that it be set at least as high as $7.00 in view of the developments.

This was the bond fixed and was promptly signed by F. H. Davis and Charles E. Davis himself, the party leaving the court room with the attorneys for Davis.

Attorney W. F. Gurley intimated that Davis would want the preliminary hearing and would not waive examination.

The sidewalk in front of the police station was crowded with curious persons, detectives, police officers, attorneys and newspaper men in anticipation of the visit of Davis and his prominent brothers to the station.

Davis Not Excited.

F. H. Davis and Latham Davis, brothers of the man charged with the killing of Dr. Rustin, walked to the station a few minutes before Charles E. Davis and Attorney Isaac E. Condon, arrived. They also walked and went at once to the office of the police clerk, where the warrant was read to Charles Davis a few minutes before 10 o'clock.

When the sidewalk in front of the station was reached, there was a snapping of cameras and Latham Davis started toward one of the snappers as though he was about to confiscate the black box. The photographer "ducked" and shut up the machine.

Dr. Lord is Present.

Dr. John P. Lord, who furnished the police department with the description of a man whom he saw walking east on Farnam street as he hurried to the Rustin home early last Wednesday morning, went to the police station with Chief of Police Donahue. He went both to see Charles E. Davis and to be ready to give his testimony in the event the preliminary hearing was held immediately after the arraignment of Davis. Sgt. Dr. Lord returned to his office when he learned the hearing would be set for some date in the future. After saying Davis resembled the man he saw on his way to the Rustin home.

Robert Cowell, police commissioner, was at the station Friday morning. He talked to Dr. Lord and waited until it was learned the hearing would not be held Friday.

Charles E. Davis was allowed to go on his own bonds, as it is said he is possessed of some property himself. It is said he has a small fortune worth probably $75,000 which is in the First National bank, though nothing could be learned as to Davis' real financial standing. It is said, however, he has enough money of his own to defend himself on the charge preferred against him.

Mrs. Abbie Rice, the woman who gave the sensational testimony which implicated Davis in the tragedy, is still in the matron's charge at the police station. County Attorney English said:

"As Mrs. Rice has no plans, she has consented of her own free will to remain with the matron until the preliminary hearing of Davis. She is not held on any charge against her own will. She has told me that she is perfectly contented to stay with the matron."

Most every detective of the police department was in front of the rail Friday morning when Davis was brought into court, and looked the prisoner over carefully. Chief of Police Donahue said no effort would be overlooked and he has detailed the best men in the department to prepare evidence for the preliminary hearing.

One Alibi Witness.

Among the witnesses that are expected to establish an alibi for Charles E. Davis as to his whereabouts early Tuesday morning September 2, is Frank Graham, auditor at the Omaha National bank. Mr. Graham lives at the Chatham and it is expected to prove by him that he heard Davis in his room at 2 o'clock that morning, having been awakened by a disturbance Davis was making in his room. Mr. Graham declined to talk about the matter on the advice of one of Mr. Davis' attorneys.

EMPTY SHELL AND THREE MEN

Discharged Cartridge Found and Story Related by Becker Family.

Near a seat at Fortth and Dodge streets, a man, who is said to be thoroughly responsible, found an empty 20-caliber cartridge Thursday morning and took it to W. L. Selby, a member of the coroner's jury in the Rustin case, thinking Mr. Selby was the proper person to receive the shell. Mr. Selby will turn it over to the police. He said in regard to the matter:

"While I do not attach much importance to the empty shell, it shows a disposition on the part of people to furnish all possible evidence to throw light on the Rustin mystery. If other people would disclose every material fact, not rumors, which they know, it might be possible to definitely fix responsibility for the death of Dr. Rustin."

Mr. Selby said he would not make known the name of the person who found the shell and thought people who brought in such things should be protected from notoriety in connection with the case unless they were needed as witnesses.

Members of the family of J. A. Becker, Forty-first and Dodge streets, say they heard noises back of their house on the morning of the Rustin tragedy and the young daughter of Mr. Becker, Florence, 18 years old, says she saw three men come out of the weeds back of their house and go north on Forty-first street about 2 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Becker and their daughter all heard the noises and got up and looked out, but could distinguish nothing, though Mrs. Becker sat by the rear window for twenty minutes, she says. This was at 1:35 in the morning. The noises continued, but as there seemed to be no trouble Mrs. Becker, as well as her husband and daughter, retired.

An hour later, or 2 o'clock, the daughter, Florence, got up again to get a drink, she says, and, going into the bath room, which faces west on Forty-first street, saw three men come out of the shadow of the trees back of the house, south, and go past the house going north.

"There is a gas lamp on the corner there and I could see the men plainly," said Florence Becker last evening. "They all had their coats off, but as they went past the house they put them on. Two of the men were in the shadow cast by the third and I could not see them very well. I could not see his face very well."

"I thought at the time that the thick-set man I saw was the same man I saw about noon the day before," Miss Florence continued. "This man laid down on the grass in the rear of those houses there," and she pointed to two houses fronting on Forty-first, next to Farnam street.

"I was uncommonly interested in the noises that early morning because we had reason to believe that someone was trying to steal our chickens," said Mrs. Becker. "For that reason I listened a long time, but decided that the noises were made by a couple of men who were drunk and were vomiting and sobbing off. I would have notified the police right away were it not that I felt a little foolish, you might say, about bothering them. A short time ago we heard noises in our chicken house and we called up the police and two officers were sent out, but nothing worth was found. For this reason I did not feel like bothering them again."

talked with my daughter and myself and took down everything we said."

The Becker home is two blocks due north of the Rustin home. The Rustin home is on the north side of Farnam and the Becker home on the south side of Dodge street. Douglas, the intervening street, is not cut through east and west and the space between the two houses is vacant, excepting one house fronting on Forty-first, which cuts off the view on one house from another.

"L" COLLISION IN BROOKLYN

Firemen Chop Bodies Out of Wreck, One Car Being Entirely Telescoped.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—At least two persons were killed and many are believed to have been injured in a rear and collision of two elevated trains at Myrtle avenue and North Oxford street, Brooklyn, this afternoon. The first car of the rear train was telescoped by the rear car of the leading train. Firemen are chopping out the dead and injured.

DEATH RECORD

Silas Corey, 1a, Sept. 10.—(Special).—Silas Corey, a prominent figure in the development of Webster county for forty-three years, died Wednesday morning of old age.

Had Mr. Corey lived until September 28 he and his wife would have passed the sixty-fifth wedding anniversary. Mr. Corey came to this county in 1865 and opened the first permanent coal mine in the county. He was one of the largest operators in Lehigh until the mines were worked out. Mr. Corey was one of the most prominent agriculturalists of the state and was zealous in spreading that belief. He had a room in his residence dedicated to spiritualism.

MOTHER AND CHILD

Both Fully Nourished on Grape-Nuts.

The value of this famous food is shown in many ways. In addition to what might be expected from its chemical analysis, Grape-Nuts food is made of whole wheat and barley, is thoroughly baked for many hours and contains all the wholesome ingredients in these cereals.

It contains also the phosphate of potash grown in the grains, which Nature uses to build up brain and nerve cells. Young children require proportionately more of this element because the brain and nervous system of the child grows so rapidly.

A Ya. mother found the value of Grape-Nuts in not only building up her own strength but in nourishing her baby at the same time. She writes:

"After my baby came I did not recover health and strength, and the doctor said I could not nurse the baby as I did not have nourishment for her, besides I was too weak."

"He said I might try a change of diet and see what that would do, and recommended Grape-Nuts food. I bought a package and used it regularly. A marked change came over both baby and I."

"My baby is now four months old, is in fine condition, I am nursing her and doing all my work and never felt better in my life. There's a reason."

PROTESTANTS KEEP UP FIGHT

Continue Opposition to Appearance of Host in London Streets.

APPEAL TO HOME SECRETARY

Claim Law of Land Will Be Broken Should Procession Be Allowed—Alliance Stir Up Trouble.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Protestant alliance, continuing its opposition to the appearance of the host in the procession to be held in this city next Sunday in connection with the Eucharistic congress, today telegraphed a appeal to the home secretary to prevent the carrying of the host and the wearing of vestment on this occasion. The appeal says:

"The Protestant feeling in London and the province, as you doubtless are aware, has increased enormously since Tuesday and the country is now looking to you to prevent the law of the land being broken."

The appeal concludes with these words: "Any other course will involve grave danger to the public safety. If riot disorders should result the responsibility will rest with the home office, which has had ample warning of the state of feeling in London."

Some sensation has been caused here by the publication of a letter received by the secretary of the alliance and signed by a man claiming to be secretary of the Catholic Anti-Bigotry society in which the leading members of the alliance are threatened with death if the procession is interfered with. The writer is supposed to be a crank.

The first evening meeting of the congress bade fair to fulfill the expectation of Cardinal Vanuelli "That the congress will mark an epoch in the religious life of England."

Albert hall was crowded and the enthusiasm displayed exceeded all expectations. As the papal legate, preceded by other dignitaries of the church, slowly walked across the hall to the platform the vast audience rose, cheering frantically, a tribute to his service in organizing the congress. Very impressive was the moment when the great audience joined in singing the Catholic hymn, "Hail Queen of Heaven."

Resolutions pledging devotion to the blessed sacrament and unalterable fidelity to the apostolic see were carried by acclamation.

The duke of Norfolk delivered the principal address of the evening and the legate, in responding, expressed pleasure at this manifestation of faith given him, and said that it would bring the greatest joy to the pope on the occasion of his jubilee.

The Most Rev. Bruchesi, bishop of Montreal, in declaring that the protest of the Protestant societies was not a national one, said that the congress marked the re-entrance of Catholicism in its old kingdom. Three days hence the holy sacrament, hitherto only carried under priests' robes, would be borne publicly through the streets of London, as the result of this congress. He would cherish the hope that the whole of England would return to the Catholic faith. The meeting closed with a blessing by the papal legate.

FRY RECEIVER FOR BOOTH

District Manager Takes Charge of Omaha Branch of Fish Concern.

Thomas A. Fry, district manager for the A. Booth & Co. interests in Omaha, was yesterday afternoon appointed receiver for the Nebraska branch of that concern, and his bond was fixed at $25,000.

The value of the personal and real property owned by the concern in Omaha is $200,000 and includes the big cold storage house at 1208 Leavenworth street, from which the products of the concern were distributed through the Nebraska and western territory.

The appointment of Mr. Fry as receiver was made by Judge W. H. Munger of the United States circuit court as a result of the receivership proceedings instituted against the company at Chicago Thursday.

The complainants in the case are the Linen Thread company of New York and Alfred E. Booth of Baltimore, and on their plea W. J. Chalmers, president of the Commercial National bank of that city, was appointed receiver of the Illinois department of the concern.

John L. Kennedy is the Omaha agent for the complainants. The A. Booth & Co. concern is the largest dealer in fish, oysters, lobsters and shrimps in the country. Its headquarters is in Chicago. The Chicago petition alleges that the liabilities of the company are $2,000,000 and its assets $5,000,000.

The business of the company will continue as usual at Chicago, Omaha and elsewhere, regardless of the receivership.
