

FIGHT FIRE ALL NIGHT

Flames Along Shore of Lake Superior Dying Out. SITUATION IS MUCH BETTER. Town of Hibbing is Saved After Long Struggle. ALL BUSINESS IS SUSPENDED.

Duluth Opens Relief Fund for Benefit of Homeless. GRAND MARAIS IN DANGER. Little Village is Entirely Shut Out from Communication and Loss of Life is Feared.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 9.—It was a night of terror on the range, and one of deep anxiety in Duluth, but today conditions appear to have changed for the better.

All yesterday afternoon and last night fires threatened half a dozen of the larger towns on the range. Hibbing fought almost persistent fires from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until late last night. At 4 o'clock Duluth was asked for assistance and a fire engine was made ready for shipment by a special train. A telephone message later told it was dangerous for shipment.

Similar experiences are reported from a dozen other range towns, but so far as is known there have been no others destroyed. Bovey had as hard a fight as Hibbing and the residents of Colorado, two miles away had to go to their assistance. All business was suspended, the schools closed and citizens after packing a few valuables ready to flee at a moment's notice, fought the fires all night.

At Aurora, Nashauk, Buhl, Krenshall and several smaller towns and villages the same story was reported.

Fires Are Dying Out. This morning what reports have been received from the busy fire fighters are more optimistic. The wind is dying down and the fires appear to be gradually burning themselves out. Great vigilance is still necessary, however.

The most dramatic incidents of the entire fire promise to develop around Grand Marais. The steamer Gopher, the United States gunboat, carrying fifty members of the naval militia, left last night for Grand Marais to rescue the settlers along the north shore. The little village is entirely shut off from communication by means of telephone or telegraph and it will be twenty-four hours at least before anything is heard from them. The passengers of the last boat reported that the fires were pushing toward the lake and gradually bounding in the inhabitants of the little village, comprising about 600 people, mostly fishermen and Indians. There are also many settlers along the lake shores. If the fires sweep right up to the lake shore the loss of many lives, although the people could save themselves from actual cremation by taking refuge on the beach.

The Gopher carried provisions and clothing and will pick up the settlers who are found to be homeless. The men will help fight the fires at Grand Marais if the village is not already destroyed.

Relief Fund Growing. The Duluth relief fund has now passed the $50,000 mark and is rapidly growing. All the immediate wants of the sufferers have been cared for. The range railroads belonging to the steel corporation are carrying all supplies free of charge and running specials whenever needed. The corporation and its officers has also contributed nearly $15,000 in cash toward the fund. The name is by no means out of danger as yet. As stated above, the reports this morning are more favorable, but a change of the wind or an increase in its velocity might cause them to break forth with renewed violence and every moment it is feared that a town will be reported ablaze.

WARM DAYS HELP THE CORN. Weather Just the Kind to Develop the King of Nebraska Products.

The quality of corn in Nebraska is being settled by the dry, warm weather the state has been having for the last week, the quantity having been settled before, according to the crop and soil report of the Harrington road. The estimate for the Wyoming division is given at 80 per cent of the average crop, which is higher than any previous estimate this year. The estimate for the Lincoln division has been lowered to 80 per cent of the average crop.

Fall plowing and seeding has progressed well and in some places the plowing is finished and the seeding done. The ground is getting somewhat dry, so that little more plowing or seeding will be done until more rain falls.

The farmers of Wyoming are busy threshing with a good yield. Oats threshing is also still in progress, with oats turning out well. Corn is reported in good condition at all places where corn is grown, with a good crop reported. Potatoes are nearly all matured and digging has started and there will be a large crop on all divisions. The meadows and pastures are still in good condition, but need rain.

LILLEY NOMINATED GOVERNOR. Congressman Selected by Republicans Over Protests.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 8.—The republican state convention met here today and nominated Congressman George L. Lilley for governor. The attitude of the manufacturers, who at a meeting here yesterday, adopted resolutions protesting against the nomination of Congressman Lilley as "injurious to the best interests of Connecticut and disastrous to the supremacy of the republican party in the state," was a matter of grave concern to the party leaders.

John H. Light of Norwalk, in nominating Representative Lilley, said that Mr. Lilley had shown his courage in refusing to sign a sick bed to refuse to retract anything he had done in the submarine inquiry.

Other names presented were Lieutenant Governor Everett J. Lake and Governor Woodruff.

Lilley received 402 votes out of 877 cast on the first ballot.

Frank B. Weeks of Middletown was nominated for lieutenant governor by proclamation.

EXAMINER FOR BUCK CASE

Judge Gould Appoints Albert Harper to Listen to Evidence.

COMPERS AND MITCHELL ANSWER. Alleged New Issue Has Been Raised Whether Court Has Acted Within Limits Prescribed by Justice.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—In the case of the contempt proceedings against Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, in connection with the Buck Stove and Range company, today Judge Gould decided to appoint an examiner to take testimony, and William Herbert Smith was designated to perform that service.

In their answers to the petition of the Buck Stove and Range company to have Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor punished for contempt on the charge of violating the injunction, Gompers and Mitchell joined them from continuing the boycott against the stove company by publishing the name of that company in the "We don't patronize list," which was filed today in the supreme court of the District of Columbia, the three defendants named asked that they be allowed to testify for the purpose of taking testimony.

For the most part Mr. Gompers admits the correctness of the quotations from his speeches, interviews and editorials, but he declares that none of them were intended to be in contempt of any decree of the court. The principal charge refers to criticisms of the injunction which were made by Mr. Gompers in an editorial published in the Federationist in February, 1904, in which he characterized the injunction as an invasion of the liberty of the press and of the right of free speech, and further said it would be impossible to comply with all its terms.

New Issue Raised by Court. Replying to this charge Mr. Gompers, Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Morrison united in saying, in part:

"In answer to the seventeenth paragraph of the petition this respondent says that the editorial therein referred to is only to be understood properly by being read in its entirety and the respondent, for the full contents thereof, refers to the file of this case. He declines to answer the charge contained in any respect the contempt of court or that it was in any degree disrespectful to the court or to any officer of the government and that the order and decree were never properly intended to be disobeyed by any citizen of an American citizen, but only intended to prevent the doing of acts which would be injurious to the public interest and to the benefit of the men who work in shops."

The date and hour for the beginning of the convention was chosen with an eye to mysticism, being the ninth day of the ninth month, at 9:09 a. m.

Today's business session was short and of a perfunctory nature. Upon adjournment the delegates embarked aboard the steamer "Theodore Roosevelt" for a pleasure trip to Michigan City and return. A banquet, to begin also at 9:09, is scheduled for the evening. The feature of the gathering will be the "ambalming on Friday of East Supreme Bank John S. The Hoo Hoo organization, with its motto, "Health, Happiness and Long Life," was founded by Bolting Arthur Johnson of Chicago at Gordon, Ark., in 1892. It has one fixed meeting a year and is governed by the "supreme nine," consisting of the snark of the universe and eight other officers. There are fifty past snarks, who constitute the House of the Ancients. The membership includes lumber dealers, railroad traffic officials and newspaper men.
