WINNEBAGOES GO TO JAIL

Winnebagoes, whereupon Uncle Samuel stepped in, damed up the main irrigation ditch and laterals and captured the irrigation committee. United States Commissioner Sighnas at Tekamah did the rest and as the profits of the enterprise had not yet realized $300 each to the committee whereby to put up a cash bond, the quintet was brought down to Omaha by Deputy United States Marshal John Sides and clapped in the Douglas county jail, where they can hear if they cannot see the Ak-Sar-Ben doing.

The quintet of Winnebagoes will remain in jail until the federal grand jury meets in the latter part of October, unless released on bail in the meanwhile. This is Colonel Longtail's second offense of a like character within the past several months, he being out on bail for the first offense when he committed the second.

Joseph Longtail, Peter Sharpback, Andrew Sharpback and James Mallory of the ancient and honorable tribe of Winnebago Indians, have become involuntary guests of Sheriff Bralley's hostelry, through their irresistible inclination to raise the lid in defiance of the county option rules of the Winnebago reservation.

The thirsk of the average Winnebago is of that magnitude that no rules or customs can dissuade him from breaking the drouth. The atresaid Longtail, Sharpbacks, Kebo and Mallory it is alleged acted as an irrigation committee and undertook having success to supply the demands for firewater to the long suffering
