As to the real conditions in Iowa, though the republican speaking campaign began only this week and is not under full sway yet, there are very hopeful reports reaching this city from everywhere in the state. In the first place, traveling men are not agreed that eight-tenths of their fraternity in Iowa are for Bryan. There are representative men in that profession who claim that three-fourths of the men in Iowa are for Taft. The fact that the democratic claims are disputed is one hopeful sign if nothing

Laboring Men Not Solid.

One of the other claims was that the laboring men of Iowa are almost solidly for Bryan. There are about 30,000 laboring men, that is trades union men, in the state of lows, and hulf of them have always been more or less democratic. A careful inquiry has disclosed that there are a great many laboring men in the state who have always been republicans. who are still republicans and will vote ing. We can't account for it un'ess he for Taft, so at the worst the party cannot lose a great many votes among the laboring men. But there is every indication that the farmer vote of Iowa, which is the big vote, is as solidly republican as ever, and
