TAXES IN DOUGLAS COUNTY

Figures Which the Distorting Campaigners Will Not Show.

BUT THE RECORDS SHOW THEM

In the Four Years Under Republican Rule Railroads Have Borne Increase of Two and a Half Million Dollars.

TAXES WORLD-HERALD WON'T SHOW.

Table showing tax returns for Douglas county on railroads, 1908, 1907, 1906, 1905. Includes values for State board returns, Returns for terminals, and State board returns on railroads.

Why doesn't the World-Herald show a comparative statement of the tax situation in Douglas county as between the private land owners and the railroads? It has been distorting figures from various counties in its mud-slinging campaign of trying to show that the republican administrations in Nebraska have permitted the railroads to escape higher taxes, while imposing greater burdens upon the farmer.

Here is the situation in Douglas county, which the World-Herald has studiously evaded: State board returns on railroads for 1904 $1,238,720; for 1905 $1,238,720; for 1906 $1,238,720; for 1907 $1,238,720; for 1908 $1,238,720.

Rest of the Story.

Here is the rest of the story: Return on terminals in Douglas county $2,290,416. Added to the state board's return on other railroad property for 1908—$1,568,233—this gives a total of $3,858,649, and represents an increase of $2,099,929, which the state board under a republican administration placed upon the railroad valuation in Douglas county, as compared with the figures of 1904.

Now, what is the case with reference to agricultural land valuations and taxes? In 1904 the land in Douglas county was assessed at $12.36 per acre. In 1908 the state board made a favor of $12.57 per acre, a difference in favor of the land owner of 23 cents per acre.

These figures brought forth by County Assessor Shriver are accessible to the World-Herald and have been throughout the campaign. Why has Mr. Hitchcock, in his mud-slinging campaign, not gone over to the court house and dug them up? County Assessor Shriver says he would be glad to furnish them to him or any of his men.

"Let us forget, let us forget," once more let it be stated that the reason Omaha could not rely on these valuable railroad terminals, the most valuable property in Douglas county, long years before was simply because of the presence at Lincoln of Ed Howell and such men who fought the measure through the legislature that exempted from taxation this very property.

It was his fondness for fishing that brought on the malady to which he succumbed. Last Sunday, in the company of Arthur Stroebel, Harry Sangor and Tom Craig, Mr. Armbruster went on a fishing expedition to the Lewis river. At that time he was cold and Monday his condition was so much worse that he went to the St. Vincent's hospital for treatment.

SHELDON COUNTS ON DOUGLAS

Governor Says This County Will "Do the Right Thing" on Election Day.

"Douglas county will do the right thing," said Governor Sheldon just before leaving the city Friday noon for Havelock where he will speak tonight. "The assurances I have received while here and the information I have been able to gain at first hand make me believe that Omaha and South Omaha will join the rest of the state in voting the straight republican ticket by a large majority."

Governor Sheldon stayed one day more than he expected to in Omaha. Owing to a change in railroad schedules of which he had not learned he was unable to leave Thursday noon as he had intended for the western part of the state, so he remained over and made an address at the Washington hall meeting. Tuesday night he will speak at Milford and College View and Monday will be the principal speaker at the great final rally in Lincoln which capital city republicans say they will make the largest and most enthusiastic meeting in the state this campaign.

COLORED BOY WANTS DAMAGES

Otis B. McLaughlin Sues Owner of Cleaning Plant Blown Up by Explosion.

Otis B. McLaughlin, whose clothes cleaning establishment at 2221 Comins street was wrecked by an explosion of gasoline September 28, is defendant in a $5,000 damage suit brought in district court by Howard H. Morrison, a young colored boy who was injured in the explosion.

Morrison was working for McLaughlin and had just stepped out of the drying room when the explosion occurred. He says he was burned about the back, legs and arms and was pinned under debris while the building around him was burning. The terror he felt before he was released is one of the grounds for his demand for damages. He charges McLaughlin was violating the ordinances by keeping forty gallons of gasoline in the building without proper precaution, and that the explosion was directly due to the fact that there was no relief in the drying room. This he says allowed the gas from the gasoline-soaked clothing to accumulate in the room. Heat from the steam pipes he says caused this gas to explode.

WILLIAM ARMBRUSTER DEAD

Former Omaha and Noted Base Ball Fan is Dead in Portland.

William Armbruster, formerly proprietor of the Millard hotel barber shop and well known around Omaha, died suddenly last Saturday at his home in Portland, where he has lived for the last seven years. His illness was of short duration, as he was stricken with pneumonia and died in a couple of days. The death of Mr. Armbruster marks the passing of one of the most popular as well as one of the best posted base ball fans in the country. The Portland Oregonian said concerning Mr. Armbruster:

While not a newspaper man or in any way connected with anti-slavery writings of the great national game, Mr. Armbruster was known from Chicago to Portland as an authority on past performances of base ball teams and individual players. In ad-

BEFORE THE PEOPLE'S BAR

Sixty Days of Meditation for Teaching Boys to Beg.

POSSIBLE CINCH ON PANTS THIEF

Willie Johnson Stays 'Jes' a LI' Bit Late' When He Calls at the Home of His Sweetheart.

Sixty days of meditation is the prize package that Police Judge Bryce Crawford awarded Bank Condon Friday for begging on the street and teaching a boy to beg.

"It is bad enough for a big, strong man like you to beg for a living, but when men of your type get young boys to beg for you it is much worse," said the judge after hearing the evidence in the case.

Arthur Terry, the boy mentioned, was also charged with being a beggar, but Judge Crawford discharged him, as it appeared that he had been brought from Council Bluffs by Condon to beg on the Omaha streets and the man was responsible for the lad's position.

"I'll put you where you won't teach any more boys to beg," said the judge as he sentenced Condon to do two months' time in the county jail.

The oft-heard-of "pants burglar," who has been rifling men's trousers in various parts of the city for the last six months, may be under arrest. At least Captain Savage of the city detectives thinks the authorities have been able to work up a good case against Joe Headley in connection with recent trouser robberies in Omaha, as the man was arrested by Detectives Heitfeld and Devesness Thursday, and a long wooden pole with a steel hook at the end, supposed to have been used to grab trousers through open windows from rooms where persons were sleeping, was found in his room.

Two women were also arrested at the same time and place, one of them, Marian Kent, being given a fine of $10 and costs in police court Friday morning on the charge of being a vagrant and suspicious character, and the other, Edna Headley, being held for investigation with the man.

Willie Johnson, a six-foot negro, has a girl whom he calls upon sometimes and he quite often stays "jes' a LI' bit late." Friday morning at 4 o'clock he was found returning from his friend's house, and as Patrolman Hudson was not satisfied with his story, the negro was sent to jail. In police court Friday Judge Crawford discharged Willie after hearing his explanation and advising him not to make such prolonged calls at his friend's house.

Four notices on the road to vagrancy and tramping were soundly lectured and then dismissed by Judge Crawford in police court Friday morning. The lads were only 16 and 18 years of age and apparently just out started on a "bum." They said their names as Harry Fisher, Robert Kent, Harry Smith and Herman Gimmel.

An overdose of liquor taken to quiet an aching tooth got Ed Moore into trouble with the police Thursday. He was arrested, but after hearing the explanation in police court Friday morning, Police Judge Crawford discharged Moore, who lives in South Omaha.

COLORADO GETS NEBRASKAN

Prof. Keyser of State University Goes to Colorado Institution.

DENVER, Oct. 29.—(Special Telegram.)—The State Board of Agriculture has engaged Prof. Alvin Keyser of the University of Nebraska to succeed Dr. Olin as head of the department of plant industry and agronomy at the Colorado Agricultural college.

The Nebraska institution desires to keep Prof. Keyser and according to Chancellor Andrews, has done everything possible to persuade him to remain there and has written the committee that Prof. Keyser is an "extraordinarily desirable man." Dr. Galloway of the federal department of plant industry has also recommended him in high terms.

Prof. Keyser will take up his duties probably in January.

RAILROAD MAN ARRESTED

Charged with Stealing Freight from Cars of the Union Pacific Company.

William Pollock, a Union Pacific brakeman, was arrested yesterday morning at Grand Island by J. C. Vizard, a special agent for the Union Pacific, and brought to Omaha last night, where he was lodged in the police station under a charge of burglary. It is charged that Pollock has been robbing box cars of valuables of various kinds. Special Officer Vizard and Officer Patullo of the local force have been working on the case for several days and finally searched Pollock's rooms at 714 South Sixteenth street, where a quantity of stolen stuff was found.

It is thought that there is an organized gang which has been systematically stealing freight and the railroad is now making a determined effort to stop it. It is probable that there will be other arrests in the near future.

POLICE STOP BOXING CONTEST

Buckles and Trummer Go One Round and Then Officers Score Knockout.

"Put on your clothes, sonny, the fight's over." Sergeant Cook stood behind Guy Buckles in his corner at Wolf's hall at Twenty-second and Cumins streets last night where a boxing contest had been advertised to occur. In the opposite corner behind the other principal, Monk Trummer, an agent Samuelson conveyed similar news, while Officer Bitter kept an eye on the seconds.

At first the fighters thought it was a joke, but when they realized that they were "pinned" a howl, loud and long, went up from their and their friends.

"We have a permit to let this fight go on," shouted one.

"I have a permit from the chief to stop it," said Sergeant Cook, "and I guess that is the best one."

Buckles and Trummer were taken to the police station, where they each put up cash bonds for $50 for their appearance the morning. The fight lasted just one round.

In police court Friday morning the two glove artists had their hearing set for Saturday, as they were out on bonds and desired time in which to construct a defense. The charge against them was vagrancy, but Prosecutor Daniel remarked that they should have been charged with prize fighting.

BRYAN MONEY IS NOT THERE

Democratic Headquarters Makes Loud Noise, but Quietly Shows When Taft Cash Comes.

A loud noise was made down at democratic county headquarters over the Antlers saloon on Fifteenth street Friday afternoon. It was a few of the unfettered proclaiming their anxiety to bid on Mr. Bryan. They asserted with much gusto that "here is a cool thousand that Mr. Bryan carries Nebraska by 10,000."

It happened that D. W. Phelps, a cigar drummer, and one or two other republicans "got wind" of it. Mr. Phelps also got wind. In a few minutes the republican friends sent $1,200 up to the democratic headquarters and from that time on during the rest of the day that headquarters was the most quiet corner in town.

Those unfettered geese who had the "cool thousand" backed clear down the steps and out on the sidewalk without saying a word.

Announcements of the Theaters.

The curtain at the Orpheum will be raised promptly at 8:15 this evening. Next Tuesday evening electric returns will be read from the stage. Wilfred Clarke in "What Will Happen Next," will be the headline feature of the new bill beginning Sunday matinee.

The coming of "Arizona" to the Krug theater Sunday will be marked as a red letter engagement by theater-goers who have witnessed performances of this excellent play in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington or Chicago. New York critics have unanimously declared that it is the best play which Augustus Thomas has yet given to the stage. Mr. Hill, in the Evening World, said of "Arizona," on the Tuesday following the first production at the Herald Square theater: "It is the best play seen on Broadway in a generation."

Several excellent photos of the original production of "The Girl of the Golden West" are attracting much attention at the Burwood theater, where the Burwood stock will give the above named play its premier performance Sunday afternoon and continue the production throughout the week. This is a David Belasco play and although it has never been presented by an Omaha stock company, owing to the excessive royalty fee demanded by the owner, Omaha people know it by reputation. The Burwood production will be an exact duplicate of the New York production. The Elks quartet of Council Bluffs will vocalize at every performance.
