

Sell Doug. 618—BOTH PROMER REACH ALL DEPTS.—(See A-194)

Come View the New Fall Models

Our stock of R. & G. models for the fall includes shapes and sizes for all figures—and every corset perfectly embraces the reigning Parisian fashion

"TAPERING WAIST" R. & G. CORSETS

Every fashionable woman will secure one of these fall models to have her gowns fitted over. The style shown here is for medium figures—medium bust, deep hip, extra long back. Ask for model 379; price in coutil $1.50 ea.

THOMPSON BELDEN & CO. See 10-6-08.

MEN OF WEST IN SESSION

Delegates to Transmississippi Congress at San Francisco.

OMAHA MAY GET NEXT MEETING

Colonel Fleming Boosting Gate City for Next Year's Convention—Foreign Countries Well Represented.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—The nineteenth Transmississippi Commercial congress, with a thousand or more delegates from the western half of the continent...

Among the delegates were the representatives of the thirty-six states, four territories and six foreign countries, while the national government was also represented in the person of W. R. Wheeler, assistant secretary of commerce and labor.

Omaha is being spoken of very favorably as the place of the next gathering and Colonel Fleming is urging the city to bid for the honor.

OMAHA MAKES NO EFFORT FOR IT

Sends No Delegates to San Francisco to Land Convention.

Though officers of the Transmississippi Commercial congress and E. R. Hartman, chairman of the next meeting of the congress in the face of Omaha and invited the Commercial club and other organizations to send delegates to the meeting in San Francisco and capture the prize, not a single delegate was named, and so far as known no effort was made to bid for the honor.

PRESIDENT WRITES CARRIERS

(Continued from First Page.)

half of the Omaha Commercial club, of which he said the latching was hanging out for the visitors. In expressing his pleasure at addressing the meeting he said that he felt as David Harum did when he said that it seemed as if he were straddling a meeting house with every shingle playing a Jewsharp.

WINDY RESPONDS TO SPEECHES

H. H. Windsor, editor of the official publication of the carriers, then rose to answer the greetings. His first remark was a commendation of calls from the back of the room urging him to take the stage.

"We want to look at you again," was the demand. The speaker complied.

"I used to live in Omaha," he said, "but it was long ago and the Omaha of the vintage of 1881 is as different from the present as two things could very well be. In those days the sidewalks were high above the streets and ascended by flights of steps—when there were any sidewalks.

Remember how that handful of farmers held at bay the English regulars recruited largely from the cities of England. Why, 60 per cent of the applicants for enlistment to the English army from urban precincts had to be rejected on account of physical unfitness.

The views of the mayor and Mr. Wright upon the superior stamina of farm-bred men made a decided hit with the delegates and these passages received wild applause.

"We want to look at you again," was the demand. The speaker complied.

"I used to live in Omaha," he said, "but it was long ago and the Omaha of the vintage of 1881 is as different from the present as two things could very well be. In those days the sidewalks were high above the streets and ascended by flights of steps—when there were any sidewalks.

"As I came up from the station today I observed a familiar sight—a windmill. There was but one where before two had been. I said to a policeman: 'When I left here in 1881 were not there two of them?'

HAYDEN'S LOSS IS ADJUSTED

Insurance Companies Make a Very Quick and Satisfactory Settlement.

ALL DAMAGED STOCK WILL BE OFFERED AT SACRIFICE PRICES IN ORDER THAT A QUICK CLEARANCE OF THE GOODS CAN BE MADE.

Beginning Wednesday a. m. we will offer all the merchandise that was damaged by water Monday at the most wonderful bargain prices ever known; every dollar's worth of this stock must be closed out in short order and we will offer every garment, every article, at a price representing but a small fraction of its real value.

Ladies' suits, skirts, jackets, winter underwear, hosiery, furnishings, etc., no matter how slightly damaged, go at less than worth of materials alone. Come early Wednesday. HAYDEN BROS.

TAFT IN ST. LOUIS

(Continued from First Page.)

The objection to the second, he said, was that the application of the remedy would include a lot of small corporations making small articles, that have no relation to trusts.

Mr. Taft concluded with the pledge it should be his pleasure to devote all his energies to constructive legislation along the lines he suggested.

Mr. Taft left St. Louis at 1 o'clock tonight for Chicago, where tomorrow he will address the Douglas waterways convention, go to Galena to attend the celebration of Lincoln-Douglas debates and then return to Chicago for a banquet, at which Mr. Bryan is also to be a guest.

WOMAN GOOD AT REPAIRS

Miss Fankhouser rose, blushing. "Mr. Maxwell," she said, "has been trying that sort of talk on his route. I don't remember when he took the platform and the enthusiasm seemed genuine rather than a matter of policy."

When the delegates had ceased howling, Miss Fankhouser could be observed blushing a livid carmine from forehead to throat. Maxwell was purple.

Back came the young woman: "I would if I could, but I can't. My husband now is a paragon of the 'Waiting at the Church' catch-line and deserves applause and laughter."

The entire afternoon session was a merry one. Delegates had gathered expecting to hear a series of addresses by Congressman Hitchcock, Senators Burkett and Brown and others, but none of these took the mark.

Delegate Rice of Texas thought that "we shall rarely have a change to see or hear Governor Hughes, but his satanic majesty we can meet on our routes any day."

Delegate Goins of Portland, Ore., had been a great play by a first-rate company. President Child of the Iowa delegation suffered from a conflict of emotions on the question.

Haney of Arkansas rose with dramatic expression and a red hot speech writ plain on his face. "He is going to drag in politics," he said, "and I am going to drag everyone and a bush with it."

Mr. President thundered the southerner. "Mr. Haney," answered Lindsay in a mollifying tone.

Finally the delegates took a vote. The action was not official, but to determine how many seats to reserve at the Burwood and how many on the stage at the Auditorium. About half elected to go to the Devil and half to the deep—Governor Hughes.

After this a little experience meeting was on. Mrs. Combs of Indiana told the delegates how she had tried an auto for six weeks. "I finished on time twice," said she.

Mrs. Ruth Kenyon of Nebraska and Miss Alice Gummerre of Oregon, Ia., narrated their experiences. Mrs. Gummerre takes to the work naturally. Her father, W. T. Gummerre also rides a route out of the Union county town and likewise an uncle, Alvarado Gummerre. Emulating the example of these a cousin, Arden Gummerre of Afton, Ia., has also joined the Rural Free delivery force.

A letter from President Roosevelt was read to the delegates at the afternoon session by W. D. Brown of Washington to whom it had been written, as follows: THE WHITE HOUSE, Washington, Oct. 2.—My dear Mr. Brown: Will you convey to the members of the National Rural Letter Carriers association my heartfelt congratulations and good wishes for the success of their convention. The government has given close attention to the letter carrier since the delivery of mail during the past decade, and has accomplished much towards lessening the burden of his work and making it brighter and more attractive. I appreciate the faithful and intelligent service of the letter carrier and commend his commendation of for good roads—a movement fraught with the greatest benefit to the country districts. Sincerely yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

R. W. D. Brown, 815 Fifteenth street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

The letter was received with cheers and the convention adopted a resolution voicing its thanks for the expression of interest.

PORTLAND EXPECTS THE NEXT ONE Oregon City Sends Hustlers to Land the Convention.

If Portland, Ore., does not land the next convention it will not be because the city doesn't deserve it, but it is casting hard. Every delegate of the convention who could be reached was led up to headquarters of the delegation in the lobby of the Rome and after registering given a handsome big photograph of Mount Hood.

HAZARD'S LOSS IS ADJUSTED

Insurance Companies Make a Very Quick and Satisfactory Settlement.

ALL DAMAGED STOCK WILL BE OFFERED AT SACRIFICE PRICES IN ORDER THAT A QUICK CLEARANCE OF THE GOODS CAN BE MADE.

Beginning Wednesday a. m. we will offer all the merchandise that was damaged by water Monday at the most wonderful bargain prices ever known; every dollar's worth of this stock must be closed out in short order and we will offer every garment, every article, at a price representing but a small fraction of its real value.

Ladies' suits, skirts, jackets, winter underwear, hosiery, furnishings, etc., no matter how slightly damaged, go at less than worth of materials alone. Come early Wednesday. HAYDEN BROS.

TAFT IN ST. LOUIS

(Continued from First Page.)

The objection to the second, he said, was that the application of the remedy would include a lot of small corporations making small articles, that have no relation to trusts.

Mr. Taft concluded with the pledge it should be his pleasure to devote all his energies to constructive legislation along the lines he suggested.

Mr. Taft left St. Louis at 1 o'clock tonight for Chicago, where tomorrow he will address the Douglas waterways convention, go to Galena to attend the celebration of Lincoln-Douglas debates and then return to Chicago for a banquet, at which Mr. Bryan is also to be a guest.

WOMAN GOOD AT REPAIRS

Miss Fankhouser rose, blushing. "Mr. Maxwell," she said, "has been trying that sort of talk on his route. I don't remember when he took the platform and the enthusiasm seemed genuine rather than a matter of policy."

When the delegates had ceased howling, Miss Fankhouser could be observed blushing a livid carmine from forehead to throat. Maxwell was purple.

Back came the young woman: "I would if I could, but I can't. My husband now is a paragon of the 'Waiting at the Church' catch-line and deserves applause and laughter."

The entire afternoon session was a merry one. Delegates had gathered expecting to hear a series of addresses by Congressman Hitchcock, Senators Burkett and Brown and others, but none of these took the mark.

Delegate Rice of Texas thought that "we shall rarely have a change to see or hear Governor Hughes, but his satanic majesty we can meet on our routes any day."

Delegate Goins of Portland, Ore., had been a great play by a first-rate company. President Child of the Iowa delegation suffered from a conflict of emotions on the question.

Haney of Arkansas rose with dramatic expression and a red hot speech writ plain on his face. "He is going to drag in politics," he said, "and I am going to drag everyone and a bush with it."

Mr. President thundered the southerner. "Mr. Haney," answered Lindsay in a mollifying tone.

Finally the delegates took a vote. The action was not official, but to determine how many seats to reserve at the Burwood and how many on the stage at the Auditorium. About half elected to go to the Devil and half to the deep—Governor Hughes.

After this a little experience meeting was on. Mrs. Combs of Indiana told the delegates how she had tried an auto for six weeks. "I finished on time twice," said she.

Mrs. Ruth Kenyon of Nebraska and Miss Alice Gummerre of Oregon, Ia., narrated their experiences. Mrs. Gummerre takes to the work naturally. Her father, W. T. Gummerre also rides a route out of the Union county town and likewise an uncle, Alvarado Gummerre. Emulating the example of these a cousin, Arden Gummerre of Afton, Ia., has also joined the Rural Free delivery force.

A letter from President Roosevelt was read to the delegates at the afternoon session by W. D. Brown of Washington to whom it had been written, as follows: THE WHITE HOUSE, Washington, Oct. 2.—My dear Mr. Brown: Will you convey to the members of the National Rural Letter Carriers association my heartfelt congratulations and good wishes for the success of their convention. The government has given close attention to the letter carrier since the delivery of mail during the past decade, and has accomplished much towards lessening the burden of his work and making it brighter and more attractive. I appreciate the faithful and intelligent service of the letter carrier and commend his commendation of for good roads—a movement fraught with the greatest benefit to the country districts. Sincerely yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

R. W. D. Brown, 815 Fifteenth street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

The letter was received with cheers and the convention adopted a resolution voicing its thanks for the expression of interest.

PORTLAND EXPECTS THE NEXT ONE Oregon City Sends Hustlers to Land the Convention.

If Portland, Ore., does not land the next convention it will not be because the city doesn't deserve it, but it is casting hard. Every delegate of the convention who could be reached was led up to headquarters of the delegation in the lobby of the Rome and after registering given a handsome big photograph of Mount Hood.

HAZARD'S LOSS IS ADJUSTED

Insurance Companies Make a Very Quick and Satisfactory Settlement.

ALL DAMAGED STOCK WILL BE OFFERED AT SACRIFICE PRICES IN ORDER THAT A QUICK CLEARANCE OF THE GOODS CAN BE MADE.

Beginning Wednesday a. m. we will offer all the merchandise that was damaged by water Monday at the most wonderful bargain prices ever known; every dollar's worth of this stock must be closed out in short order and we will offer every garment, every article, at a price representing but a small fraction of its real value.

Ladies' suits, skirts, jackets, winter underwear, hosiery, furnishings, etc., no matter how slightly damaged, go at less than worth of materials alone. Come early Wednesday. HAYDEN BROS.

TAFT IN ST. LOUIS

(Continued from First Page.)

The objection to the second, he said, was that the application of the remedy would include a lot of small corporations making small articles, that have no relation to trusts.

Mr. Taft concluded with the pledge it should be his pleasure to devote all his energies to constructive legislation along the lines he suggested.

Mr. Taft left St. Louis at 1 o'clock tonight for Chicago, where tomorrow he will address the Douglas waterways convention, go to Galena to attend the celebration of Lincoln-Douglas debates and then return to Chicago for a banquet, at which Mr. Bryan is also to be a guest.

WOMAN GOOD AT REPAIRS

Miss Fankhouser rose, blushing. "Mr. Maxwell," she said, "has been trying that sort of talk on his route. I don't remember when he took the platform and the enthusiasm seemed genuine rather than a matter of policy."

When the delegates had ceased howling, Miss Fankhouser could be observed blushing a livid carmine from forehead to throat. Maxwell was purple.

Back came the young woman: "I would if I could, but I can't. My husband now is a paragon of the 'Waiting at the Church' catch-line and deserves applause and laughter."

The entire afternoon session was a merry one. Delegates had gathered expecting to hear a series of addresses by Congressman Hitchcock, Senators Burkett and Brown and others, but none of these took the mark.

Delegate Rice of Texas thought that "we shall rarely have a change to see or hear Governor Hughes, but his satanic majesty we can meet on our routes any day."

Delegate Goins of Portland, Ore., had been a great play by a first-rate company. President Child of the Iowa delegation suffered from a conflict of emotions on the question.

Haney of Arkansas rose with dramatic expression and a red hot speech writ plain on his face. "He is going to drag in politics," he said, "and I am going to drag everyone and a bush with it."

Mr. President thundered the southerner. "Mr. Haney," answered Lindsay in a mollifying tone.

Finally the delegates took a vote. The action was not official, but to determine how many seats to reserve at the Burwood and how many on the stage at the Auditorium. About half elected to go to the Devil and half to the deep—Governor Hughes.

After this a little experience meeting was on. Mrs. Combs of Indiana told the delegates how she had tried an auto for six weeks. "I finished on time twice," said she.

Mrs. Ruth Kenyon of Nebraska and Miss Alice Gummerre of Oregon, Ia., narrated their experiences. Mrs. Gummerre takes to the work naturally. Her father, W. T. Gummerre also rides a route out of the Union county town and likewise an uncle, Alvarado Gummerre. Emulating the example of these a cousin, Arden Gummerre of Afton, Ia., has also joined the Rural Free delivery force.

A letter from President Roosevelt was read to the delegates at the afternoon session by W. D. Brown of Washington to whom it had been written, as follows: THE WHITE HOUSE, Washington, Oct. 2.—My dear Mr. Brown: Will you convey to the members of the National Rural Letter Carriers association my heartfelt congratulations and good wishes for the success of their convention. The government has given close attention to the letter carrier since the delivery of mail during the past decade, and has accomplished much towards lessening the burden of his work and making it brighter and more attractive. I appreciate the faithful and intelligent service of the letter carrier and commend his commendation of for good roads—a movement fraught with the greatest benefit to the country districts. Sincerely yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

R. W. D. Brown, 815 Fifteenth street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

The letter was received with cheers and the convention adopted a resolution voicing its thanks for the expression of interest.

PORTLAND EXPECTS THE NEXT ONE Oregon City Sends Hustlers to Land the Convention.

If Portland, Ore., does not land the next convention it will not be because the city doesn't deserve it, but it is casting hard. Every delegate of the convention who could be reached was led up to headquarters of the delegation in the lobby of the Rome and after registering given a handsome big photograph of Mount Hood.

HAZARD'S LOSS IS ADJUSTED

Insurance Companies Make a Very Quick and Satisfactory Settlement.

ALL DAMAGED STOCK WILL BE OFFERED AT SACRIFICE PRICES IN ORDER THAT A QUICK CLEARANCE OF THE GOODS CAN BE MADE.

Beginning Wednesday a. m. we will offer all the merchandise that was damaged by water Monday at the most wonderful bargain prices ever known; every dollar's worth of this stock must be closed out in short order and we will offer every garment, every article, at a price representing but a small fraction of its real value.

Ladies' suits, skirts, jackets, winter underwear, hosiery, furnishings, etc., no matter how slightly damaged, go at less than worth of materials alone. Come early Wednesday. HAYDEN BROS.

TAFT IN ST. LOUIS

(Continued from First Page.)

The objection to the second, he said, was that the application of the remedy would include a lot of small corporations making small articles, that have no relation to trusts.

Mr. Taft concluded with the pledge it should be his pleasure to devote all his energies to constructive legislation along the lines he suggested.

Mr. Taft left St. Louis at 1 o'clock tonight for Chicago, where tomorrow he will address the Douglas waterways convention, go to Galena to attend the celebration of Lincoln-Douglas debates and then return to Chicago for a banquet, at which Mr. Bryan is also to be a guest.

WOMAN GOOD AT REPAIRS

Miss Fankhouser rose, blushing. "Mr. Maxwell," she said, "has been trying that sort of talk on his route. I don't remember when he took the platform and the enthusiasm seemed genuine rather than a matter of policy."

When the delegates had ceased howling, Miss Fankhouser could be observed blushing a livid carmine from forehead to throat. Maxwell was purple.

Back came the young woman: "I would if I could, but I can't. My husband now is a paragon of the 'Waiting at the Church' catch-line and deserves applause and laughter."

The entire afternoon session was a merry one. Delegates had gathered expecting to hear a series of addresses by Congressman Hitchcock, Senators Burkett and Brown and others, but none of these took the mark.

Delegate Rice of Texas thought that "we shall rarely have a change to see or hear Governor Hughes, but his satanic majesty we can meet on our routes any day."

Delegate Goins of Portland, Ore., had been a great play by a first-rate company. President Child of the Iowa delegation suffered from a conflict of emotions on the question.

Haney of Arkansas rose with dramatic expression and a red hot speech writ plain on his face. "He is going to drag in politics," he said, "and I am going to drag everyone and a bush with it."

Mr. President thundered the southerner. "Mr. Haney," answered Lindsay in a mollifying tone.

Finally the delegates took a vote. The action was not official, but to determine how many seats to reserve at the Burwood and how many on the stage at the Auditorium. About half elected to go to the Devil and half to the deep—Governor Hughes.

After this a little experience meeting was on. Mrs. Combs of Indiana told the delegates how she had tried an auto for six weeks. "I finished on time twice," said she.

Mrs. Ruth Kenyon of Nebraska and Miss Alice Gummerre of Oregon, Ia., narrated their experiences. Mrs. Gummerre takes to the work naturally. Her father, W. T. Gummerre also rides a route out of the Union county town and likewise an uncle, Alvarado Gummerre. Emulating the example of these a cousin, Arden Gummerre of Afton, Ia., has also joined the Rural Free delivery force.

A letter from President Roosevelt was read to the delegates at the afternoon session by W. D. Brown of Washington to whom it had been written, as follows: THE WHITE HOUSE, Washington, Oct. 2.—My dear Mr. Brown: Will you convey to the members of the National Rural Letter Carriers association my heartfelt congratulations and good wishes for the success of their convention. The government has given close attention to the letter carrier since the delivery of mail during the past decade, and has accomplished much towards lessening the burden of his work and making it brighter and more attractive. I appreciate the faithful and intelligent service of the letter carrier and commend his commendation of for good roads—a movement fraught with the greatest benefit to the country districts. Sincerely yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

R. W. D. Brown, 815 Fifteenth street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

The letter was received with cheers and the convention adopted a resolution voicing its thanks for the expression of interest.

PORTLAND EXPECTS THE NEXT ONE Oregon City Sends Hustlers to Land the Convention.

If Portland, Ore., does not land the next convention it will not be because the city doesn't deserve it, but it is casting hard. Every delegate of the convention who could be reached was led up to headquarters of the delegation in the lobby of the Rome and after registering given a handsome big photograph of Mount Hood.

they did not, but republicans have done it. I stand in favor of legislation that would make deposits safe and insure their return on demand to the depositors.

"We can better trust the republican party to legislate on questions of finance the same as the republican party can better be trusted on the tariff."

"The democrats are trying to make votes on the question of home rules. As far as I am concerned I have never felt but that the people of Omaha are able to govern themselves. I have always thought that way. Many years ago I thought that the appointment of a board of fire and police commissioners should be in the hands of the people. If home rule means to give the people the right to appoint its own police commissioners and to make its own charter I am for it, but if it means home rule, I am against it."

"The question of 'shall the people rule' in Nebraska sounds like hollow mockery. The republican party in the short space of two years has made it possible for the people to rule."

REPUBLICANS ACTIVE IN WEST.

That he has stirred up the republican ranks in the states of the middle west to an unprecedented activity was the assurance given Governor Hughes on his arrival to speak here tonight.

Crawford of South Dakota, accompanied the Hughes party through that state and assured the New York governor that the visits of himself, Mr. Taft and Senator Beveridge to the northwest had thoroughly aroused the voters of that section to the issues of the campaign. A genuine western aspect was given to the tour by the presence of United States Marshall Seth Bullock of Deadwood, S. D., a former champion on hunting trips of President Roosevelt and guide recently of the president's son, Kermit, on an Indian reservation, who joined the Hughes train at Watertown.

At Sioux Falls, where Governor Hughes spoke at noon, the factories and locomotives as a salute blew a blast of steam whistles for ten minutes. The crowd in the hall there interrupted his speaking with exclamations of "the next governor of New York," and "president in 1912."

On the train Seth Bullock and Governor Crawford had a talk. "I am glad to see New York is building sky scrapers higher than ever," said Bullock, "for now New Yorkers may learn by going to the top of them that the sun sets farther west than Jersey."

"If that's a twit at me," said Governor Hughes, "I will tell you I am something of a western myself."

ITINERARY OF HUGHES.

Governor Hughes will leave Omaha Wednesday morning on a special train on the Burlington for a flying trip through Nebraska, making short stops for speeches at thirteen towns in the state and closing at Hastings with a big meeting in the evening, after which he will leave for St. Joseph. The itinerary for the Hughes special in Nebraska is:

Leave Omaha at 7:30 a. m., arrive Ashland at 8:30 a. m., leave Ashland at 8:35 a. m., arrive Havelock at 9:10 a. m., leave Havelock at 9:15 a. m., arrive Lincoln at 9:30 a. m., arrive Seward at 10:20 a. m., leave Seward at 10:25 a. m., arrive York at 11:20 a. m., leave York at 11:25 a. m., arrive Aurora at 12 m., leave Aurora at 12:05 p. m., arrive Grand Island at 12:45 p. m., leave Grand Island over the Union Pacific for Kearney, Grand Kearney over the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy at 2 p. m., arrive Kearsaw at 4 p. m., leave Kearsaw at 4:05 p. m., arrive at 4:40 p. m., arrive Atwell at 5 p. m.

RIG CROWD AT REGISTRATION

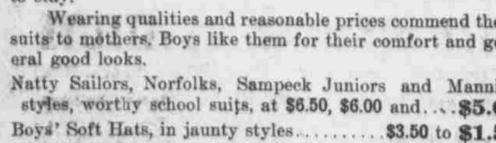

All Points for Trip County Land Opening Are Crowded.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 6.—(Special Telegram.)—Prospective homesteaders still continue to crowd the registration offices in this city. From 6 o'clock last night to 6 o'clock this evening, 4,471 registered. This makes a total for the two days of 7,868. Four special and two regular trains have arrived since 6 p. m. and the registration to morning promises to exceed that of today. All visitors are being well cared for, plenty of food and lodging for all who come. The best of order prevails and the crowds continue jovial.

VALENTINE, NEB., OCT. 6.—(Special Telegram.)—The second day of registration brings no rest to the notaries who are taking the applications at this place. While a big crowd left last night, more came to take their places. Mr. Benjamin of Deadwood, general agent of the Northwest, said that Valentine could take care of a thousand people a day, as he has been here all day looking over the city and there is absolutely no gambling allowed in any kind. The crowd has been taken care of in the finest kind of manner and a large crowd is looked for tonight.

Autumn traps for little chaps

For little chaps What you're Looking for Perhaps?

We have been as careful in our selection of clothing for the boy as if he were a real grown-up. Our school suits are built of sturdy, handsome materials. They are carefully tailored and their shape is there to stay.

Wearing qualities and reasonable prices commend these suits to mothers. Boys like them for their comfort and general good looks. Naty Sailors, Norfolks, Sampeck Juniors and Mannish styles, worthy school suits, at $6.50, $6.00 and... $5.00 Boys' Soft Hats, in jaunty styles... $3.50 to $1.50 Write for Our Illustrated Catalogue.

BENSON & THORNE CO. 1515-1517 DOUGLAS STREET

Talk of the Season The Lanpher Hat Is "Always Right" ASK YOUR DEALER

There are a lot of people who don't think summer has gone 'till the base ball season has closed. Even those fellows are ready for fall Overcoats now. How would a nice light overcoat or raincoat strike you? We have some "exceptional" values at $18 to $25. Drop in and talk it over.

W. T. BURKE, MEN'S FASHION SHOP 319 South 16th Street.

BOYD'S THEATER

Tonight, Wednesday Mat. and Night. L. S. Sire Presents America's Greatest Character Actress, May Robson

THE REJUVENATION OF AUNT MARY.

Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday MATINEE SATURDAY The Hit of the Present Season in London—Eugene Walter's Great Play of American Life—

PAID IN FULL Seats on Sale Today. —October 12, 13