Inaugural Display Fall Garments, Fabrics and Millinery in All Their Autumnal Splendor, Fresh from Fashion's Domain—Monday, September 14th.

The great Bennett store throws open its doors tomorrow morning to the Omaha public with the invitation to visit the first complete showing of the new and the beautiful Fall Merchandise. We have departed from the time-worn custom of elaborate display of the artificial, the fuss and the flowers, and present in their stead a store resplendent with all the glories of the bright hued autumnal shadings of the world's choicest millinery, dress fabrics, silks, garments and requisites. The millinery exhibit is a revelation of the most approved New York and Parisian ideas. Mr. and Mrs. Hand, who have conducted this department with such singular success, are again at the helm and promise many surprises for all who come. Big hats predominate. But there's a becoming model to meet any requirement. The "Directoire" style is, of course, the reigning fad with new mushrooms and novel turbans largely represented. Prices too, are as unusual as the showing itself. Prices have always been moderate in Bennett's millinery and these conditions prevail again this season.

Dress Goods and Silks in Wide Variety

A most satisfying and complete assortment of dress fabrics is well nigh impossible. Every new fabric idea, every new weave, every new color. The silk stocks are supreme. The new satin Majestique, Messalines, etc., in the new peacock, catwaba, taupe, claret, canard and sapphire, including all the pastel and street shades are shown.

Prices Are Most Invitingly Low

Right at the outset of the new season let us remind you of this fact. It's the one feature that distinctly appeals to all. We do not indulge in prohibitive prices. We want the volume of business and make it a point to always have the most attractive values. Whether you buy or not you will be cordially welcome. Come.

Exceptional Values in Dress Goods

We feature for the inaugural display Monday several extraordinary dress goods bargains. Want you to know and acquaint yourself with the matchless opportunities this department holds out to you.

The new fabrics are captivating, the chevrons, herringbones, the striped worsteds, the superb broadcloths are now shown at their best. The color range is most complete. Easy choosing from such a comprehensive variety.

Panama Special—Very fine strictly all wool 56-inch Panamas that no other store is duplicating under $1.50; either soft or waxy texture, blue, brown or black. Monday 89c

Black Sicilian—44 and 50 inches wide, positively worth $1.00 and $1.25; very lustrous, most serviceable fabrics for Fall skirts; Monday surprisingly priced at, yard 58c

Black Granite Cloth—A heavy fabric for suits, has a pebble weave and almost indestructible; it's all wool and a deep rich black, 48 inches wide and regularly sells for $1.79. Monday we again demonstrate our underselling ability by offering it at, yard—69c

Mannish Suitings—The new Fall styles clearly show a trend towards mannish cloths for women's wear; mixtures, striped worsteds, etc. We have over one hundred handsome patterns bought from a tailoring house at 40c on the dollar, 56-inch goods worth to $2.50, at, yard 69c

Broadcloths

Particular attention is directed to the broadcloths. These are the elite of the dress goods family; rich, refined and very beautiful in the new autumnal hues, and pastel shades. They are soft and clingy and lend themselves suitably to close fitted long graceful lines as demanded by the Directoire modes. Highest qualities at $1.25 $1.50 $2.00 $2.50 and $3.00 yard.

Bennett's Imposing Assemblage of Authoritative Modes

Never has any season in the women's garment section opened more auspiciously at Bennett's. This great department enlarged and strengthened with the broadest range of authoritative styles ever assembled here is indicative of its marked success.

Monday, the inaugural exhibit will be of great significance to every follower of fashion. The new styles are now set, approved and adopted. In the illustration shown we show you but twelve striking new models, there are scores of others. The care and study that the Bennett organization has expended to make this day the greatest in the store's history will be ready for your approval when the curtains are drawn Monday morning.

SUITS FOR $15—We doubt not, this is the best assortment of low priced suits you have ever seen. Broadcloth suits in every desirable color, with 36-inch satin lined coats and pleated or gored skirts, some tailored, others have trimming of satin bands. It's the surprise of the season, at $15

SUITS AT $19.50—Fine broadcloth models in most effective styles, smart 36-inch slashed coats; satin trimmed collar, edges, etc. and finished with buttons. The skirts are pleated and have a wide loose fold $19.50

ONE-OF-A-KIND SUITS—The real exclusive models of which we buy but one of a kind are shown in great variety. "Directoire" tendencies dominate the suit situation. Tight-fitting sleeves, the long graceful lines of the coats, the ample lapels, the clinging paneled skirts are decidedly new, refined and becoming. $45 and $35

SUITS AT $25—Many different styles at this price. Some of new worsteds, fancy stripe suiting, etc., great range of coat designs, Empire effects, scalloped edges, etc. Graceful pleated kilted and multi-gored flare skirts. $25

SUITS AT $29.50—The picture illustrates the character and styles of most of these models. Novelty cloths in great profusion fashioned in exquisite designs and exclusively brought out here. High class tailoring is a feature. Values to $40.00, at $29.50

EVENING DRESSES—And costumes; a notable display of charming one-piece Princess crowns of satin Majestique, messalines, volles and albatross, in all the pastel shades. Some made entirely of Val lace and ribbons; new Mosquetaire sleeves and lace girdele effects are features. $50 $45 and $35

SKIRTS—Panama Skirts of fine quality, with four rows of taffeta at bottom, pleated models in black, brown, navy, for $4.95

PANAMA SKIRTS—In new coat effect, front panel with two rows of buttons, graduated 8-inch loose fold giving it the Directoire vogue. $6.50

DIRECTOIRE SKIRTS—Handsome black satin Majestique models; opens on side; rows of large self buttons, with graduated folds at bottom; another line made of chiffon, broadcloth, opening on side front, both smooth close fitted effects and decidedly ultra fashionable $15.00 $17.50 $20.00

LONG FITTED COATS—Of black broadcloth, lined throughout with satin, velvet collars, buttons all the way down front, beautiful fitted models, are remarkably inexpensive, at $15

WAYS OF EUROPEAN HOTELS

American Globe Trotter Thinks the Best of Them Behind the Times.

"I must confess that I don't like the hotels of continental Europe despite their admitted excellencies," said Colonel E. H. Buckner of Wilmington, Del. "I was in Switzerland lately for three weeks, and the hotels of that country are about as good as Europe affords. Nevertheless, I did not get used to them, and don't believe I'd ever really like them. No hotel seems to me as operated on right principles where the porter is about the most important personage in the establishment. This is the case in all the Swiss places. After that fancy-dress shows you to a room, as elegantly dressed in gilet in silk hat and frock coat comes upstairs for a solemn conference. He is the clerk, but wise enough looking to be a judge advocate general, and you breathe a sigh of relief when he departs. "Another thing I would never get used to is the lack of a lobby. None of the Swiss hotels, except at Lucerne, have one, and if you wish to smoke you generally go outdoors. Their little imitations of breakfast, where you get nothing except rolls and a cup of coffee, didn't suit my American tastes either, but it's a stupendous task to make those Swiss caterers provide you with a good substantial United States breakfast. The cooking is first rate, and prices a bit more moderate than in this country. The entire system of eating all through Switzerland is table d'hote. Breakfast is usually 30 cents, lunch 50 cents, and dinner $1.20, but at dinner they bring on course after course till you wonder if it will ever end. It is a fact that they will often serve you five different kinds of meat, each a separate and independent course, and then, perhaps, along will come a dish of beans without any accompanying food, and next to that, as like as not, a plate of ice cream. The serving of all these courses is conducted with a mighty formality, and at the end of each there is a loud tap of a bell to inform the waiter that a new act is on and to clear away the dishes. "All in all, take my word for it, the hotels of this country have got all similar institutions of foreign lands beat to an ignominious frazzle."—Baltimore American.

A New Terror.

While in America societies are being formed for the suppression of street noises, Paris has added another to the terror of the streets. It is a new form of bicycle alarm. The bell and the horn have had their day, and now the favorite "avenue" consists of a sort of miniature tam-

NINE ELEPHANTS TO A MAN

Huge Ring of Big Game Secured by Nine Dutch Hunters in South Africa. To secure a bag of eighty-one elephants in these prosaic days will seem like a dream to most sportsmen, but the feat has been accomplished by J. W. Viljoen and eight other Dutch farmers in the Lomangundi district. The government has just thrown the district open for the destruction of elephants, and this enormous bag was made within sixty miles of the capital of Rhodesia, and near the railway.

Viljoen and his party pitched their camp at Marquadio, the center of the elephant district, and divided up into pairs—a fact which nearly led to a fatality, for going through the bush Viljoen encountered his first elephant, which he shot. As this fell another one crashed through the trees at the back of the hunter and pursued him, once striking the horse with his trunk, until Viljoen succeeded in reaching clearer ground, where he found himself thirty yards ahead of his pursuer. Slipping off his horse, he fired at the elephant, and killed it. One incident marred the sport, and that was the accidental shooting of a member of the party named Kloff. Kloff and three companions paired off and walked at a distance of about fifty yards apart, when Kloff and his friend suddenly saw two elephants. They fired, but only succeeded in shooting off a tusk of one of the animals, who promptly charged them. Kloff made in the direction of the man in front of him, and they, seeing the least chance through the bush behind them and ignorant of Kloff's whereabouts, fired at the elephant, and while one bullet dispatched the elephant, the other found a billet in Kloff's neck, killing him instantly. The party came back to the Transvaal the richer for 2,000 pounds of ivory and seven young elephants. The first one was captured when half grown. It was feeding with four grown elephants, all of which were shot, and then the little one, instead of running away, made for the hunters, two of whom seized its tail, while the two others hung on to each ear. And there was a tussle for half an hour, after which the elephant was rolled on its back and its feet tied with the horses' reins. It was then fastened to a tree, and the next day driven into camp. After a day or two of being so staid that its attentions were rather a nuisance, for it tried to tread on the hunters' toes, helped itself to all the available food, and would put its trunk into the cooking pots and take out anything it fancied, while it would follow the natives down to the stream for a drink. On the second day twenty elephants were shot and two little ones captured; Viljoen's unaided efforts accounted for eighteen of the twenty slain. These two elephants speedily became docile, and now that all the captives are in a proper kraal they have become quite acclimated to their new surroundings and are both playful and friendly.—Rhodesia Herald.
