Music and Musical Notes

ATTEND, ye musical critics! Give ear, ye who write tidings of the musical events...

Madame Emma Calve at Topeka, Kan., on Friday night, a week ago. "Last night Calve sang to little more than a handful of people at the Grand."

"Two of her encore numbers were common or garden selections—'Suwanee River' and 'Dixie.' 'Suwanee River' passes current with any American audience, but 'Dixie' was an unhappy choice."

In view of the recent indisposition of Madame Calve which prevented the Omaha people from hearing her in recital at the Boyd theater...

One of the most capable and one of the most undemonstrative of the musicians of Omaha is Miss Bellis Robinson, pianist.

And speaking of the piano, the astonishing capacity of Mr. Max Landow will again come to light in a series of remarkable recitals, which, it is understood, will be given before an audience specially invited.

fronts us." If a recital is to be made a success, it must be carefully worked up from the business standpoint. Nothing will draw on its own merits!

Now comes Mr. Landow with the plan of getting around those conditions which prevail. His attitude is practically this, that the worry and annoyance and excitement in connection with a public recital...

But in the recital which one gives only before those whom he has specially invited, all of these conditions are absent, and the feeling is one of spontaneous reverence and undivided delight...

It is utterly useless to grumble, or to be discouraged by these conditions, just now, because they are prevalent everywhere, or almost everywhere.

There is room for a strong musical organization among the younger women of Omaha. The writer knows of many young women who are taking up the study of music actively identified with any of the musical organizations of a club nature.

Mr. Donald, president of the Oratorio society, announces a concert to be given at St. Mary's Avenue Congregational church on Thursday evening, November 12.

Sammls of Chicago. Miss Paulson will be the accompanist. The musical is open to all club members, who may bring their friends, provided arrangement has been made with Mrs. C. M. Wilhelm for admission. Miss Emily Cleve goes to Lincoln November 4 to play in a string quartet when Durand's New World Symphony will be given before the State Teachers' association. Among the new additions to the musical colony is Mr. Waldemar Spahr, who announces himself as a graduate and instructor of the Royal conservatories of Dresden and Vienna, and former director of the Beethoven Academy of Music, Philadelphia. Mr. Spahr is a Russian by birth, and claims as his granduncle the celebrated German composer, Louis Spohr, composer of the "Last Judgment" and other great works. Mr. Spahr is living here at the home of his married daughter, and he is engaged as organist and musical director of the First Christian church. He is an enthusiastic worker and a man who knows what he wants, and goes to his object in the most direct way. Miss Evelyn Hopper announces, in regard to the Arthur Harnam violin recital, that there are still some excellent positions in the church which she would be glad to reserve for music lovers who care to avail themselves of subscription advantages. The Harnam recital is creating a very marked impression upon the audience and the critics. The musical recorder for the recital has a most wholesome respect for those things which come from the pen of Mr. Wilson G. Smith of the Cleveland Press, and he said recently: "I am taking chances, perhaps, in making so sweeping an assertion, but his magnificent exposition of the Bach chorales—the greatest I ever heard of, settled the matter for me, and I regard the incident pertaining to his appearance as closed."
