AUTO COLLISION IS FATAL

Mrs. Samuel Woodward Has Fractured Skull and Cannot Survive.

SEVERAL OTHERS ARE INJURED

Machine Driven by F. S. Everest, in Trying to Pass, Strikes Two Buggies and Occupants Are All Thrown Out.

An automobile accident occurred last night which likely will prove fatal to Mrs. Samuel Woodward, 1008 Avenue I, and in which several others were more or less injured. The accident happened at twenty-first street and Broadway.

Both buggies were overturned and the occupants thrown out. The automobile passed over the body of Wright, but fortunately he was not dangerously hurt. Mrs. Woodward started to pass the Wright rig. Just at this time an automobile owned and being driven by Frank S. Everest was coming west on Broadway. He attempted to pass between the two buggies and as a result the automobile collided with both of them.

FARMERS HELP THE AUDITORIUM

Plan to Use It for a Stock Sales Pavilion and Market House.

The fund for the proposed auditorium and stock sales building has now passed the $20,000 mark. The two committees which canvassed the county adjacent to the city Wednesday secured subscriptions aggregating over $2,000. The committee, headed by Paul C. DeVoi, obtained $1,450, while that headed by Dr. H. B. Jennings secured $1,200.

The committee in charge propose to raise $25,000 as a starter and when this amount is subscribed it is the intention to go ahead with the details of the building. Architect F. E. Cox stated yesterday that the plans for the building, with the exception of a few minor details, were practically complete. He was waiting, he explained, for the building and grounds committee to get together and decide upon a few of the unsettled points before finishing the plans. In order to get these preliminaries settled a meeting of the building and grounds committee has been called for this evening at the rooms of the Commercial club.

CANNON ANSWERS GOMPERS

Speaker Opens His Campaign for Re-election at His Home Town.

LABOR ISSUES ARE DISCUSSED

Attention of Union Men Called to Difference in Labor Laws in Democratic and Republican States.

DANVILLE, Ill., Sept. 11.—Speaker J. G. Cannon last night opened the campaign for re-election to congress in his home town. Almost his entire address of nearly two hours was devoted to the labor question. He paid his respects to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who spoke here on Labor day and attacked Mr. Cannon, inviting union workmen to vote against him.

Mr. Cannon stated he would never vote in congress for the boycott and some other things demanded by Gompers, including an anti-injunction law that would make fish of one and fowl of another. Mr. Cannon was greeted by an audience of 5,000. He was escorted from his home to the Danville club, an organization that has taken an active part in every campaign here for twenty years.

Speaker Cannon said in part: I appeal from Mr. Gompers' attempted domination of myself and others in congress. Especially I appeal to that body of fair-minded men, untroubled by the bettering of their condition, who would not be misled by the demagogues who differ from that which applies to all other classes of people.

Mr. Cannon then referred to his opponent, Mr. Bell, and noticed that Mr. Bell approved Mr. Gompers in order to gain the labor leader's support. Mr. Cannon then turned to his support of the special friends of labor. He pointed out that John Sharp Williams had said that a party's reputation had not alone of its platform declarations, but of its actions. Mr. Cannon asked what the democratic party had done for labor. He said that of the statutes for the benefit of labor, the most had been passed when the republicans were in control. He cited many labor laws passed by the republicans.

Look to the Record. If the working man wants a further improvement of his condition, he should look to the record of the republican party. He said that the republican party had passed many laws for the benefit of labor, but that the democratic party had done nothing for labor. He said that the republican party had passed many laws for the benefit of labor, but that the democratic party had done nothing for labor.

Mr. Cannon then took up the claim of Mr. Bryan to the heirship to the political republican administration. He said that Mr. Bryan could find any similarity between himself and President Roosevelt. He went on to point out that Bryan had started or finished during his administration and pointed out that Bryan had been opposed to Mr. Roosevelt on every issue that had arisen in this country. He said that Mr. Roosevelt had been distinguished by his nervous energy in doing things, while Mr. Bryan had fought the dragons of his own hallucinations and created an aqueous status and been as devoted a crusader as Don Quixote, but he had never shown any inherited qualities that would justify his claim to be the heir of the direct and indomitable Theodore Roosevelt or to the practical business administration of the republican party.

FORAKER CALLS UPON TAFT Senator and Judge Discuss Plans for Campaign.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 11.—The call of Senator Foraker to the offices of Judge Taft in the Sinton hotel, the half hour conference which followed and the statements of cordiality by each party to the conference, constituted the new feature of the day at Taft headquarters. "We had a very pleasant personal talk," said Senator Foraker, on leaving at 10 o'clock. "Yes, we talked about politics, about nothing but politics, you might say."

"There is nothing to say, except that we repeated what we said at Toledo," was Judge Taft's comment. He added: "We discussed the general aspects of the campaign. Senator Foraker said he wanted to do all he could to bring about republican success and that when I needed him I could call upon him. The senator is to take an active part in the campaign."

Mr. Taft expressed the desire that reports of the interview should contain no reference to a "peace pact" as he laughingly remarked there had never been any interruption of peace personally between himself and Senator Foraker. One thousand citizens of Greenfield, Ind., will be addressed here next Tuesday by Judge Taft, and on Saturday night, the 16th instant, he will meet the Norwood Republican club in the assembly hall of the Sinton hotel. Norwood is an industrial suburb of Cincinnati.

The candidate had another busy day with local callers, and important matters which he conducted through the telephone, telegraph and mail. In the afternoon he attended the funeral of the late John G. Emery, a long-time resident of Cincinnati and an old friend.

W. S. Taylor, president of the Ohio society of Philadelphia, extended a formal invitation in person to Judge Taft today to be the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the society in January. Mr. Taylor incidentally had this political view to present to Judge Taft: "As far as I can understand the political situation, republican success is endangered by a feeling of coexistence that seems to have pervaded even the so-called doubtful states."

COLORADO DEMOCRATS AT WORK
