The executive committee of the State Teachers' association has completed the arrangements for the forty-third annual session November 4, 5 and 6.

Enthusiastic reports were received from the various chairmen of committees, particularly in regard to the attendance.

Thousands of American women in our homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty. In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo.

It is to these faithful women that LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND comes as a boon and a blessing.

NEBRASKA FROM DAY TO DAY

Quaint and Curious Features of Life in a Rapidly Growing State.

Proof Positive—Oh, no Cedar Dale, we are not dried up yet over here. You would not have thought so, if you had been here last Friday night—Mayflower News, Hartington Herald.

Query—We ate raw onions and called on a young lady. We had talked about five minutes when the mother came in and touched off some incense to windward of yours truly. What we are worried about is that the mother is so worried because we ate onions for supper or because they had cabbage for dinner—Norfolk Press.

Nature Fake—Charles Tatum of the north valley reports a rather unusual incident, which he saw under his observation the other day. His story is to the effect that a flock of wild geese which drifted down from the Canadas was attacked by a small chicken hawk, which he shot and secured on duty at that place. The wounded bird fell in the water and was secured by Tatum. The hawk escaped—Sutherland Free Lance.

MEXICAN DIET

Not Conducive to American Energy.

"After about thirteen years in Mexico, where I was on Mexican diet into which coffee and greasy food enter largely, I found that everything I ate distressed me," writes a man from our neighboring republic.

"Nervous break-down with pain in the heart caused me to give the matter up. After trying various stomach remedies without benefit, I found relief, at last, by eating Grape-Nuts and cream.

"I could digest Grape-Nuts, and the heart and nervous symptoms soon improved to such an extent that I could do some brain work and a fair amount of physical labor."

"When away from home I get out of sorts from eating wrong food, but at home a few days on Grape-Nuts puts me right again."

"I once worked 10 consecutive hours on a diet without much fatigue, by having a small box of Grape-Nuts in my pocket and eating a little dry, whenever I felt faint. I can now teach all day without fatigue, after a breakfast of Grape-Nuts and cream, stewed fruit, toast and Postum."

"That old dull feeling, when I tried to live on my former diet, has disappeared and the delightful sensation of being fully nourished is present now. And the smile on our 18 months old boy at a sight of a Grape-Nuts package is worth seeing."

people. I will not tell you that it is not your duty to indict all such offenders as have had anything to do with such maintenance, because it is your legal duty to do. However, I will not place a greater burden upon you than has been assumed by those charged with law enforcement and under whose tacit consent the system of their present proportions, which I deem much like exact justice enforcement if I should so instruct you in specific terms charged with duty to enforce the law, give the power to the cities to regulate such places they should be proceeded against and closed agreement. I feel much chagrined, laboring under the law of the state, to only at this time instruct you to induce any keeping such places in the residence district of either city referred to; and likewise anyone owning such places and knowingly letting the same for the purposes of assignment, or prostitution houses.

Intending to place your report before the next session of the legislature, I invite you therein to give your views as to the advisability of giving the city power to regulate places of the nature last referred to. It is your duty to inquire into and to report by your reports, to the court, the condition as you find it of law enforcement in the county, as well as to indict for each and every crime in specific instances. The chronically lawless are selfish without the least indifference, at least, of those charged with law enforcement. I take it for granted that in established communities the conditions are about what is desired by the people, and that the law is being enforced in a more efficient manner than in the past. As a further aid I hand you herewith the report of the two last grand juries and commend to your attention the topics therein given prominence, with the suggestion that you consider whether or not improvement has been made along the lines indicated, and particularly as to the presence of men with their own on-hand and auctioneer's assignments in the residence district of Omaha. It is your duty to make a full and complete inquiry of the findings made. Your function here is most important and I commend you to your duty in that regard.

BERGE IS OFF THE TICKET

a democrat and a populist, with the hope of getting a larger total vote than Berge. Had he failed, however, it was not that Dahlgren would be the democratic nominee. He did not fail. Berge has done exactly what the Bryan schemers intended for him to do.

Just what Mr. Berge will do when he wakes up to the fact that he was worked by Bryan's chief advisers is a matter the future will tell. That it was on the nomination which he got, the democratic nomination his best friends know.

Deal is a Repetitor.—Two years ago the same kind of a package was handed to him by the same gang that harpooned him this time. On that occasion he was double crossed in the interest of Mr. Shallenberger. The populist state convention offered him the nomination on the populist ticket. The delegates to that convention did more. They knelt down in front of him and on their knees, gray bearded genuine populists, reformers who had fought for his policies for years, cried in vain to get him to make the race.

But Berge refused. He had no thought of the nomination which he honestly earned and which he took oath to accept. As a matter of fact the entire democratic organization which holds forth at the Lincoln hotel is in a bad way. Those in charge have now to convince Mr. Shallenberger that he will not be sacrificed in the interest of Bryan, as well as to convince George W. Berge that he has not been dealt a stacked hand.

The fact that Mr. Bryan had his brother-in-law, Tom Allen, again placed at the head of the committee over the protest of many members of the committee and a large part of the rank and file, is a

SOME PEOPLE COMPROMISE

When they think it is "too hard" to quit coffee at once and shift to straight Postum, they compromise the case by using Postum with a little coffee in it. Of course that isn't "strictly business" and a person will not as quickly recover from coffee ails as if pure

THIRTY YEARS A Slave to Coffee

Many persons do not realize that coffee drinking may become a powerful, enslaving habit. They are not aware that coffee contains a drug—caffeine—which ought never to be taken into the system except for certain diseases and then only when prescribed by the doctor.

The coffee habit grows on most users and is more harmful to some than others. But a drug that acts upon the heart and nerves in the way caffeine does, is not without great or less harm to all who drink coffee.

"For thirty years," writes a Wash. housewife, "I have been a steady coffee drinker. I wanted it at every meal."

"But I would have sick headaches most of the day, and in the evening I soon found I really suffered awfully from coffee, yet thought I never could stop it."

"Then I heard how good Postum was for such cases, and began to use it. At first I did not care for Postum. I felt sleepy and had headaches. I soon found that this was because of the hold coffee had on me, for in about three days after I quit coffee and began to use Postum the headaches left me, had no more nervousness and palpitation. In about a week I felt like a new woman."

"I have used Postum three years and when it is made according to directions (boiled 15 minutes)—it is as pleasant as coffee and don't hurt anyone. I ought to know for I was as bad off as anyone I have ever known to get from coffee drinking. Now I am well."

sufficient hunch to friends of Shallenberger where the Alma man gets off. When sacrificing is to be done no one can do it better than Mr. Bryan's own brother-in-law.

Those who opposed Allen had a valid reason for so doing. They could not figure how Bryan could discuss the publicity of campaign contributions as long as the $15,000 Tom Tibbles told about being brought from Wall street to promote Mr. Bryan's senatorial candidacy remained unaccounted for. Mayor Dahlgren said the money was spent in the interest of Mr. Berge, candidate for governor. Berge said he never knew about it and the result of the election being what it was.

Progressive democrats who believe in the Roosevelt policies fail to see how Mr. Bryan can justify the continuance of Tom Allen at the head of his campaign committee—unless it be that others on the ticket are to be sacrificed.

And so the dove of peace which might have come to Lincoln at the request of Mr. Bryan is still flying high and if anyone can see any harmony between Chris Guenther, whom the rank and file wanted to be chairman, and Tom Allen, whom Mr. Bryan selected for chairman, he needs the services of an oculist.

Bryan's Nebraska Tour. W. J. Bryan will tour Nebraska October 13, 14 and 15, speaking from the rear end of a special train. The democratic state committee is afraid of the work done by the Taft special and Mr. Bryan has arranged with his national committee to look after his fences in his home state, Tom Allen is now at work on the tininary.

Allen Mixes in Idaho Row. Tom Allen, brother-in-law to Mr. Bryan, has returned from a harmony trip to Boise, Idaho. Mr. Allen went there as the special messenger for his brother-in-law to try and settle the democratic squabble in that state. So secret was he in his movements that he registered under an assumed name and his identity did not become known until a member of the democratic state committee of Idaho asked for him at the hotel and Allen had to make himself known in order to carry out the instructions of his brother-in-law. This is the story brought to Lincoln in a Boise paper, which reached here today. Mr. Allen left this morning for Omaha, presumably to give some instructions to Mr. Bryan's chief lieutenant, Mayor Dahlgren. Another trip to Wall Street is now predicted.

RIDDER WILLING TO ARBITRATE Official Position Changes Attitude Toward Union Men. NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Herman Ridder, treasurer of the democratic national committee, appeared before the Central Federated union at its meeting today and asked that his disagreement with the union be left to arbitration. His suggestion was adopted. Mr. Ridder was charged at a meeting of the union with discourtesy to its committee which had sought to deal with him on a labor question. When approached by a second committee shortly after his appointment as democratic national treasurer he declared that he did not care to go into the matter in dispute with them and asked the privilege of appearing personally before the central body to explain his attitude.

When Mr. Ridder appeared at the meeting today he was given the floor. He asked that the question be left to a committee for arbitration. He suggested James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical union, as the arbitrator, and after a ten-minute debate the union accepted Mr. Ridder's suggestion.

NO RESPONSIBILITY FIXED Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict in Case of R. D. Murray, Killed by Hanson Elevator.

Death caused by an elevator in the building occupied by Toif Hanson as a restaurant at 25-1/2 South Sixteenth street, with no evidence presented as to the responsibility, was the substance of the verdict returned by the coroner's jury at the inquest held Monday afternoon on the death of Rudolph D. Murray, the expressman whose head was crushed under the elevator at the alley entrance to Hanson's new restaurant Thursday evening shortly after 7 o'clock.

The widow and children of the unfortunate expressman were represented at the inquest by Attorneys W. W. Stabulski and Charles E. Smith, while Attorney Carl Herring represented Hanson. S. W. Camp, the young man who was in charge of the elevator at the time Murray's head was crushed, testified that there was no guard across the entrance to the elevator shaft when the accident occurred. The expressman, although not a porter at the restaurant testified that the elevator had been frequently out of order during the short time it had been installed.

Murray was buried Sunday afternoon from the Davis undertaking rooms. Rev. Knickerbocker officiating. Interment was at Forest Lawn.
