AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Police Commission Busy Hearing Case of Alleged Lid Lifting.

CASE TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Packing Houses Have a Big Week and Men Get in Full Time in All Departments of the Plants.

The South Omaha Board of Fire and Police Commissioners met Saturday in special session to try the case of Gus A. Pearson, who runs a saloon at 350 Q street, for alleged selling of liquor on Sunday. August 20. Officer D. D. Ringer and Detective Shields made the arrests. The fact that half a dozen men were in the saloon at the time of the raid was testified to by the arresting officers. This fact was not denied by the defendant. He said he had just sold out a half interest of his saloon and was in the place with the other men only for the purpose of taking an inventory. This was corroborated by a contract showing the sale for $100 and the inventory sheets containing lists of the property. The board has a rule against partnerships in the saloon business in South Omaha. Only one man may hold a license and he is held responsible for the business.

First Week of School. The first week of school ends very satisfactorily for all concerned. Although it has been, as usual with the first week, a time of readjustment, in some buildings there is an unusually large increase while in others there was a decrease. The enrollment at the end of the past week was eighty-four less than the total for the corresponding week last year. Singular as it may seem Lincoln school opened with a hundred, thirteen less than last year, but Hawthorne, plus the enrollment at Garfield, whose territory was formerly included in the Hawthorne district, shows an increase. Jungmann, Brown Park, Washington, and Madison, all have a slight decrease. On the other hand, Highland, Corrihan, and Lowell all show an increase. This would also be true of West Side if the building was completed with its new building. The high school has an enrollment of 406 as compared with 364 at the end of the first week last year.

The above differences of attendance necessitate the following changes which go into effect tomorrow. The southern boundary of the Garfield district has been changed on the south from I street to J street, to relieve the crowded condition at Hawthorne, well as to give a fair quota of pupils to the six teachers in Garfield. The eighth grade at Jungmann has been closed, as but twelve pupils had reported for work at the close of last week. According to their residence, these pupils will attend Brown Park and Central eighth grades.

The new parochial school recently opened at 223 and U streets has affected the enrollment of four schools in that vicinity. Beginning with this week things will go a continuation of the hot weather would work a hardship on pupils and teachers, more nearly regular as they should, though not corrected and surgery. He also spent some time at Berlin and Vienna. He then made a tour of Europe and arrived in South Omaha Friday.

Business Men's Exhibition. The general committee of the South Omaha Business Men's exhibition held a meeting Friday evening. It was decided to meet every Tuesday and Friday at the Bohemian Catholic school, Twenty-second and U streets, at 7 p. m., and the members of the various committees are requested to attend the meeting. The program for Sunday, October 11, the first day of the exhibition, will be the South Omaha Business Men's and Fraternal Societies' day. Mayor Koutsky will open the exhibition at 2 p. m. October 11. The afternoon will be devoted to the district court Saturday by Benjamin H. Chedek against the supreme lodge of Royal Achates, Irving G. Bay-rick, the head of the order, Charles A. Epps, Emma L. Grinnell and Fremont C. Craig, officials in the supreme and local lodge to which Chedek belonged.

Big Week at Packing Houses. During last week the South Omaha packers all worked overtime. The receipts of cattle were liberal and the laborers desiring work were few. The price for the week ranged considerably higher than a week ago and trade was in general more active. It is apparent that there is much greater demand for dressed meat products.

Along with good prices for cattle, hogs were rather scarce and the prices soaring. $6.75 and $6.50 not being unusual for the prices. In fact, some of the packers have intimated that hogs were too high for any profit in buying them. The fresh meat trade is all that keeps the market up.

Sheep were liberally received during the first three days of the week. The receipts for the week exceeded the same week of last year by 20,000 and totaled 97,862. The year's receipts lack but a little of surpassing those of last year.

Trouble Over a Dog. Judge P. C. Caldwell reports the filing of a complaint in his court by Dr. T. H. Enor against Dr. S. Clark, a South Omaha druggist, for the alleged destruction of property. Clark shot and seriously wounded a dog belonging to the doctor some time ago. Instead of suing for the price of the dog the case is to be tried under the head of a misdemeanor. The defendant has furnished a bond and the hearing will be given September 22.

All-Stars Beat Country Club. The All-Star team of Omaha proved to be too good for the South Omaha club team yesterday afternoon and won by a score of 11 to 1. After a good game for six innings, the South Omaha team went into the air and never came down again. The game ended in a fast and furious manner. The victors made eight runs in the kinds of bad errors, assisted by three or four hits. In the ninth the victors made three more.

MALTED BARLEY is digested food. Hops are a tonic —also an aid to sleep. That's what you get in beer. That's why the doctor says "drink beer" when one lacks vitality.

Beer quiets the nerves, not because of the alcohol. There is only 3 1/2 per cent. of that. But because of the hops, for hops are soporific.

A bottle of Schlitz at bedtime induces sleep.

In every way the drinking of beer is good for you, providing the beer is pure. It is only the wrong beer that leads to bad after effects and to biliousness.

Schlitz beer is pure. We spend more on purity than on all other costs of our brewing. Even the air that cools it is filtered. And every bottle is sterilized.

There is all the good of beer, and none of the harm, in Schlitz.

Ask for the Brewery Bottling. Common beer is sometimes substituted for Schlitz. To avoid being imposed upon, see that the cork or crown is branded Schlitz.

OMAHA HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Innovation in the Lunch Room Saves Time and Much Confusion.

In the high school lunch room a railing has been set in line with the counters, forming a passageway through which the pupils and teachers pass while selecting their lunch. Each one is given a check for the amount of his purchase, which he pays for on leaving the room. This system is much better than all former ones as it saves much time and confusion.

With the support of the faculty foot ball at the Omaha High school has good prospects. A foot ball meeting was held last Wednesday, at which considerable enthusiasm was shown. The number of candidates and also the number of old men for the team this year exceeds all previous records.

The high school cadet battalion will begin drill Tuesday, under the supervision of Mr. Woolery, as Captain Oury, who was commandant last year, will not return before the 1st of October.

The first meeting of the various literary societies will be held on next Friday afternoon at the close of sixth hour.

NOTED HUSTLER FOR NEWS

Adventures and Experiences of News Editor of the Associated Press.

There is a new news editor in the Chicago office of the Associated Press and some of the facts of his career of preparation for the responsible post he occupies should be of interest to newspaper readers. The new news editor's name is Harry L. Beach and his experience is not extraordinary among those of the picked men of American journalism, yet it is worth noting because it is suggestive of the energy, resourcefulness and courage that characterize the daily task of providing the news that the reader receives with as little underment as attends his hearing a church bell ring or watching a summer shower.

Mr. Beach was born in Iowa, and he reported for the Chicago News, Tribune, Times and Globe before he joined the staff of the Associated Press in 1892. He was one of the Associated Press staff in Cuba during the war with Spain. He witnessed the three days of land fighting in front of Santiago, and his narratives, which were carried by the Associated Press dispatch boats to New York, contributed largely to the reputation gained by the service in covering the main events of the war. He witnessed and prepared the report of the land fighting by the marines at Guantanamo bay, during which engagement he received a bullet wound in the face, after pressing unexpectedly upon a force of Spanish soldiers.

He personally witnessed the burning of the Iroquois theater at Chicago in December, 1902, and, entering the burning structure during the panic, was able to indicate accurately in an early bulletin the awful death roll. He prepared a story of nearly 14,000 words that night, which passed over the Associated Press wires as fast as he wrote it.

The great flood at Mobile, in September, 1906, occurred while Mr. Beach was reporting the race riots at Atlanta. He took a train to Montgomery, and thence by a wrecking train to Hurricane, Ala., reaching there at 7 o'clock in the morning. From there into Mobile he walked and waded through the flooded districts, a distance of twenty-two miles, arriving there at 2 o'clock that afternoon. He obtained the first full story of the disaster, and taking a train to Meilan, 23 miles north, succeeded in reaching a telegraph wire in time to handle the story for the morning papers.

During the national political conventions of 1900, 1904 and 1908, he has been one of the principal writers of the running or "ketch" report of the proceedings of the conventions.

There is another sidelight on the newspaper trade in the circumstance by which Mr. Beach became news editor in the Chicago office. His predecessor, Gustavus P. English, who had held the post for fifteen years, died one hour after reaching his home from the recent Denver convention. Overwork at the convention had given the finishing stroke to what might otherwise have been an unimportant illness—Kansas City Star.
