TWO MORE ROADS IN LINE

Northwestern and Burlington Make Rates for Ak-Sar-Ben Carnival.

GREAT WESTERN ALSO HELPS

Decides to Restore Rates Originally Announced and Extends Scope of Territory in Which They Will Operate.

Friday evening the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy figuratively took off their hats made obedience to the king of Quivera and begged leave to announce they, too, would join the movement to give special rates for carnival week.

The action of the Northwestern was announced to C. H. Pickens in a telegram last night and now only the Union Pacific is holding out and the board of governors hope to secure the cooperation of this road. The Northwestern rates will apply to all branches terminating in Omaha and the field affected covers northern and northeastern Nebraska and western and northwestern Iowa.

L. W. Wakeley, general passenger agent of the Burlington, Friday night received a telegram from the Chicago offices stating that action on the original request of the board of governors of the Ak-Sar-Ben, filed last August, had been reconsidered and that a rate of a fare and a half would be granted from points in Nebraska and from points in western Iowa. Tickets will be sold from September 25 to October 2, the return limit being fixed at October 5.

Great Western Restores Rates. The local agent of the Great Western line has received official authority to place special Ak-Sar-Ben rates in effect, the announcement of which was made first of all the roads Friday. The Great Western, through the general passenger agent at St. Paul, Friday was instrumental in the movement looking to lower rates, which has culminated in the general action of all the lines so far except the Union Pacific. Great Western rates will take effect at a fare and a half as far as Osceola, 275 miles, and Mason City, 208 miles, and it will sell tickets from September 25 to 30, with the limit of return October 5.

The board of governors of Ak-Sar-Ben took the matter of rates up Friday with J. A. Ellis, general agent of the road in this territory, who at once communicated by long distance telephone with General Passenger Agent J. P. Elmer at St. Paul, who took it up with the Western Passenger association. It was this action that resulted in the reconsideration of the first rejection of the special rate and resulted Friday in the announcement of all the lines save the one mentioned. Word was received in Omaha Friday morning that the Rock Island had decided to give Omaha this for the round trip from the accustomed territory in Nebraska and Iowa for the Ak-Sar-Ben dates and Vice President Biddle also wired John C. Pitt, commercial agent of the Rock Island in Omaha, that the road would use every endeavor to have the rates made general so that Omaha would be able to enjoy the same rates as Lincoln, Des Moines, Topeka and Mitchell, S. D. In view of the amicable relations with the Rock Island the news was received with great satisfaction by the jobbers.

Why Application Was Turned Down. "You don't suppose there is anyone in Omaha but who thinks Omaha will get the reduced rates?" said one prominent railroad man Friday when asked what was being done in the matter of granting Omaha the rates. Chairman McLeod probably had to turn down the request for rates because of some opposition from roads not interested in Omaha, but now the lines centering in Omaha are getting together and I do not believe there is any doubt Omaha will get the rates.

LARGEST CROWD IS LOOKED FOR

Private Homes May Have to Aid the Hotels. "You ought to tell the people with rooms to rent to advertise their rooms in The Bee want ad column," said an attaché of Samson's office Friday morning. "This office is being swamped daily with requests for assistance in seeking rooms for Ak-Sar-Ben week and the only means we have is by reading the want ad columns. Ak-Sar-Ben will have more visitors this year than ever and it looks as though the people who have extra rooms will have to open their homes to help accommodate the crowds, despite the fact of our increased hotel facilities. To do this they should advertise in the want ad columns of The Bee."

COUNTY FAIR HAS LARGER SPACE

Farmers Will Be Given More Room on King's Highway. The county fair will have more space on the King's Highway this year than ever had. The Ak-Sar-Ben board of governors has annexed a new district to the carnival grounds. From Nineteenth to Twentieth street, Douglas street has been fenced off and provided with the necessary booths for the county exhibit. The agricultural society promises a more elaborate display this year than ever, and besides the board of governors is building the booths, which have been paid for in the past by the agricultural society, so that association will have more money to spend this year than ever. Hustlers have been going over the county seeking out some splendid products of the field for display, and their efforts have been rewarded by one of the best selections ever made in the west. As is well known, all kinds of vegetation and products grew abundantly this year and this will help make the Douglas county exhibit the best ever shown in the history of the association. In view of the approach of the National Corn exposition many of the farmers have made an especial effort with their corn this year, and the fair will get the benefit of these extra endeavors.

RIGGING AK-SAR-BEN BALLOONS

Force of Men is Getting Big Airships Ready for Carnival. In the old market house Samson has a force of men putting the two huge Ak-Sar-Ben balloons in shape for the balloon races during carnival week. These balloons will be sent into the air daily, and with their aviators will race from the carnival grounds as far as the air will carry them.

Airships and balloons are all the rage, and Samson does not intend to be without an airship, even though the carnival grounds may be crowded with all that any one person might wish to see.

Cowboy Deserts Girl.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Jack Phillips, a 20-year-old cowboy, is sought on a Laramie county warrant charging assault, his alleged victim being Mary Crosby, 15-year-old daughter of Matt Crosby, a wealthy ranchman of the Las Vegas district, New Mexico. The Crosby girl has been living here at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. J. Branch, and it is alleged that Phillips induced her to leave the Branch home over a week ago and go with him to a fifteenth street rooming house. Little regarding Phillips is known here. He was seen at Kimball, Neb. last evening and officers at a number of Nebraska towns along the Union Pacific have been requested to arrest him if located.
