily Are in the Rear End and None Are Caught in Jammed Portion.

CHICAGO, July 21.—Nearly forty persons were injured, some of them probably fatally, and eleven so severely that they had to be taken to hospitals, in a head-on collision today between two Aurora, Elgin and Chicago electric railroad cars at Lovelade station, four miles north of Aurora.

The crash when they came together was terrific. Both cars were telescoped more than half their length, the wood in them smashed to splinters, iron twisted and mangled and the car's original shape and seats thrown yards away.

BIG CROWD WATCHES GAMES

American Sprinters and Jumpers Drawing Cards at Olympic Meeting.

SHEPPARD WINS BIG EVENT Takes Eight Hundred-Meter Race and is Declared to Be the Sensation of the Great Meeting.

LONDON, July 21.—A big crowd came out this afternoon to witness the work of the American sprinters and jumpers in the Olympic games at the Stadium at Shepherd Bush. The spectators got a surprise when Harry P. Porter, Irish-American Athletic club, cleared six feet three inches in the third section of the running high jump. This feat the jump made by C. Leahy, United Kingdom, in the previous section, by one inch. T. Moffit, University of Chicago, of whom much was expected, did not do so well in the jump. He was second to Porter, with six feet and one inch. He will have another chance in the final.

The Americans also did well in the 200 meter flat race, getting a number of men in the semi-finals. They likewise distinguished themselves in the 400 meter flat race. J. B. Taylor, Irish-American Athletic club, cleared six feet three inches in the third section of the running high jump. This feat the jump made by C. Leahy, United Kingdom, in the previous section, by one inch. T. Moffit, University of Chicago, of whom much was expected, did not do so well in the jump. He was second to Porter, with six feet and one inch. He will have another chance in the final.

Sheppard's Sensational Run. Sheppard won the 200 meters race, by a ten yards margin and broke the record of J. Halstead, New York Athletic club, was fifth.

Sheppard's victory was the most sensational event of the meeting. Fairbairn-Crawford made the pace at the start and sprinted speedily for 300 yards, when Sheppard passed him, followed by Langhli, Italy, and just the English champion. In the order named they raced around the back stretch. The three men formed the first division and the other runners soon fell considerably to the rear. Sheppard established a decisive lead at the last turn and never again was in danger. Just as he cleared the stretch, thoroughly beaten, and Braum, Germany; Bodor, Hungary, and Halstead, New York Athletic club, passed him on the last stretch. Neither Fairbairn-Crawford nor Baird, Ames university, finished.

In the expectation of a second finishing line had been established at half mile post, eighteen feet beyond the 200-meter mark. Sheppard finished the race full of vigor and kept on to the half. He then walked away briskly. There was shrill yelling and much waving of flags, when the result was announced and a number of spectators lifted the American victor to their shoulders and bore him to his dressing room. There are only two finals on today's program of field and track events in the Olympic games at the Stadium, the running high jump and the 400-meter flat race. While both of these events will create some interest, there were some heats to be run off, the results of which were more eagerly awaited, notably the semi-finals in the 100-meter dash and the 400-meter hurdles.

The morning, which is somewhat clearer than previous days, saw the commencement of the running high jump and the heats of the first round of the 200-meter flat race. As there were fifteen heats in the latter event there was little time for anything else, but the committee managed to get in the third heat in the high diving contest.

Kerr of Canada, who was more feared by the American sprinters than any other foreign competitor, carried off his heat in the 200-meter flat race today, defeating W. W. May, University of Illinois, one of the best men on the American team. It was a good race. May pushing Kerr right up to the tape. H. J. Huff, Chicago Athletic association, and N. J. Cartmell, University of Pennsylvania, got their heats without difficulty, and Cloughen, Irish-American Athletic club; W. F. Hamilton, Chicago Athletic association, and D. R. Sherman, Dartmouth college, also qualified for the next round. Sherman outran Morton, the former United Kingdom champion. Lawson Robertson, Irish-American Athletic club, went down to defeat at the hands of W. J. Roche, the Irish champion.

Summaries in 200-Meter Dash. George, United Kingdom, won the first heat of the 200 meter dash, beating Henney, Holland, the only other competitor. Time: 0:23 1/2. Huff, American, won the second heat from Duffy, South Africa. Time: 0:22 1/2. Roche, United Kingdom, won the third heat from Robertson, America. Time: 0:22 1/2. Cartmell, America, won the fourth heat easily. Time: 0:22.

The third heat was won by Burton, United Kingdom, who came in ahead of two other United Kingdom runners. Time: 0:24. The fourth heat was won by Tremser, United Kingdom; G. Burton, United Kingdom, second. This was the end of the hurdle heats. Jarvis, United Kingdom, was the winner in the fifth heat of the 1500-meter swimming race. He beat J. B. Greene, Brookline Athletic club, the only American competing.

Wrestling Match. In the first round of the catch-as-catch-can wrestling, middleweight to 145 pounds, Craig and Narganes, America, drew byes. In the second round Beck, United Kingdom, threw Narganes and Anderson, Sweden, beat Craig on points, after the two men had struggled on the mat for the full fifteen minutes without either securing a throw.

Prominent Rancher Drowns. STURGEON R. D. July 21.—(Special.)—R. F. Willard, a prominent and prosperous rancher residing near Harding, was drowned recently in the Little Missouri river a few miles from Harding. His body was recovered shortly after. The unfortunate man's wife and children were standing on the bank of the stream, but were powerless to render any assistance and could only stand and watch their loved one struggle against the stream. The family, with others, were out for an outing.

The dogs of war are upon us. Gone is the white-winged dove of peace and its place usurped by the fierce eagle, ready to perch upon the standards of the countless legions advancing to bloody battlefields. Let plows and pruning hooks be beaten into swords and bayonets. The long-expected, long-dreaded day of conflict between Japan and the United States is at hand.

A small man with a fierce look on his sallow, stubble-bearded face, sat in front of the Paxton hotel Tuesday noon and demonstrated the great Anglo-Japanese conflict is not only certain, but imminent. The small man had come from a lunch establishment and had taken undisputed possession of a comfortable chair in front of the hotel. Let plows and pruning hooks be beaten into swords and bayonets. The long-expected, long-dreaded day of conflict between Japan and the United States is at hand.

He paused to facilitate probing for a remote and refractory particle of his recent meal and the old man exclaimed: "The Japophobe is running tonight and day after day, turning out arms and powder. They're shipping 'em secretly to the little yellow men in the Philippines, the Hawaiian Islands and in this country. They've got enough ships to bring a million men all in one trip to the shores of the United States. They're getting ready to strike. And when they do, they'll be a million more than they are now. I know what I'm talking about, I do."

night in a tree near the camp. Awakened from his slumbers he thrust his head from out of the tent and perceived what he thought was a dog appeasing its hunger on the prized venison. He rushed out save the animal a powerful kick only to have it turn upon him with a growl and acquaint him with the fact that he was up against a real live mountain lion. The mixer of lather immediately instituted a retreat with the brute close at his heels, and the reporter of the incident states that there were only a few shreds of his sleeping robe left to tell the story when his friends came to the rescue and delivered him from the vicious beast that wasn't a dog at all.—Beatrice Sun.
