

NEW NOTES MUCH LIKE OLD

Aldrich-Vreeland Bills Do Not Change Money Radically.

OMAHA HAS NONE UP TO PRESENT

No Danger of Ever Making Emergency Currency Out of This, Says Cashier Bucholz of Omaha National.

So far as the bankers of Omaha know none of the new currency issued under the Aldrich-Vreeland act is in circulation in Omaha, though almost every banker has seen some of the notes and declares there is such a slight difference that even a trained eye could hardly tell the new bills from the old currency.

The old issues were deposited with the treasurer of the United States. The new notes read "United States bonds and other securities."

If it ever becomes necessary to issue "emergency currency" there will be no change in the appearance of the money. It goes now and will go if another October 27, 1907, comes along to disturb the country.

Bankers say the government has made something like $200,000 of the notes and will send them out as the banks send in their old currency for redemption, or rather to be replaced with new money when the old bills wear out.

No Chance for Emergency.

"There is not one chance in a thousand of ever issuing the Aldrich-Vreeland bills as emergency currency under the provisions of the recently enacted law," said W. H. Bucholz, cashier of the Omaha National bank, "and there is less chance than that of the bankers in ending about Omaha organizing a currency association and calling for some of the new circulation secured by other than government securities."

There is absolutely no interest in the organization of currency associations, though the law has permitted their organization since May 1. The only one organized is the National Currency association of Washington, D. C., according to the National City Bank circular for August, which has just been received in Omaha.

In Omaha the reluctance to organize is because there is absolutely no necessity for a currency association. Then the bankers say there is no provision in the law authorizing individual banks to withdraw voluntarily from an association when all the obligations of an association shall have been satisfied.

Money No Easier.

So money will not be any easier for the average person to get than it has been in the past. The money secured by government bonds and other securities will not affect the average man or woman. The money will be just as good as all times. There are hundreds of securities which for all practical purposes are just as good as the government securities. If there is any doubt about the new money being issued, those who have a lot of money in cash can get gold certificates. Gold certificates will not be changed in any way by the new currency law. They are simply backed by gold in the vaults of the United States treasury. Gold is worth $20.67 an ounce the world over and will be for generations to come from all present indications. The government will pay almost an ounce of gold for a $20 gold certificate at any time, so those who are lucky enough to get the certificates, have something, but most people will take Aldrich-Vreeland currency at par in $5, $10, $20 and $100, and in an emergency, accept $100 or $10,000 bills in bunches of five.

YOUNG MEN BALK AT SLATE

Democrats Sore at Plot to Head Corporation Ticket with Ransom and Howell.

Long before the primaries—let alone the November election—war clouds are hovering over the camp of local democracy and whatever semblance of harmony ever existed is now in total eclipse. This is due to the fact that Ed Howell, Frank Ransom and John R. Reagan have been members of the formation of a senatorial slate to head a corporation legislative ticket. The younger democrats and the few who wanted to get away from the old hide-and-seek game of corporation-boss-politics are giving their support to the slate and declare they will support the republic ticket before they will vote for the Ransom-Howell combine.

"How can we go before the voters and ask for the support of these men?" complains one young democrat. "Reagan might have been all right, but he got into bad company. The idea of Ransom and Howell running in this day of political reform and promising any reelection to the charter to Omaha! How would they revise it? Anybody who remembers how Ed Howell fixed on Omaha the incubus of the anti-terminal taxation law can answer. Will Mr. Howell begin his charter revision by fighting the repeal of the law enabling Omaha to tax its most valuable property? It took Omaha several sessions of the hardest kind of fighting to get this law on the statute books. What is the use in the democratic party lending itself to any such plot as this? Doesn't it know the people have been hoodwinked on such men? I do not believe these fellows can be nominated."

"Frank Ransom fixed the slate. He told Ed Howell to file and Ed Howell told Frank Ransom he would file if he, Ransom, would. So they both filed. Then they want to get away from him to file, completing the slate. They are corporation men from the ground up, and everyone knows it."

South Omaha has always before been considered entitled to a member of the state senate, but the democratic slate does not recognize that city.

MISS LYFORD TAKES UP WORK

Head Resident of Social Settlement Assumes Her Duties in the Omaha Colony.

Miss Winifred Lyford, who is the head resident of the Social Settlement of Omaha, arrived in the city Tuesday to take up her new duties here. The board of directors of the Social Settlement held a meeting at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning to hear the report of the committee on location and house. It was previously decided to try to get a house on the south side of the city near William street. Arrangements have been completed for the house at 1425 South Fourteenth street, and the house committee composed of Mrs. Edgar Scott, Mrs. Shannon and Miss Faith Potter, has gone to work and will have the house furnished and ready for occupancy within a week or two days.

OMAHA MUST FIGHT FOR CUT
Local Jobbers Not In on Fifteen Per Cent Rate Reduction.

WILL HAVE TO GO INTO COURT
Commissioner Clark Says Rehearing is Unlikely and Advises Chicago Association to Bring Action.

From all indications Omaha wholesalers and jobbers will not get the benefit of the reduction of 15 per cent offered in the freight rates from the Atlantic seaboard to Missouri river points, until after a hard fight in the courts.

E. E. Clark of the commission, who wrote the decision in the Missouri river rate case, is quoted as saying in Grand Rapids, Mich., Monday that the commission would not likely grant a rehearing in the case. He advised the Chicago Commercial association either to appeal to the courts on its own account or join the railroad in doing so.

The reduction means a saving of $20,000 per annum to the wholesalers and jobbers of Omaha. It means about $50,000 saving to the Missouri river dealers. Chicago has been profiting by the disproportionate rate against the Missouri river cities, as well as Minneapolis and St. Paul. The latter cities stepped out of the fight, when the commission held that the Twin Cities were entitled to a rate lower than the Missouri river cities. But Chicago stepped in when the reduction was made, as a large amount of the cut fell between the Missouri river and Chicago.

The Chicago Commercial association is quoted in special dispatches as telling Commissioner Clark that the result of the commission's ruling would mean that millions of dollars in trade would be transferred from Chicago to Missouri river cities.

COMMERCIAL CLUB GETS HOOK
Goes After Many Prominent Business Men Who It Thinks Ought to Join.

Not all the business men in Omaha belong to the Commercial club nor participate in its work, as shown by a booklet just published by the club which bears the title, "Get Out of the Eligibles into the Roster."

The membership committee of the club went out the booklets Tuesday evening Wednesday morning one application came in. It was accompanied by a check and was from J. L. Livesey, chief clerk in the offices of the American Smelting and Refining company. The membership committee believes it has captured the first one of about 200 members it intends to secure. The booklet shows those who do not belong to the committee believes should join. Much to the astonishment of many business men there are eight wholesale grocers in the list who have never affiliated with the Commercial club. Beginning alphabetically there are fourteen automobile dealers for whom the committee is looking, sixteen architects, five brick manufacturers, fifty-four retail coal dealers, fifty-eight druggists and twenty implement dealers.

"The fields are truly white unto the harvest," said L. M. Talmage, chairman of the membership committee, as he looked down a list of lawyers a foot long. "There are eight ice companies and two columns of physicians, a column of retail butchers and thirty printing houses."

The basis of membership is an admission fee of $5 and $20 a year dues.
