DEMOCRATIC WIND STARTS

he felt he was about the only one left in the state. Finally someone polled the car. When the poll was announced it was found there were twenty-three republicans for Taft and five democrats for Bryan. The five democrats had made more noise than the twenty-five republicans.

Club Divides in Six.

A favorite pastime of the democrats is to poll trains and so a number of democrats polled the train coming from Omaha to Lincoln this morning over the Burlington. Judge Sutton, district judge of Douglas county, was on the train. The poll showed fifty-one for Bryan and seventy-nine for Taft. This is about the way the trains coming into Lincoln have been showing up when the poll is taken.

A Bryan roster made the remark that 60 men were enrolled in the Traveling Men's Bryan club of Lincoln. Another traveling man heard the remark and called him. "I'll bet you haven't the 60." "I'll bet you haven't the 60." "Yes, I'll bet you haven't the 180." "Yes, I'll bet you have the eighty." "Do you mean we haven't eighty altogether out in the state?" the first man jumped in.

Republican Windup.

The republican campaign will wind up in Lincoln with a great meeting at the Auditorium and the state house grounds. The speaker will be United States Senator Elmer J. Burkett and Governor Sheldon. Chairman Matson is making preparations to make these two meetings the best the county has pulled off. It will be the final windup before the votes are counted and he will endeavor to have as many people on hand to see the finish as can possibly crowd on the north side of the state house and as managers can possibly crowd into the Auditorium. The meetings will be in the nature of a windup and a ratification all of the same time. The platform which was erected in the state house yard for Taft is still up and this will be used for the meeting.

This afternoon a number of local candidates and speakers went out to Waverly in automobiles and assisted the people of that community in pulling off a big republican meeting.

Gain in Merrick.

"The republicans of Merrick county will show a gain over the last election," said W. T. Thompson, attorney general, who spoke with W. E. Andrews at Central City last night. "A number of democrats who are farmers are going to vote the republican ticket and I have never seen the republicans more enthusiastic over the prospects. It is my honest opinion there will be a largely increased republican vote."

Judge Paul Jensen of Nebraska City while in Lincoln last night gave out the following interview: "At Nebraska City and in Otoe county I think the republicans will deliver about the regular party vote. If there is any change it is as liable to be for us as against us. Bryan had a big crowd at his meeting there the other day, but I don't think he changed a vote. "I have watched for the effect of Mr. Bryan's whirlwind speeches through these past years in Nebraska and my judgment is these talks do not count. "The general doubt as to Mr. Bryan's level-headedness as a statesman and the fear of what his election would do to the serious thing that confronts Mr. Bryan right now, not only in Otoe county, but all over Nebraska and over the whole country. Thousands of Nebraska democrats went away from their party four years ago. Many of these, probably the larger proportion of them, will go back to the democratic ticket this year, but you can find them in every locality over the state who will not go back to Bryan, for this very reason that I have stated, that they doubt his level-headedness and fear the effect of his newly invented issues and his experiments in the national government. "In his former campaigns always just before election he was confronted just as he is now with that doubt and the fear to which I have already referred losing him a certain percentage of his following all over the country, losing him the votes of men who were for him in August, September and October, but who hesitated and at last refused to support him in November.

"There has been a good deal of sympathy among the voters on each side, but this sympathy is much more among the democrats of Nebraska than among the republicans. I do not mean that the democratic noise is, for democrats, especially as to the Bryan following, are slanders. They are enthusiasts. I am not criticizing them for that, I merely state it as a fact. But in the late primary the democratic voters showed an indifference which I believe will still be manifest at the coming election. Sheldon got over 50,000 votes in the primary with no candidate against him for the nomination. The democrats had three candidates for the nomination, beating the bushes and calling upon their supporters to get to the primaries, and these three got only 3,000 democrats to the polls. In the congressional contest the same conditions existed as to the republican candidate having no competition and no special reason to call out the republican voters, while the democratic candidates were competing with each other and rallying their friends to the polls, but the democratic voters didn't rally. They stayed at home. They were indifferent. I believe that a good deal of this indifference exists yet and will show itself in the defeat of Bryan in this state. Mr. Bryan is coming up now in these few days just before election face to face with that same old ghost, the same old doubt that confronted him in '06 and in 1900, the doubt as to his level-headedness, and the effect of his election on the property values and the business of the country."

Williams Talks Bryanism.

BLOOMINGTON, Neb., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—W. C. Williams, ex-congressman from the district of the county of Pike, Illinois, addressed a mixed audience of about 100 people in behalf of the democratic nominee for president, Mr. Williams paid his respects to Mr. Roosevelt in a respectful manner calling Mr. Taft a nonentity, a mere shadow of which Mr. Roosevelt was the substance. He spent fully forty-five minutes in casting reflections on all the republican statesmen now identified with the party. He then took up Mr. Haskell's case and tried to show that Mr. Haskell was a pure patriot who was maliciously libeled by the president. It may be said to the credit of the democrats in the audience that at no time during this part of his speech, lasting nearly an hour, did one essay to cheer.

Mr. Williams appealed to the voters of this state to cast ballots to the wind and woe for their adopted son, who had brought so much advertisement to that state, stating at the same time that he was a product of Illinois and that that state took great pride in him and would surely give the electoral vote if it did not have such a great republican majority. The speaking was well advertised, the band here of twenty-four pieces played several pieces to draw the crowd and yet the whole evening was nearly as chilly as was handed to Mr. Fred Ashton a week ago.

Ryder's Speech at Anselmo.

ANSELMO, Neb., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—State Labor Commissioner Ryder of Lincoln absolutely punctured the campaign theories of Bryan and Shallenberger here last evening before a good sized audience, though the meeting had not been advertised until Mr. Ryder was on the ground. Mr. Ryder began by stating the position Nebraska occupied with the other states of the union in the agricultural products raised last year, pointing out where these products were marketed and the price received therefor.

Then he gave a description of some kind of products raised in 1906 and the price then received. He graphically told his audience the loss that would have resulted to the farmers of Nebraska had 1908 prices prevailed in 1906 instead of prices actually received last year.

One of the most interesting features of his discussion was occasioned by his obtaining a declaration of principles sent broadcast over the country by W. J. Taylor, fusion candidate for the legislature. "State bank guarantee of deposits" was the first proposition.

The speaker showed that this statement is absolutely misleading, declaring that the state could not do more than collect a small fund from the banks and hold this as a trust, really as an insurance proposition. He declared that if such a law was passed through the demands of the people, by the next legislature Governor Sheldon would sign the bill in order to give the proposition a trial.

He pointed out the other proposition of the circular and showed that nearly every proposition mentioned in it was already a part of the laws of Nebraska, enacted last year by a republican legislature and signed by a republican governor. He declared that the circular was catchy to the unthinking, but absolutely misleading and dishonest.

"Why did not Bryan begin his reform work at home like Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin?" he asked. LaFollette has done good things for his home state and was now reaching out to accomplish good things for the nation. "Why has not some of the southern states followed Bryan's lead in demanding a bank guarantee law?" he asked. Not one had asked such a thing in their recent platforms. They had the absolute power to enact such legislation, but passed it up as not of their kind.

Then followed a comparison of the excellent laws enacted under the last administration, with the utter incapacity of the so-called fusion reform legislatures that preceded it. He declared: "Never before in the history of any state in the union had every pledge of a political party been enacted into law, absolutely active with no suit pending to test its constitutionality. With such a record can you turn Governor Sheldon down?" He pointed with his audience not to cast their vote for the theories of Bryan or Taft, but to vote for the comfort of your own home for a continuance of the good things achieved and not the vagaries of any politician.

Pollard Shows Up Democrats. PERU, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Congressman E. M. Pollard spoke at Peru last evening.

The crowd was not large on account of the rain, but excellent attention was given. He was introduced by Rev. C. R. Weldon, who paid him some very high compliments and told of the days when both were students at the university during the early '90's.

After discussing the various issues of the campaign, Mr. Pollard said he could not close without paying his respects to the democratic platform. He mentioned the plank in the Denver platform which says they are in favor of a law which will prevent corporations from contributing to campaign funds. Mr. Pollard also said that, not satisfied with this, Mr. Bryan called the democratic national committee to come and visit him at Fairview. Mr. Bryan and Mr. Kern came out on the steps and Mr. Bryan read a statement in which he mentioned the plank pledging the party to such a law and said Mr. Kern and himself did not want them to accept any contributions from corporations. Mr. Pollard said that over a year ago the congress of the United States passed such a law and it was signed by the president and is the law of the land today, and that when the democrats put the plank in their platform they knew it and that Mr. Bryan and Mr. Kern knew that it was the law and that if they did accept contributions from corporations that Teddy would put the whole bunch in jail. He said the republicans did not have to put planks in their platform promising to obey the law which they had already placed upon the statutes nor did they have to appeal to their committee to obey it.

Meeting in Custer County.

BROKEN BOW, Neb., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The republican managers of the campaign in Custer county are determined that no effort shall be spared during the few remaining days till election to make the majority for the state and national ticket as large as possible. Two weeks ago dates were made for about twenty meetings. Some of these dates have been filled by state speakers and some by local men. The reports from these meetings are very encouraging and there is no reason to doubt that Custer county will give its usual majority for the republican ticket. Among those who have addressed meetings in this county are Attorney General Thompson and Labor Commissioner Ryder. Prominent among the local speakers are Judge A. R. Humphrey, Edwin Squires, L. H. Jewett, H. W. George and N. T. Gadd, the latter being the candidate for county attorney.

Mrs. Copeland writes: "I was nearly a wreck when I came to California five years ago. When I had been here perhaps a month I came across one of your testimonials letters that just hit my case and I decided to get a bottle. "I have had neuralgia of the heart and feet. Have had no satisfaction from my doctors (save receipted bills) and have been trying everything. Was also a sufferer from indigestion. Not only has Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey increased my weight and acted as a general tonic, but it has also nearly cured me of my neuralgia. I feel confident that in time Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey will drive it out of my system entirely."

Mrs. Copeland's case is similar to that of thousands of others, both men and women, who have been made hale, hearty and vigorous by the constant use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a medicine. It is a predigested food which has a stimulating and tonic effect on the system. It builds nerve tissues, prevents decay and keeps the entire system in a normal, healthy condition.
