DEMOS SORE AT JIM'S TALK

Glad to Get Brewery Money, but Sorry Mayor Let it Out.

STANDARD OIL TO THE RESCUE

Five Thousand Brewers Will Give Bryan is Nothing Compared to What Rockefeller is Handing Over.

Wednesday Evening—Metz hall, South Thirtieth street—Bohemian meeting; speakers, O. L. Kolar of Chicago in Bohemian language and local candidates.

Thursday Evening—Twenty-second and Cuming streets—Eight and Ninth Ward Republican clubs; speakers, John L. Kennedy, E. M. Baldrige and Nelson G. Pratt.

Friday Evening—Metz Omaha—Speakers, A. W. Jafferis, W. G. Ure and Ed Leader.

Saturday Evening—Registration day—No meetings. Sunday, October 25—National Hall, Thirtieth and William streets—Italian meeting; speakers, Prof. Sottrand, E. G. Magri and others.

While all democrats approve Mayor Dahlen's activities in going after the brewers for Bryan campaign funds, most democrats are sore on the mayor because he published his action to the world.

But Jim says "What's the diff, if we get the cash?"

The larva mayor of Omaha is one of those rough and ready boys who goes after anything he can lay his hands on.

But the little measly $5,000 which Jim has promised to dig out of the Omaha brewers for the Peerless Leader, is nothing compared to the barrel which the Standard Oil is said to be pouring into the home state of Mr. Bryan.

The local democrats, it is understood, are formulating their plans now for the collection of other funds in Omaha in addition to the $5,000 Mayor Jim has promised to squeeze out of the brewers.

The general plan is to make a list of all the liquor dealers in the city and place opposite each man's name the exact amount he will be tackled for.

"And you can write to your folks and tell 'em that each man will give just that figure that stands opposite his John Hancock," confidentially breathed a heeler close to the fountain.

C. N. McElfresh, vice president of the Nebraska Taft league, who has been out in the state in the interests of the National Republican league, says:

"I am highly gratified at the splendid condition of the republican party in Nebraska. I have recently visited a number of counties, including Platt, Nance, Boone, Madison, Antelope, Holt, Pierce and Stanton, and find that large and enthusiastic Taft clubs have been organized and that they are taking an active part in the campaign.

"Taft sentiment is manifesting itself more each day and personally I am clearly convinced that conditions warrant the prediction of a republican victory in Nebraska this fall.

"Republican clubs are being rapidly organized under the auspices of the state league where none now exist."

What promises to be one of the largest ward meetings of the week is that to be held Thursday evening in Wolff's hall at Twenty-second and Cuming streets.

"Coffee, rolls, breakfast food, butter," 25 cents; that don't look much like a Chicago price or the usual rate charged on dining cars, but the portions and the quality is the same as that served in the restaurants of other cities.

"We are not going to overlook this opportunity," said Commissioner J. M. Guild of the Commercial club, "and visitors need not fear they will be fleeced by our hotel keepers and restaurants during the National Corn exposition and the conventions scheduled to meet in Omaha.

During the corn show one restaurant keeper is to serve a meal entirely of corn dishes. It will cost about 25 cents, and though the drinks of corn will be served here, they will not be included in the "corn meal." Here is the corn meal menu: Soup of Corn.

After being long out of the public eye, Mr. Murphy has written to E. J. McVann, secretary of the Omaha Grange exchange and a personal friend of his, expressing his willingness to attend the exposition in Omaha, do whatever he can to make it a success and co-operate in every way with the younger men who are striving to produce more and better corn because of the demand which Mr. Murphy did so much to create abroad.

The corn exposition management has extended the old fighter for King Corn an invitation to attend and he will receive much attention when he arrives in Omaha.

Mr. Murphy did for American corn at the Paris exposition what John C. Bennett, now with the National Corn exposition, did for Nebraska corn at the Centennial in 1876, when he went to Philadelphia with an exhibit.

Bryan Defined.

OMAHA, Oct. 18.—To the Editor of The Bee: Dear Sir—As one who listened to Mr. Bryan Saturday evening last I was forced to recall the meaning of one word as given to the world by Dr. William Dwight Whitney, who in his life was the greatest of philologists. He defined the word as follows: "An unprincipled popular orator or leader, who endeavors to curry favor with some portion of the people by pandering to their prejudices or wishes, or by playing on their ignorance or passions: one who seeks to obtain political power by pandering to the ignorance or prejudices of the masses."

South in commenting on the same word says: "A plausible, insignificant word in the mouth of an expert demagogue is a dangerous and deceitful weapon." Without mentioning a name all men recognize the person described. N. K. VAN HUSEN.

What Happened to Jones.

OMAHA, Oct. 18.—To the Editor of The Bee: Will you please lend me a few lines in your most estimable paper that I may as much as is in my power right an injustice to a fellow taxpayer? Returning home Saturday night in a late car I saw one of our good friends Jones waving a small flag and talking very loudly to a meek looking chap with him. My natural deduction was that he was about "three sheets in." I mentioned it to my wife when I got home, and she, of course, passed it on to our neighbors, and they to theirs, and so on.

Therefore, I am the one cause of its being circulated about town that Jones was "soused" Saturday night. I now wish to retract.

I find he had only been down to hear Bryan and was carrying a Bryan flag. The loud talk was only part of Bryan's address, which he was repeating from memory for the benefit of his friend, who had not heard it. This friend, who is a prohibitionist, tells me there was not the slightest trace of liquor in his breath.

INCH OF RAIN JUST IN TIME

Precipitation Comes to Nebraska When it Does a Great Deal of Good.

The heaviest rain for several weeks fell Monday evening, the total precipitation being one inch. The rain began about 5 p. m. and continued until about 9 o'clock.

It was one of those much-needed fall rains and came just at the right time to do an immense amount of good over the state. The last rain reported from this station was on October 5, when a little over one-third of an inch of rain fell, and on October 6 there was .01 of an inch.

The rain of Monday night was general over the state and upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys. The heaviest rainfalls in the state were 3.12 inches at North Platte, and 1.64 inches at Valentine, with .84 of an inch at Sioux City. Good rains fell throughout eastern Nebraska, and heavy snows are reported Tuesday morning in the western and central portions of the state, with snows also in the mountain districts.

LOWEST BIDDER LOSES JOB

M. Ford of Dubuque Fails to Get Road Contract.

COUNTY BOARD HAS WRANGLE

Burning Says Action is Unfair to Ford, While Others Say He Did Not Live Up to the Specifications.

Over the protests of M. Ford of Dubuque, the low bidder for the work, the county board Monday afternoon awarded contracts to E. D. Van Court for the paving of the Military road and to the Katz-Craig Construction company for paving the Irvington-Bennington road. Both contracts were let at $34 a linear foot, which was the amount of Ford's bid, the lowest submitted of the two roads. Burning protested against the action, asserting it was unfair to Ford, but the other four members voted for the report.

The majority justified their action on the ground that Mr. Ford already has contracts for as much road as he can finish this fall and if he was given more he would be unable to do the work until next spring. It was also charged he has not been living up to the specifications on the work he has already done.

At the original bidding Van Court bid $35 on the Military road and the Katz-Craig company $35 on the Irvington-Bennington road. Both of them, however, offered to come down to Ford's figures of $34 and to have the work completed by January 1. Both roads will be paved for a mile and a half with macadam twelve feet wide with tarvia.

Unjust to Ford. Burning, in explaining his vote against the report, declared Ford had submitted the lowest bid in good faith and saved the county considerable money in giving a figure higher than the local contractors had submitted.

"It is unjust to Ford," he said, "to give the bid to contractors who bid higher than he did, even if they do work at his figures. We should reject all bids and ask for new ones."

Right in voting for the report, declared Commissioner Trainor, because the work would be done at the least figures submitted in the bids.

"The situation shows that Ford cannot expect to finish the work this fall and he could hardly expect us to give him any more work that he has now required," Commissioner Trainor, in voting for the report, charged that Ford was not living up to the specifications as he had put smaller stone in the base of the pavement than the specifications called for. He quoted the county engineer as saying it seemed impossible to get him to follow the specifications. Ure and Kennard also voted for the report.

Sublets Part of Work. Ford now has contracts for paving four miles on Dodge street and two miles on the Benson road. At his request he was allowed to sublet part of the work to E. B. Wynn.

Bids for grading the south part of the court house square to street level in preparation for the foundations of the new court house were called for by the board under a motion made by Ure. The bids will be opened November 10.

The board rejected all the bids for new work at the Detention home because the bids all called for more money than the board had a right to expend and some of the bids did not follow the specifications. The board will call for new bids on each building separately and at the coming election will ask authority to expend $12,000 more on the work. The voters granted authority last spring to expend $5,000, but after buying a site and a building only $3,000 was left to make needed repairs and new work and this the board contends is not sufficient.
