GUARANTY PRINCIPLE WRONG

more notable than anywhere else, in Wall street, where there is lively speculation in stocks—there would be a willingness to pay higher rates of interest for loans, and correspondingly, banks and bankers would be tempted to pay higher rates of interest on deposits than in places where conservative enterprises are the order of the day.

What would this mean? Money would go from localities where it ought to stay, would be taken away from legitimate enterprises that are sound and sane, and would be speculative in nature, and in many instances to be lost.

This would be the result: Permanent, legitimate enterprises would receive a setback; factories which ought to be established and enterprises which ought to be undertaken could not obtain money because the capital of the communities in which they are located would have been diverted to other localities where the risks are more numerous and extreme and where higher rates of interest would be paid.

Under Mr. Bryan's scheme the temptation would constantly confront the over-ambitious and unscrupulous banker to make loans which should not be made or to back enterprises which ought not to be undertaken—other words, to plunge into speculation as he had it under the greenback usage.

Responsibility Essential in Banking. You cannot make the business of banking normal and as it should be unless there is an adequate sense of personal responsibility on the part of the individual banker, unless he knows he cannot lend or invest indelicately without involving the failure of his bank and the reproach and loss and shame which go with it. Now, if he feels that the deposits of his bank will be repaid to his depositors whether he manages the bank well or ill he will not renounce speculation, and he will be constantly open to the temptations of recklessness and perhaps of dishonesty.

Again, what the depositor wants is the immediate payment of his demands at the moment it is made. He wants his money then, on the spot, not at some time later on. No system of guaranty that can be devised would provide for the actual and immediate payment of all demands in a bank situation such as that which we had last year.

The Bryan train had just come to a halt as the Taft special whizzed by on its way from Troy to New York City. Judge Taft was in his state room, and several members of his party were on the rear platform of his car, and besides surveying the crowd with buttons, gave a lusty yell for the Ohioan. Mr. Bryan quickly saw the identity of the train and waved his hand in answer to the salutation, and also threw a broad smile at the disappearing train.

DONNELLY UPHOLDS PRESIDENT. Secretary of General Arbitration Board Takes This Stand. WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—President Roosevelt today made public a long letter from Samuel H. Donnelly, secretary of the general arbitration board of the New York upholds the president in his presentation of the record of Judge Taft as set forth by him in a letter to P. H. Grace of Birmingham, N. Y., recently.

Mr. Donnelly declares that the president's letter ably shows that Judge Taft is not an enemy of labor. From personal knowledge of the Philippines and in Panama, where he had extensive relations with labor, Mr. Donnelly unqualifiedly supports the president's estimate of Mr. Taft's character. Mr. Donnelly cites an interpretation of the federal eight-hour law reported in 1907 and Mr. Taft's longevously pay increase order of that year as instances of the judge's fairness toward labor. Continuing Mr. Donnelly said:

"The professional democratic labor workers who have been on the job in all recent campaigns are leading the movement in the east. No spontaneous movement against Judge Taft has appeared among the workers and none but salaried officers are on the stump against him. Those of us who remember the labor conditions during the last democratic administration are of the opinion that if Bryan is elected or the tariff is revised on the proposed democratic plan of a tariff for revenue only, we will all have plenty of time for jury duty."

Mathewson on Stamp. NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—"Christy" Mathewson, the famous pitcher of the New York National League baseball team, will be one of the speakers at a democratic mass meeting in the Twenty-third assembly district tonight. John J. Hayes, winner of the Marathon race at London and a number of other members of the American Olympic team, will occupy seats on the platform.

Only Bryan to Be Boosted. Here is some information for the friends of A. C. Shallenberger. In that space the democratic state committee contracted for in the Lincoln State Journal and the Lincoln Daily Star only Mr. Bryan was to be boosted. No effort was to be made to help out the candidacy of Mr. Shallenberger. In fact Tom Allen himself gave Mr. Shallenberger to understand that he as chairman of the democratic state committee could do nothing for him. All of his time and attention, he is quoted as saying, would be devoted to boosting Bryan.

This is what caused the racket between Allen and Chris Gruenther. The latter insisted on looking after every one on the state ticket, but Allen, who was chosen by Mr. Bryan for that very purpose, refused to look after anyone but Bryan. Mr. Gruenther has practically devoted all of his time lately trying to patch up an organization for Shallenberger. Right in the headquarters of the democratic committee there are Bryan men who will not hesitate to say that Shallenberger has no chance of election and nothing is being done for him except that what Gruenther is trying to do.

In fact Bryan men are trying to trade off Shallenberger for Bryan votes. Frank Brown, Mayor Brown's son, offered to vote for Shallen if one of Sheldon's appointees would vote for Bryan.

An employe in the office of the Comptroller has openly stated he intends to vote for Sheldon.

All friends of Shallenberger will get no help from Mr. Bryan. Tom Allen has thrown the harpoon into the Alma man. Of course he has a reason. Shallenberger has little respect for the democratic candidate for president. He expressed his opinion of him back in 1904. Bryan has never forgiven the Alma man for speaking out in meaning the things so many democrats believe. And the order has gone out to pay no attention to Shallenberger.

NIGHT RIDERS IN PRISON

Ring Leaders of Tennessee Mob Now Behind Bars.

OATH OF BOND FULLY REVEALED

Numerous Atrocities Coming to Light by Confession Implicating Three Hundred Men—Evidence to Hand, For.

SAMBURG, Tenn., Oct. 28.—The ring leader of the night riders in this section, it is believed is a prisoner at Camp Nemo. His name is Garrett Johnson. It is the general opinion that Johnson, if he can be compelled to talk, could tell more about the recent outrages than all other men under arrest. Not less than forty men alleged to have been connected actively with night riding in this territory are under arrest, and enough evidence already has been collected to hang at least four men.

John F. Cochran, the man captured after a chase on the lake, has confessed that the night rider outrages have included the whipping of women. One woman was whipped for leaving her husband and another for being ill reputed.

The latest report to reach here from Riponville is that Tod Burton, who made a partial confession yesterday, has broken down completely and implicates 200 men from Obion county. Even the oath taken by night riders has been confessed, though the officials will not make public this wording.

The seventy or more prisoners now in camp are closely guarded and Garrett Johnson, the alleged leader, together with his brother Tom, and William Watson, are kept in solitary confinement. The troops will be kept here for some time.

traditions, true to the people and strong in the confidence of Nebraskans. Journal Begs for Mercy. In the ordinary sense of the term, that is not a prayer meeting in progress at the corner of Ninth and P streets. The loud supplications heard there almost every evening are to Tom Allen, chairman of the democratic state committee. The supplications are from the State Journal outfit.

So in one sense it might be called a prayer meeting with most unusual fervor. The State Journal outfit has been forced to get down and beg and pray and plead with Tom Allen to keep him from filing a suit to compel the Bryanized money-mad sheet to publish the democratic dope per contract. This information comes straight from the democratic state headquarters.

But Tom Allen is too wise to bring that suit. He has nothing particular to gain by it, because before it could be decided the election will have been over. The morning regularly Tom Allen announces that very shortly "I shall bring that suit." That is sufficient to bring the Bryanized organ around to its knees.

The columns of the afternoon and the morning sheets show the hold Tom Allen has upon the republican organ. Daily it knocks on Taft and daily parades Bryan. Whenever it quits then comes that threatened suit, exposure and worse humiliation. The Journal, it is reported, has an idea that it can make its readers believe it did not agree to sell its space to the democrats if it does not publish display advertisements for Mr. Bryan.

In the opinion of republicans who read, or rather take the sheet, the Journal has accepted one of Tom Allen's proposals—either carry out the contract or give Bryan the best of it. It is certainly not helping the republican cause.

And what is said about the Journal applies exactly the same to the Lincoln Daily Star. Its contract with Tom Allen was just as binding. It gets out of publishing the prepared dope in exactly the same way.

There is no doubt the exposure of the plan of these two sheets prevented the working of the same game they worked two years ago. They sold space to opponents of republican candidates and permitted their candidates to be vilified and slandered. Then when the republican candidates attempted to reply it cost them to get that reply in the State Journal-News 75 cents an inch and in the Lincoln Daily Star 40 cents.

So all that was necessary for the so-called "republican" sheets to do when the cash drawer needed replenishing was to hunt up a disgruntled democrat and get him to lambast the republican candidate. When Mr. Republican attempted to get himself set straight before the people he paid Allen. If he paid 75 cents an inch to the Journal-News and 60 cents to the Star.

The Journal-News is the outfit that refers to itself as "progressive" and "reform" and set out to set the pattern for all republicans in Nebraska.

Only Bryan to Be Boosted. Here is some information for the friends of A. C. Shallenberger. In that space the democratic state committee contracted for in the Lincoln State Journal and the Lincoln Daily Star only Mr. Bryan was to be boosted. ULTIMATUM COMES FROM POWERS

Recognition of Kingdom as Independent State Depends on Willingness to Make Payment to Turkey.

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—It was learned here authoritatively today that the Bulgarian government, in view of the cessation of military preparations on the part of Turkey and setting on the part of the powers, has decided to release tomorrow the 7,000 reservists who have been held in the colors. It is hoped that this measure will reduce the tension between Sofia and Constantinople.

SOPIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 28.—The decision of Bulgaria to disband its reserves and make a financial compensation to Turkey, was brought about by the presentation of what was practically an ultimatum by Great Britain, France and Russia, who were supported by Germany and Italy.

Identical notes from the first named three powers were presented to the Bulgarian government. They demand the disbandment of the Bulgarian reserves within three days and the promise to send delegates to Constantinople to negotiate the question of financial compensation for Turkey. It was made clear that on compliance with these demands depended the hope for the recognition of Bulgarian independence.

In reply to these communications the Bulgarian government signified its willingness to conform to the demands therein set forth.

aided in nominating him for the office of governor. Strong Support for Vessey. Those familiar with the Scandinavian character declare that having said in the nomination of Mr. Vessey they will feel in honor bound to support him at the polls. It is safe to predict that if Mr. Vessey succeeds in securing 90 per cent of the republican vote in South Dakota he will be elected governor. That he will secure even a larger percentage is the confident belief of republicans who are in close touch with political affairs in the state.

The vast majority of stalwart and progressive republicans are giving the ticket their support. The stalwarts have always prided themselves on their republicanism, and in this campaign will first of all remember that they are republicans who are able to give and receive blows in preliminary struggles between republican factions, but who, notwithstanding the outcome of these preliminary fights, still are republicans above everything else and at the election will line up for their party ticket.

They realize that the primaries have taken the place of party conventions and that it is the duty of all members of a party to abide by the result of the primary, as only by doing this can party organizations be maintained. It is significant of the harmony now existing among South Dakota republicans when facing the common enemy—the democratic party—that of the more than 100 newspapers which during the campaign culminating in the June primaries supported the cause of the stalwart republicans only three or four are lukewarm toward the ticket nominated in June, the remainder having been boosting for the entire republican ticket during the present campaign.

Factionalism Not Apparent. Stalwart and insurgent republicans are camped together throughout the state, speakers from both factions doing their utmost for the cause of republicanism and to bring about the defeat of the democratic party at the election next Tuesday.

The republicans confidently expect to elect more than 100 of the 149 members of the next legislature. The republican vote on joint ballot may reach as high as 125, with only seventy-five votes necessary to elect Governor Coo E. Crawford, the republican nominee, as the next United States senator from South Dakota.

The republican national committee has no connection with Bennington; he is not a member of our committee and never has been and has no authority to solicit funds for this committee.

Mr. Hayward said in giving out the statement that a number of Bennington's letters had been forwarded to national headquarters.
