

THE NEW STORE King-Swanson Co. 16TH & HOWARD STS. THE HOME OF QUALITY CLOTHES

YES!

THIS STORE IS CERTAINLY MAKING A SELLING RECORD

The phenomenal selling by this store since its opening proves that Omaha people were ready to welcome a store of this character. Modern and convenient equipment, liberal business policies and prices that profit the buyer as well as the seller meet with as much favor in Omaha as in other cities. Come here any time and see how many people favor this store.

MEN'S AND YOUNG MEN'S SUITS—

You have never seen such superb suits at moderate prices as those we sell at $13.00, $15.00 and $17.00. The fabrics are stylish and serviceable. The colors vary from Blacks to those beautiful Tans, Browns and Olives. They are cut along graceful lines and the tailoring is faultless. The prices are such as to interest men or young men who want to make a bona-fide saving of $2.00 to $5.00.

Half Minute Store Talk

Hurried making causes ill-fitting shoes that will not retain their shape. High grade shoes, when allowed to dry on the last, in making, will wear much longer and retain their shape indefinitely. Our orders for Spring Shoes and Oxfords have been placed and the shoes are now in the work. They will be allowed to dry on the lasts for 60 days—which means perfectly seasoned shoes for our customers next spring. This is the only Omaha store whose spring orders are placed—we refer to it, only to demonstrate how earnestly we strive to better our merchandise.

Particular men should come here for their

HATS

Not only are our styles and prices exactly right—but our experienced hatter takes particular delight in perfectly conforming hats to hard-to-fit heads.

REVENUE LAW HELD GOOD

Deduction of Debts from Credits Valid, Says Supreme Court.

OPINIONS IN OTHER CASES

William G. Clark of Illinois Falls in His Effort to Secure Possession of His Children Held by Relatives.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The revenue law of Nebraska, which permits, under the interpretation of the supreme court, a taxpayer to deduct his bona fide debts from his gross credits, is not unconstitutional or in conflict with section 1, article 3, of the constitution. This is the holding of the supreme court on a motion for a rehearing in the case of the Scandinavian Mutual Aid association against Kearney county, the latter being defendant and appellant.
Because the present revenue law provides for the assessment of net credits rather than gross credits, the defendant alleged that it is unconstitutional, the constitution providing for a tax by valuation so that every person shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his property, the value to be ascertained in such manner as the legislature shall direct. The defendant urged that allowing debts to be set off or deducted from gross credits in effect permits such portion of the gross credits as equalled the taxpayers' debts to be released from assessment and taxation and results in levying taxes unequal upon the taxable property in the state.
Such a construction of the constitution was never contemplated by its framers, says the court. If the taxpayers were not allowed to offset bona fide debts from gross credits, it would result in compelling him to pay taxes in some instances of man ytimes the value of the net worth of the taxpayer. It would result in requiring every man to pay taxes upon several times the value of his capital stock and would practically result in bankrupting many of the financial and manufacturing institutions of the state.

Nelson Diploma Stands.
The court has overruled the motion for a rehearing in the case of Mrs. Nelson against the Lincoln Medical college and has overruled a motion to allow the college to open up the case, to appoint a referee and take additional evidence in support of the defense interposed in the court below. Admitting that the respondent is entitled to a trial de novo, the court says such trial must be had upon the pleadings and evidence presented to the district court. To allow new issues to be framed and additional evidence introduced in such cases would in effect destroy the strictly appellate character of the supreme court.
The complainant, Mrs. Nelson, obtained a writ of mandamus to compel the college to grant her a diploma.

Echo of Street Railway Case.
The motion of the state of Nebraska, on relation of James L. Caldwell, appellant, against the Lincoln Street Railway et al., appellees, to modify the opinion and judgment formerly given, is overruled. The court holds that Rule 7 of this court, allowing forty days from the filing of the opinion or rendition of the judgment in the case within which to file a motion for rehearing supersedes the general rule as to judgments becoming final at the expiration of the term at which they are rendered. This applies only to judgments and opinions by the court in appellate jurisdiction. In the exercise of its original jurisdiction the provisions of section 622 et seq. of the code apply.

Thomsen Stands Convicted.
The judgment of the district court of Wayne county dismissing an appeal of Peter Thomsen, a saloon keeper who was convicted before a magistrate of selling intoxicating liquors to minors, is sustained by the supreme court. Thomsen gave an appeal bond before the police judge. It was given in writing, but not executed as acknowledged by the principals and surety in the presence of the magistrate taking the same. Thomsen tried to get the district court to compel the magistrate to make a further or amended transcript to show that he signed the bond in the presence of the magistrate, but he failed to allege that the surety was ever present in court to sign or acknowledge the obligation. The supreme court holds that the application for an amended transcript was properly denied by the district court in this case for the reason that it would have the effect of allowing Thomsen to show that he signed or acknowledged the obligation in the presence of the court without also showing that his surety executed it in like manner.
Judgment is also affirmed in a similar case, that of Harry M. Ramsey, surety for Thomsen. The facts in the case are the same, except that in Ramsey's case an effort was made to obtain an amended transcript.

The judgment of district court of Platte county dismissing the appeal of remonstrators who had failed to prevent John Foltyn and W. J. Loesch from obtaining saloon licenses in the town of Creston, is reversed. The saloon men obtained a dismissal of the appeal of remonstrators on the ground that no transcript of the hearing before the village trustees had been filed. The supreme court holds that this is not ground for dismissal.
In the case of E. Mann of Box Butte county, who is relator in a suit to test the right of County Commissioner Christy to hold over in office, the supreme court has reversed the judgment of the district court. The lower court dismissed Mann's information and he appealed.

An interesting program, which included addresses by Rev. R. N. Orrill and Rev. L. G. Brown, was rendered. The organization now numbers about 100.

VOTERS TURN DOWN NEW LAWS

New Divorce, County Option and Anti-Sunday Sport All Lose in South Dakota.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., Nov. 6.—(Special Telegram.)—Opponents of the proposed new divorce law, raising the period of residence from six months to one year and requiring that hearings be held at a regular term of court instead of "in chambers," tonight are confidently claiming that the measure was defeated on Tuesday by the voters of the state. Those favoring the law by no means concede that it has been defeated. If the measure has been defeated as claimed, as now seems likely, it will be due to several causes, chief of which is the fact that the proposed divorce law was greatly handicapped by being placed upon a separate ballot containing three other proposed laws, two of them being county option and a law designed to prohibit Sunday amusements in South Dakota, such as base ball games and theatrical performances.
The county option law, which appeared to have been defeated in the state, appeared first on the ballot, being followed by the divorce act. There is no doubt that thousands of voters, after glancing part way down the county option measure, by mistake turned their attention to the bottom of the divorce law and placed an X before the word "no" under the divorce law, thinking they were voting no on county option. Among the other proposed laws the Sunday amusements law seemed to be much in disfavor among voters generally, and there is no much doubt that other thousands of voters having decided to vote no on this proposed law and county option decided to vote no in general on the proposed laws and thus voted against the divorce act. That fully 80 per cent of the voters of the state favored the proposed divorce law has been conceded. Leading politicians who are in close touch with conditions throughout the state and who have been absolutely neutral in the divorce law fight express the opinion that the divorce law has been defeated and that the defeat of the measure is due to the reasons given above.

Keep your eyes on our new showcase and you will find the biggest bargains ever displayed in South Omaha.

CLERK OF COURT WAS IN ERROR

Case of International Textbook Company Against Pigg Not Decided.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—On October 19, The Associated Press sent a dispatch from this city to the effect that in the United States supreme court the International Text Book company was denied a rehearing in its suit against Aaron T. Pigg of Topeka, Kan. It now appears that this was an error caused by a mistake of the supreme court clerk who confused this case with another having a like number on the court calendar. The case of the International Text Book company against Pigg has not yet been argued.
