DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE

Moderate Improvement is Noted in Most Sections.

COTTON GOODS ARE ACTIVE

Buyers Are Exhibiting More Interest and it is Believed that Prices Will Go No Lower.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co's. Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Moderate improvement is indicated in reports of current trade from most sections of the country, with pronounced confidence regarding the future. Although many large undertakings are held back in the iron and steel industry, pending the result of election, numerous small contracts are being placed, and specifications on old orders involve a considerable tonnage. Progress is slow, but on the whole, there is a distinct improvement each week, export business containing liberal. One movement on the lakes is about over for the season and shipments will probably amount to little more than 22,500,000 tons. Prices of pig iron are somewhat lower on contracts for this year's delivery, but neither producers nor consumers are eager to operate for shipments in 1909. There is a similar reluctance about forward contracts for coke, makers asking better prices than are offered. There is a fairly good demand for structural shapes, while plates are wanted by car builders. Only a few orders for steel rails have been placed this week.

Improvement is pronounced in the primary market for cotton goods, buyers exhibiting more interest, and it is believed generally that prices cannot be expected to go any lower. While it is not the season for extensive activity among jobbers, there is a good volume of filling-in orders and the statistical position is firmly held by the curtailment of spinning, which is still considerable. Full quotations are now asked in lines upon which concessions were obtainable last week. Export sales are larger, although most bids from China are still below the views of makers. Clothiers' sentiment have not yet made sufficient progress to establish the trend of demand for menswear woolens, and there is little duplicate business in heavy weights. Conditions in the footwear industry were unsettled by the labor controversy at Lynn, and some other factories are closed for inventories. There is no controversy regarding prices. Similar conditions exist as to heavy leather, small stocks being carried by the shoe factories and quotations are well maintained. Light sole and upper leather is more abundant, sales of the former kind at pronounced concessions. Export demand has sustained the market for glazed kid, but domestic trade is poor. Weakness in hides is more noticeable, natives being relatively easier than than branded varieties.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW OF TRADE

Warm Vein and Approach of Election Hampers Distribution.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Continued warm, unseasonable weather and the approach of the national election tend to hamper distribution of seasonal merchandise, the purchase of any but immediate necessities, and the projection of new enterprises. On balance, industry is slightly more active, some branches of the iron trade having increased forces, while building is more brisk; but at the same time strong winds water to various navigable streams tend to affect such lines as coke, waterway navigation and paper mills. Railway tonnage is heavier, and current gross earnings show smaller decreases than for any time in the last ten months. Confidence still prevails, but confidence is very strong, and therefore, natural conditions, together with light stocks, should produce a marked degree of expansion after the turn of the new year. Until then depression seems to be the policy, the hard-to-month buying movement is deemed to be the part of wisdom, and new enterprises are being held in abeyance, either by the credit giving institutions or by their projectors.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending October 15, numbered 24, against 26 last week and 19 in the like week ending October 15, 1907. For the sixteen weeks ending October 15, the total number of failures was 327 in 1904. Business failures in Canada for the week number 23, as against 31 last week and 27 in the same period last year. Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending October 15, numbered 4,582,552 bushels last week and 4,964,082 bushels this week of last year. For the sixteen weeks ending October 15, the total exports are 62,722,816 bushels, against 58,768,878 bushels in the corresponding period last year. Corn exports for the week are 6,000 bushels, against 17,753 bushels last week and 18,283 bushels in 1907. For the sixteen weeks ending October 15, the corn exports are 78,736 bushels, against 15,941,869 bushels in the same period last year. Announcements of the Theater.—The curtain at the Orpheum will rise at 8:15 sharp this evening. Omaha will say good-bye to the Blondes tonight. They have been playing to large audiences all week. Fred Singer in his artistic act, "The Violin Maker of Cremona," has left a pleasant record for the week. A quartet of great dancing experts (Four Fords), Sager Midgley and Gerie Carlisle and Mr. and Mrs. Connolly will open the new bill Sunday afternoon. Daily matinees.

NEBRASKA FROM DAY TO DAY

Quaint and Curious Features of Life in a Rapidly Growing State.

A New Nomenclature—Mr. Getter, with his crew of men, is this week erecting a granary and barn on his Kinkaid—Mitchell Index.

To Take Things Easy—George Boddy is a busy man these days. He divides his time between the farm and the town property recently purchased and which he is preparing for occupancy. After his sale George will settle down to peace, humdrum town life and let some one else work the roads.—Edgar Post.

It Surely Would Save Shoe Leather—Why don't the Commercial club look after the matter of getting the depot unpaved? It can be done if our people will get the Burlington interested by vacating the alley and street and donating a depot site. It would help Red Cloud thousands of dollars.—Red Cloud Commercial Advertiser.

Nature Fake—Sunday some irresponsible hunters killed a lot of tame ducks on the Leibold lake across the river. This is the straw that broke the camel's back as far as hunting goes over there. The land owners have for a long time been the victims of these hunters and now propose to see to it that they have no more stock killed and will have anyone hunting on their premises promptly arrested and taken to Sidney.—Nebraska City Press.

Curiosity Shop—The ancient and antiquated wooden sidewalk which has adorned Zieka corner for these many years has finally disappeared and been replaced by one of cement. When the walk was taken up under it was found 300,000,000 cuss worth, shreds from 3,000 skirts, 600 sore toes belonging to barefooted boys since grown to men, a nickel and various other things, as the auctioneers say, too numerous to mention.—Exeter Enterprise.

The present officers of the association are as follows: President—Mrs. Victor B. Caldwell. Vice President—Mrs. Thomas Kilpatrick. Secretary—Miss Alice Buchanan. Treasurer—Mrs. J. F. Mayhew. Superintendent—Mrs. W. L. Adams. Head Nurse—Miss Nan Dorsey.

NELSEN HELD FREE OF GUILT

Main Witness in Benson Robbery Case Cannot Be Found When Wanted.

Newton Nelsen, charged with robbing Peter Thorsted of $10 at Benson, where both were employed, was declared not guilty in criminal court Friday afternoon and Judge Sears commended the verdict when it was read. Magnus Mogensen, at one time a suspect and later held as an important witness in the case, has disappeared and efforts of the sheriff's office to locate him Friday were in vain. Judge Sears delayed the case from morning until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, but when the officers failed to find him the case went on without him. A man by his name was brought into court, but he was not the missing witness. Thorsted, the complaining witness, was packing his trunk to go back to Denmark to get married, according to his testimony, when the purse containing his money disappeared. Nelsen and Mogensen had both been in the room during the packing process. Later Thorsted said he found the money buried in a lot on the farm where all three men worked. Nelsen was arrested on the road near the spot where Thorsted said he found the money, but the principal evidence against him with the crime was to have been furnished by Mogensen, who failed to show up at the trial. Judge Sears said he believed Nelsen was innocent of the crime. "I am glad to say this in the presence of Mrs. Nelsen," he continued, "who, though she has shed no tears, has shown she feels deeply. Nelsen has not the face of a criminal." Mr. Nelsen thanked the judge and Mrs. Nelsen the jurors.

"YOUR WIFE? SHE'S MINE"

Then Two Men Buckle Up and Do a Stunt While the Woman Looks On.

"Hello, Marie. Are you ready to come back to me and the children?" The other man at the card table in Chicago sprang to his feet as the remark was uttered upon the entrance of an attractive woman to the room. "What do you mean by speaking that way to my wife?" he demanded. "Your wife?" ejaculated the first man. "Why, she's mine. I married her eight years ago right here in Chicago. We have two children." While the woman, too astounded at thus meeting her first husband to utter a word, looked on helpless, the men sprang at each other. They strained back and forth across the floor and finally plunged through a door to the sidewalk, held in each other's grasp. The fight ended when a policeman separated them. Then both were taken with the woman to the Harrison street police station, the men charged with disorderly conduct and the woman with bigamy.

The scene of the encounter was the headquarters of the cigarmakers' union, at Fifth avenue and Madison street, Chicago. The combatants, lifelong friends, although each ignorant of the woman's place in the other's life, were John Whitfield, 59 years old, 333 Lowe avenue, and Joseph Bolley, 31 years of age, who lives on Harrison street, near Fifth avenue. The woman, who deserted Whitfield last November and immediately afterward was married to Bolley, is 37 years old. It had been the custom of the men to meet at the cigarmakers' headquarters in the afternoon to play cards. They were thus engaged when Mrs. Whitfield-Bolley entered the room the other afternoon in search of Bolley, and entirely unaware that she was to encounter her first husband. At first she seemed looking for some avenue of escape when she realized her position, but, gathering courage, stood her ground while the men fought, vainly trying to pacify them, until she was arrested with them. Both men still insisted that she was his wife when Policeman Hazak had separated them. "She deserted me last November after I had ransomed her from arrest for disorderly conduct," declared Whitfield. "I married her last November," as vehemently asserted Bolley, "and she never told me she had been married before. We have been living together near Fifth avenue and Harrison street." At the police station Whitfield said: "I found out my wife had been accepting attentions from another man and I had her arrested. The matter was settled in court and she went home with me, but disappeared soon afterward. I never obtained a divorce, because I wanted her to return. I thought she was looking for me when she came in this afternoon." Mrs. Whitfield-Bolley admitted that she had been married to both men. She said her husband had obtained a divorce following their separation in November. She said she married Bolley a few weeks after her separation.—Chicago Record-Herald.

MOST PROSPEROUS ON GLOBE

Pre-Eminence of the United States in Resources, Exports and World-Wide Good Will.

In the period of world-wide industrial adversity, the United States is the most prosperous country on the globe. It is the most prosperous country because, while the majority struck us earliest and hardest of all the countries, the rally came here quickest and has extended farthest. When the set back struck us in the closing days of October, 1907, our purchases from the rest of the world promptly shrank, while our sales to the world promptly increased for several months, though then they fell off slightly. Thus, for the fiscal year which ended on June 30th, 1908, there was a balance in our favor in the foreign trade of $668,000,000, which was the largest ever rolled up in any twelvemonth. It was $120,000,000 more than the balance for 1907. It was $1,000,000 more than the balance for 1901, which was the largest ever attained until 1908. No other country in the world ever had a favorable margin of trade even remotely approaching ours of 1908. Here was the most striking exhibition of an adjustment to unfavorable conditions which the world has seen. In this way we increase our credits abroad and obtain the gold which we needed to help us to tide over the financial scare. We produce more coal, iron, lead, cotton, wheat, corn, petroleum, silver, and other things than any other country. We have the greatest number of miles of navigable rivers of any nation. We have the idle lands which could produce all the cotton needed during the next third of a century. We have as much wealth as any two other countries, and more fluid capital than any three other countries. Our people are the most inventive and versatile on the face of the earth. The fact that the United States has the freest and best government in the world counts much in determining its prosperity. Socialism, which is a menace even in England, and which is overrunning almost every other country in the world, has no standing in the United States, despite the 600,000 votes which were polled by Debs in 1904, and the 700,000 or 800,000 which he will possibly poll in 1908. The danger of attack from other countries, from which even England is not exempt, is less here. We have no neighbors who would be formidable to us in war. All our neighbors have as much of an interest to be friendly with us as we have with them, and more of an interest—Leslie's Weekly.

Eight-Hour Question Up.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—Hayes Bros., sub-contractors on the government irrigation project at Belle Fourche in the western part of the state, have been and the defendants in a criminal action which has been instituted by the United States attorney's office in this city in accordance with instructions from the attorney general of the United States. They are charged with having violated a federal statute which provides that contractors and sub-contractors on public works shall not permit any of their workmen to work more than eight hours in any one day. It is charged in the complaint in the case that Hayes Bros., during the summer, allowed a large number of their men to work for ten hours a day for a large number of days.
