BULLISH SENTIMENT PREVALENT

Minnesots and the Dakotas Send In Reports of Severe Crop Damage Due to Recent Dry, Hot Weather.

OMAHA, Neb., July 24, 1808. Foreign cables answered the domestic fyance yesterday and came strong today. A firm, bullish sentiment was prevalent, owing to damage reports sent from the Dakota's and Minnesota, stating severe crop damage due to the recent dry, hot weather experienced in that locality, which has been but little benefited by the recent Wheat opened with a jump over yesterday's close and continued strong during the early session, with buying general and little or no wheat offered. Values eased some later owing to profit taking on the high points. July wheat opened at 87% and closed at 884c.

Corn started steady and advanced quickly with wheat and remained strong owing to light receipts and a better cash demand offering continued very light and the demand of the light receipts and a better cash demand.

CHICAGO. July 21—Firm cables and additional reports of damage to the growing crop in the northwest caused strength in the local wheat market today, the September, delivery closing at a gain of 1673 %c. Corn and oats were each up \(\frac{1}{2} \) corn were down 12\(\frac{1}{2} \) co to 17\(\frac{1}{2} \) c.

The wheat market displayed the greatest strength of the day soon after the opening, when prices advanced approximately ic above the previous close. Shorts and commission houses were eager bidders at the outset and offerings for a time were meager. The chief reason for the sharp upturn were the strength of foreign markets and a hot wave throughout the spring wheat country, which revived old rumors of the wheat crop in the Dakotas deteriorating on account of drouth. Toward the end of the first hour offerings in the pit became more liberal, which resulted in a reaction from the top. Trade during the last half of the session was rether quiet, but sentiment continued builts he have the province of the last half of the session was rether quiet, but sentiment continued builts he have been dead of the first hour offerings are the pit became more liberal, which resulted to check any further advance. Owing to the continued small movement and the limited amount of contract supplies in store here shorts were active bidders for the September delivery, which resulted in forcing the price of that option up to 77c, the high point for the search Later the market cased off semewhat because of the continuance of ideal weather conditions for the new crop. The close was steady. September opened '4c to Mc higher at 784c to 785c, advanced to 77c and closed at 165c, Local receipts were 147 cars, with 7 cars of contract grade. Oats were strong early in the day owing to an active general demand coupled with very light offerings. The September delivery was especially strong and advanced to above yesterday's final figures. Nearly all the gain was lost later in the day on liberal realizing by local holders. The close, however, was firm. September opened 4605c to 1455c, sold up to 165c and then declined to 155c. Local receipts were 101 cars.

Provisions were weak all day, because of general profit taking by both local and outside longs. At the close September pork was 6ff 175c at 25c. Local r

NEW YORK STOCKS AND BONDS

Liquidation on Large Scale Breaks Prices Badly.

NET LOSS ONE TO THREE POINTS

Order to Press Motion for Retrial of Standard Oil Cases Motive for Much of the Sell-Ing.

NEW YORK, July M.—Speculative liquidation on a large scale broke prices of stocks bedly today. The fall was gradual and restrained in the early stages, out became more precipitate as it progressed, uncovering stop-loss orders. Knowledge of the existence of such orders emboldens the professional operator to make short sales and to offer concessions in prices in making these sales, thus forcing declines. Specing ing these saies, thus forcing declines. Spec-ulative liquidation and anort sellings have been in evidence before this week, but they were overcome by the force of the buying demand. It was in this respect that the market showed a notable change today, the buying orders, except at prices below the opening level, showing a material shrink-age.

The order from President Roosevelt to push a retrial of the Standard Oil case was a professed motive for much of the seiling, especially amongst those who had selling, especially amongst those who had bought stocks largely on the ground of the decision in favor of the Standard Oil company. The buying demand prompted by that decision was led by realising sales yesterday and the day before by those who had bought stocks at a lower level. The digestion of profits in that way is supposed to have been very large, and to represent, moreover, the passing or stocks from the hands of the powerful groups which have fostered the advance into those of scattered holders, much less wealthy and much less skillful and practiced in the conduct of speculative operations and manipulation. There was developed an element in the speculation whereby dealings had conduct of speculative operations and manipulation. There was developed an element in the speculation whereby dealings had been largely reduced at a handsome profit, and which was made indifferent to further maintenance or advance of prices and willing to see a substantial relief and an opportunity to get back stocks at an advantage. That such technical considerations were largely responsible for the turn in the price movement there can be no doubt. The extent and duration of the advance which had already occurred emphasized this condition. The nature of the reports put in circulation to sustain the upward movement has pointed to the excess into which it was running. Yesterday's reports, for instance, that the United States Steel subsidiary officials were meeting here to concert measures for starting up the full capacity of the plants was met by the formal statement of President Corey that the present activity of the plants represents % per cent of its capacity. There has been active speculation, also, based on an assumption of the favorable outcome of litigation affecting various corporate interests in a way such as health within the surface the surface the second gation affecting various corporate interests in a way, such as the suits under the commodities clause of the Hepburn act and against fixing rates for gas. The influence of the success of the Standard Oil appeal against the fines levied upon it was seen in the jump in prices of some of the stocks affected most by this speculation, and in which realizing sales, in consequence, have been unusually heavy. The day's news offered little change in general conditions. The week's currency movement gation affecting various corporate interests conditions. The week's currency movement stock market was quiet in the latter part of the day, but showed no effective recovery, the day's losses running quite generally from one to three points.

There was a pronounced contraction in the volume of the bond market and the tone was easy. Total sales, par value, $3,029,000. United States 2s, registered, declined one-eight on the bid price.

were very light, only twenty-two cars being reported, which was not enough to make anything like a market. There was nothing very good of any kind to excite interest among buyers. Still what few cattle there were sold in about the same notches as among buyers. Still what few cattle there were sold in about the same notches as yesterday.

For the week to date the receipts have been the largest for several weeks back, footing up over 13,000 head. The big run, however, was on Monday, the same as last week, since which time the runs have been small. Since the big break the first of the week, brought about by the excessive receipts, there has been a gradual firming up in values, until at the close of the week the market on western beeves and cow stuff is right around 25c higher than it was on Monday, which means that the market is now a little better than it was at the close of last week, possibly 10c higher.

Stockers and feeders have been dull all the week and the total volume of business in that kind of cattle has been small. That does not mean anything, however, more than that it is still too early to expect very much business in the feeder line. The present price of corn is very high and would-be buyers are waiting until the future of the market seems clearer than at present before putting very much money into cattle to feed.

possible, with receipts so light that the market, while steady with reserday, was a little slow. A bunch of fed yearlings sold up to $4.65.

The receipts of sheep at this point have been very large, showing a heavy gain over recent weeks and an increase of over $,000 head as compared with the same week a year ago. Under the influence of the large receipts and the sharp decline at eastern points the market broke badly the first of the week, being reported as 150 me lower on Tuesday than the close of the previous week. Since then It has been firming up a little, being steady to strong from day to day.
